Water Those of the Elgin Mills area who in the past have felt "There wasn't water anywhere, and so they'd not a drop to drink" should be overjoyed to hear that work has been commenced, the result of which will be water where now there is none. The water mains will be laid on Elgin Mills Side Road between Yonge and Regent Streets. On Regent Street between Elgin Mills and Oxford Streets and on Oxford Street, Original plans included Yonge Street as well, however, have since been changed and there will be no main on Yonge St. No longer will there be a need to 'carry the water home from the office; or anywhere else for that matter.

The giant toadstool was the centre of interest as the Brownies formed their fairy ring singing and dancing their six songs. Eight Brownies sat inside their ring waiting to receive the privilege they had earned to fly or walk to Guiding. A very impressive candlelight ceremony saw the Brownies on their way. Wings beautifully shaped of crepe-paper helped the following Brownies to Guiding. Betty Gayman, Nan Varden, Margaret Sandie, Susan McLeverty, Peggy Leitch and Susan Sharon Francis. They were taken by Guide Doreen Seabrook to Captain Mrs. P. Rumney who stood inside the Guide horseshoe with her lieutenants waiting to receive the Brownies. Two Brownies who were not able to receive their Brownie wings due to shorter time in Brownies walked into Guiding by the help of Golden Slippers, they were, Cathy Harper and Bonnie Taylor.

The Guides had formed their horseshoe in readiness to receive several badges and witness two Guides Jean Kennedy and Linda Wilkinson who were enrolled into the 1st Gormley Co. and the world wide sisterhood of Girl Guides. Badges were received by Cheryl Cochran - Cooks Badge, and District Commissioner Mrs. Wm. Gundy presented Dawn Tatton with her second class Badge. All Brownies and Guides retired.

The Guides under direction of Mrs. N. Johnson presented a legendary pageant on the history of the Union Jack and the coming of Scouting and Guiding to Canada. This was very colourful, including Irish and Scotch dances, the arrival of MacNamara Band and two Guides portraying Harrigan the well-known character from Ireland.

The highlight for the Guides was the presentation of the coveted Gold Guide Pin awarded each year to the most outstanding Guide in all phases of the programme. This decision rests with the guides by a secret vote. Division Commissioner Mrs. McTaggart-Cowan, was on hand to present the pin to Jeannette Lang.

Captain Mrs. P. Rumney then presented the patrol challenge trophy to the Scarlet Tanager Patrol which has been under the leadership of Judy Varden and Mary Miller.

Dawn Tatton received word that she will receive the St. John's Ambulance pin for the most outstanding pin during their recent course and test. Mrs. McTaggart-Cowan dismissed the Guides, Brownies & leaders after taps and prayers.
