"The man with a hoe" — though in his nineties — Mr. William Scrivener may be observed actively hoeing the rows of vegetables and flowers in the garden of his West Centre Street home.

However, his absence from outdoors for the past several weeks is due to a fractured rib, and though not requiring hospitalization, caused him to rest up. Neighbors and friends are happy to see Mr. Scrivener out once again in his back garden, which indeed is a "real producer".

A member of the OPP who served in Richmond Hill in 1951 when the town was policed by the province died suddenly of a heart attack last Saturday afternoon. Constable Walter Farmer, 34, passed on suddenly at his home in Newmarket. He has been stationed with the OPP detachment in Newmarket.

Police Chief R. P. Robbins who served with Constable Farmer in the OPP led a contingent of local police at the funeral held Tuesday afternoon.

Magistrate James Butler will have charge of services at Richmond Hill Presbyterian Church next Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wagener of Buffalo, New York, were recent guests of their aunts, Mrs. H. A. Nicholls and Miss F. J. Russell.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wagner of Mount Forest, Ontario, visited during the past week with Mr. Wagner's brother, Mr. W. A. Wagner and Mrs. Wagner of Richmond Street.

We join with people of the community in extending sympathy to Rev. Father J. Basil Breen, curate at St. Mary Immaculate, in the passing of his mother Mrs. Ella Ford Breen at her home, 9 Cameron Ave., on July 9th. Two other sons also survive. Rev. Father Gerard Breen pastor of St. Benedict's Church, Rexdale, and Rev. Father William Breen, pastor of St. Lawrence Church, Scarborough.

Dr. Ursula Franklin was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis G. Clement, Harding Blvd., last Thursday evening, where she spoke to an assembled company of about twenty people about the Canadian Peace Research Institute, its background and aims.

Dr. Franklin is a nuclear physicist by profession and is an enthusiastic supporter of the Canadian Peace Research Institute, and its founder Dr. Norman Alcock.

A former local girl and her husband were recently involved in a motor car accident which completely destroyed their European type car. Mr. and Mrs. John Cherry of Gravenhurst were holidaying in Nova Scotia when the mishap occurred near Truro. Luckily both Mr. and Mrs. Cherry escaped without injury.

Mrs. Cherry is the former Joan Cook daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cook of 65 Hunt Avenue.

As a wind up to Kresge's "Old Fashioned Sale" Manager Tom Mills and his staff enjoyed square dancing on the TV program Country Style which appears Friday evening on Channel 9. Kresge stores throughout the suburban area attended the show.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Southwell, Mrs. C. Bowyer and Mrs. H. Hawkins, have recently entertained Ruth and Bud Hamblly at a card party, farewell tea, and luncheon prior to their moving to Leaside.

Ruth and Bud with their two children Roger and Frances have resided on Church St. S. for the past 14 years, during which time they have made many friends. Roger and Frances regret leaving the school chums they have made over the years but hope to make new ones at Leaside High School where Roger enters grade 13 and Frances grade 9.

They all extend a hearty welcome to friends to drop around to 2 Vanderhoof Avenue, Leaside, and visit them. They leave the Hill with pleasant memories and hope their new town will provide them with as many pleasures as Richmond Hill has done.

Mrs. Stephen Ker Appley and children, Bruce, Janet and Nancy are holidaying in Rothsay, New Brunswick, at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Sayre.

Mrs. W. B. Stewart and son Jimmy of Centre St. E., accompanied by her mother, Mrs. E. Robinson of Willowdale, and nephew Kenny McDowell, Driscoll Road, are at present enjoying a seven week holiday in the British Isles.

Miss Jane Tobias returned last week from Australia, where she has been teaching at the Baronia High School, Victoria, in September. Miss Tobias will return to the teaching staff of Bayview High School, where she taught for a year prior to her departure.

Magistrate James Butler, Richmond Hill, who regularly presides in Metro Police Courts, has been assigned to the Magistrate's Court, City of London, for the month of July.

Magistrate Butler, a long-time resident of this community resides on Mill Street.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. H. Redelmeier and sons Hugh and Billy took a break from their Muskoka cottage holiday for a visit to Stratford on Saturday where they saw the performances of "The Tempest" and "The Gondoliers".

Rummage! Rummage! It will soon be that time of year again. Mrs. W. Purvis, convener of St. Mary's (Anglican) Rummage Sale is busy with her committee making plans for this annual fall event.

Ten years ago the Evening Branch of the W.A. of St. Mary's Church made history by sponsoring the first rummage sale in the district which has since become an important part of community life in the Hill.

Members of St. Mary's Church will be reminded early in September about their contributions but if anyone wishes to make early donations of clothing, attic and basement treasures, etc., they may do so by calling TU. 4-3190 or TU. 4-4780 for pick up.

The committee for this year's sale is: Mrs. W. Purvis, convener; Mrs. J. Goodier, Mrs. M. Langton, Mrs. N. McLeod, and Mrs. C. Williams.

The courtesy of British motorists and the tidiness of streets and parks in towns and cities especially impressed Miss Mary Dawson of "The Liberal" staff on her recent visit to England and Scotland. Of particular interest, too, was a traffic policeman in Durham, controlling traffic throughout a wide area from the central square by means of two closed television circuits and traffic lights.

In Edinburgh, the problem of ice in the winter on the steep approach to the Mound has been solved by placing an electric blanket under the road surface which turns itself on as the temperature drops to the danger point.

Here, too, the most moving sight was the Scottish War Memorial in Edinburgh Castle, where each branch of the service and each regiment which served in both World Wars is remembered even to the mice and canaries used by the engineers to warn of gas in the tunnels. It is not unusual to find the name of a father in the book for the War of 1914-18, and that of his son in the book of 1939-45.

A highlight of the trip was a trip on RMS King George V which bore a plaque recording the fact that this ship had participated in the removal of troops from Dunkirk and other beaches during World War II. A trip ashore in a dory at Staffa to clamber over the rocks to visit St. Ninian's cave and a trip to Iona where St. Columba brought Christianity to Britain in the sixth century were made from this ship.

The Jeanie Deans, a side-wheeler, was the means of transportation for a trip on the Clyde to the Kyles of Bute. This ship had served during World War II as a minesweeper.

A wanderer in the Tower of London, noticing the maple leaf worn by Miss Dawson, pointed out that the flagpole on the White Tower is also a Canadian, a B.C. Douglas fir.

The weather was cool but pleasant and rain fell on only four of the twenty-three days of her visit. However, there had been a late spring, with crops a month to six weeks late, and in Scotland, rhododendrons were still in bloom in profusion, as well as wild roses, bell heather, and foxgloves along the roadsides.
