Headford News

Elizabeth Barker arrived home from Europe Aug. 2. One of the four Ontario 4-H "Trip to Britain" winners, she has been away since May 17. The return trip was made on the Empress of Canada.

To Elizabeth's delight she was not sick though some of her group mates did not fare so well. Like most travellers she, "had a wonderful time but it is good to be home."

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bagg, Uxbridge, formerly of this district, were guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. Cummer Lee.

Sharon Rumble is at Camp Ahshunyoong acting as a councillor. She has been instructing a class of junior swimmers at the pond on her home farm.

There will be no Sunday School at Headford United Church during August and only two services, 12th and 24. Rev. G. Fitzpatrick will conduct both services.

Mrs. Carl Wallace has accepted a secretarial position in the office of Stuart Parker, Q.C., Richmond Hill.

Now that August is well on its way, school looms and little boys feel that time is fleeing. They swim harder, hammer away at various building operations, forts and tree houses and such.

They feel they must sleep out because, "Gee Whiz it will soon be school and then winter."

It is wonderful to have them home for holidays but we have a small persistent feeling that it will be pleasant to once more say, "Hurry, hurry, you'll be late. Good bye, be good and come right home."

Night Of August 4th

Cemetery Vault Is Haven
Perhaps the first report sent in to police was made by Phyllis Bloom when she and her husband Les heard a hissing sound from across the road at "Propane". Phyllis made the call and they went upstairs to get their children, Myra 14, Jennifer 13, Jimmie 10 and John 8. They had several cuts and burns from flying glass and metal as they attempted to reach the cemetery vault in their night clothes.

We women can appreciate Phyllis' dismay when she saw the damage done to her newly redecorated living room she had spent most of her holidays doing. Everything is a shambles, but now they have two rooms for the time being on Dufferin Street. Mr. Bloom is the caretaker for Maple United Cemetery.

Pets Played A Part
Shirley Gray, Railway Street, whose home was made unlivable, was preparing for a picnic. Two chickens were in the oven and steak on the stove when firemen entered and the chickens survived to be enjoyed some hours later. Incidentally these are not the "pets" indicated by the subtitle!!

Her pet cat "Susie," who is 16 years old, was a constant worry to her as she couldn't get back to get it, but she found out the firemen had been feeding her. The pigeon cage was open so they were flying back and forth at will and they had been able to pick up their rabbit before finally evacuating.

Dorothy and Bruce Murchison were unable to find their little spaniel and Verna Gilliat threw away all caution as she went back to find her Great Dane Happy, but it was many hours later, towards dawn when he was found in a field.

The pet hamster and how he was faring was a prime concern of the Bloom children. The following day they were delighted to find him still curled up asleep in his cage.

Mary Ellen Hamilton's horse patiently grazed away oblivious to all the holocaust around it in the field next to the train track.

Most "Maple Notes" readers are acquainted with the Shore's cat Herman. I must confess to squeezing out a few minutes concern about him when we realized he got out of the basement through a blown out window. However he greeted Peter at home next morning.

So it all ended pretty well for our varied furry friends.
One last animal tale — Sunday morning there was a tense moment just below the tracks in front of the former Superior Propane offices.

Police and Fire Chiefs, Metro inspectors, newsmen and the men manning brooms, cleaning up debris, all held their breath (me included) as we watched a scrawny cat stalk a mouse among the broken glass and metal. As if on cue, a cheer went up from the men as the cat made its final pounce and proudly marched off with its catch. That one cheer perhaps released more pent-up tension for everyone for the first time since IT happened.

Pool Owners Get Break On Fences

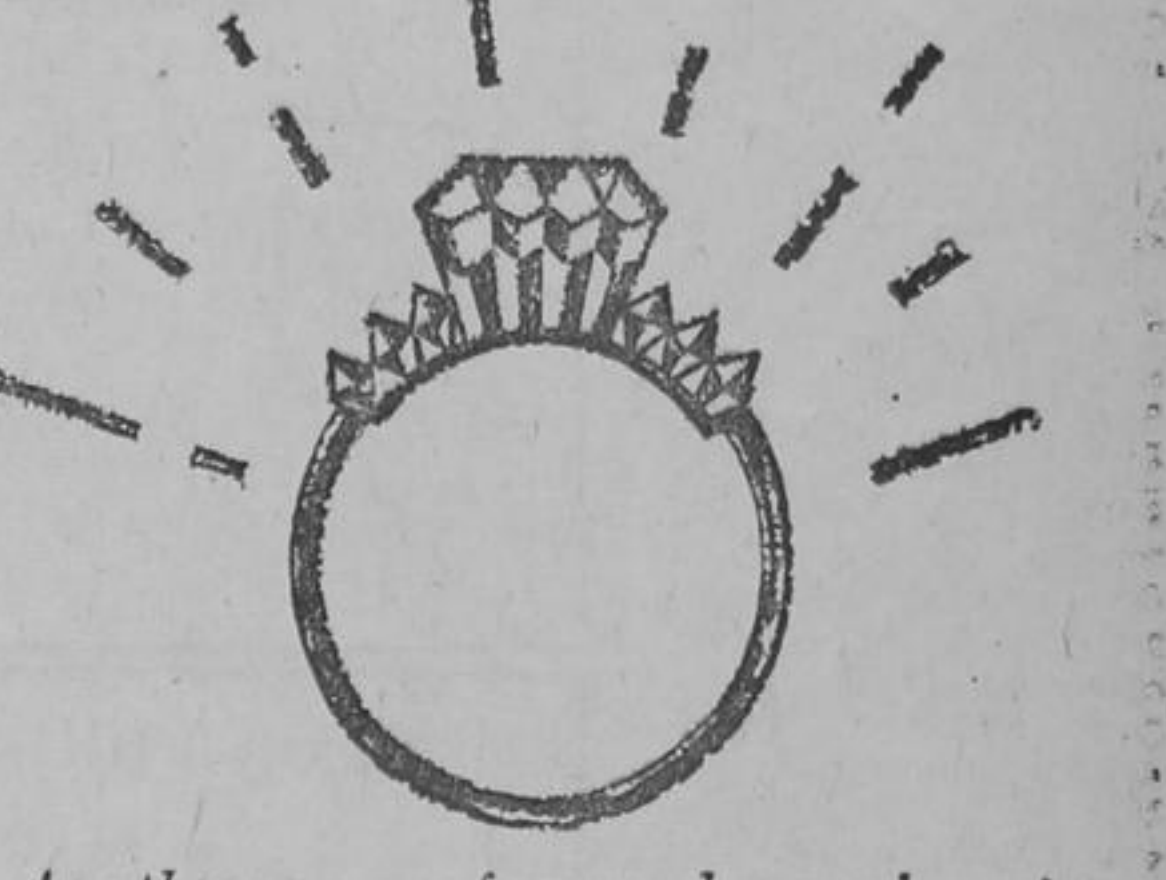

Swimming pool owners in Vaughan Township will not have to worry about building fences around them this summer.

Council Monday night adopted a report from the finance and general purpose committee recommending that a bylaw requiring fences should differentiate between rural and urban residents.

At present, the Ontario Municipal Act does not permit any bylaw to be qualified by such differences, according to Township Solicitor T. O. Fraser.

Mr. Fraser was instructed by the committee to ask the provincial Minister of Municipal Affairs to amend the section of the Municipal Act to apply only to residents of built-up areas. The bylaw proposed by council several weeks ago called for fences and gates four feet high around outdoor swimming pools.

Thieves Net $30

Thieves took advantage of Saturday night's Maple blast to engage in four break-ins in Richmond Hill.

Police say children are blamed for three factory break-ins which netted them a total of less than $30. Break-ins were at Jemco Industries and Toronto Window Company on Centre Street East and at Dieomatic Metal Products on Ohio Road. Police are still investigating.

A juvenile has been arrested in connection with a break-in at a house on Cartier Crescent. The house was broken into through the milk box. A jar of pennies was taken.

Most Richmond Hill police were at Maple Saturday night. At one point only one police car was left in town.

Carriers Service 5,000 Homes

Over 220,000 Letters Sorted Weekly At Office

BY NEIL CAMPBELL
Does your business bank $14,000 a week? That's the figure for Richmond Hill's Post Office, according to Postmaster E. T. Willis. Total cash volume for the post office is $20,000 a week.

Over 220,000 letters are mailed out of Richmond Hill each week, according to figures furnished by Mr. Willis. Additional mail includes 900 registered letters and 1,200 parcel bags each week.

Twenty-six people are presently employed by the post office. Included in this list are Mr. Willis, nine postal clerks, four supervising letter carriers and 12 letter carriers.

Carrier service in Richmond Hill was started in 1958. Postmen presently are credited with trudging over 56 miles a week. This does not include the distance each postman walks from the street to every house.

Some 4,965 homes in Richmond Hill get postal delivery. In addition to the town service, the post office maintains a suburban service and one rural route. Where suburban service is available, mail is left in boxes at the end of each street.

Richmond Hill's rural route services 245 people, Mr. Willis said. The area is bounded by Highway 7 on the south, Bayview Avenue on the east, the town line between Whitechurch and Markham on the north, and by Yonge Street on the west.
