to buy and nothing, but nothing can beat it as a rejuvenator.

Gaily garbed cheerleaders urge their heroes on to greater efforts while from the bench come pleas to hold that line and block that kick. Every player wants to do or die for dear old something or other or be a real honest-to-gosh football hero—for an afternoon at least.

The moans and groans of the crowd as the game goes against their favourite team are overwhelmed by the loud cheers and huzzahs of those supporting the rival side.

Youthful enthusiasm is catching and, almost against your will you're transported back a quarter of a century. And then you begin to moan and groan and cheer with the other kids. For a few minutes at least you've shed years off your age. It's a wonderful feeling.

As a spectator sport there's nothing to beat it. The play is not as slick and machine-like as the kind they show on TV, but the enthusiasm and a sense of identification with the contestants makes up for a great deal.

You begin to think you'd like to be out there yourself and then a young halfback is nailed by a quarter of a ton of beef—and you're really glad you're watching!

If you get a chance to see a game at the school in your area—then see it by all means. A telephone call to the school will let you know when the team plays and you'll really be glad you did. Try it and see!

Couple Exchange Vows

Victoria Square United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding September 22 when Jeannette, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilkins, 400 Highway 7 East, was united in marriage to John Gee, son of Mr. Fraser Gee and the late Mrs. Gee, R.R. 3, Gormley.

Rev. Dr. A. C. E. Binnington officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a simple white brocade gown with a bouffant skirt. Her waist length tulle veil was held in place by a floral headdress and she carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli and pink roses.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Arlene Sinclair. Bridesmaids were Lynda Bell and Elaine Wilkins, sister of the bride.

They wore gowns of Royal Blue Taffeta with matching headdresses, and carried bouquets of pink roses.

The flower girl, Marylyn Aldred, wore a pink dress with matching headdress and also carried pink roses.

Attending the groom as best man was Brian Gee. Ushers were Allen Nichols and Ronald Gee.

The reception was held at the Grenadier Restaurant where the bride's mother was assisted with the receiving by the groom's aunts, Miss Marjorie McMahon and Miss Ruth McMahon.

Grouse Hunting About Normal In Three Townships

The grouse season in the Lake Simcoe District, with the exception of Dufferin County, opened September 22, with the remainder of the district opening October 6.

From reports submitted by conservation officers throughout the district, it would appear the only place any degree of success in grouse hunting in this district will be in Matchedash, Wood and Baxter Townships.

Conservation Officer F. Bowes has reported that grouse in that area are quite plentiful. Grouse hunting in central Simcoe County in the Angus area should be about normal. In the remainder of the district grouse are quite scarce.

Barrie Captures '62 Championship

On a soaked ground under overcast skies and drizzle, the Barrie soccer club defeated Aurora 2-1 to win the league championship on Saturday.

Play was close as players slipped and slithered with Aurora twice hitting the Barrie net crossbar to come very close to the win.

As a finale to the season, league officials will form a team and play against the league all-stars in Newmarket, October 27.

Game time is 4 p.m. as the has-beens show how much of their soccer skill is really left.

A winter swimming program for children and adults has been incorporated into the activities of the Unionville Swimming Club for the first time this fall. It was announced at a meeting of the Markham Township Recreation Committee held on September 26.

Mrs. D. J. Metcalfe reported the club had conducted a successful Red Cross water safety program along with adult learning classes this summer.

Arthur Toogood told the meeting considerable interest in baseball exhibited in the Unionville area at the beginning of summer indicated the community could have an active ball club with proper guidance and coaching during the summer of 1963.

Mr. Ielbeck, director of the community program branch, attended the meeting and praised the committee for its work.

Victoria Square Lions News

On October 2, at the regular evening meeting, Lion 1st Vice President George Brands reported that his committee has completed arrangements for the third charter anniversary dinner to be held on October 16 at the Buttonville Hall. Entertainment is being provided by the Richmond Hill Curtain Club. Invitations to Lions and their friends have been extended through club secretaries.

Following the business session Mr. J. Hollingsworth, director of public service, Workmen's Compensation Board of Ontario, gave an interesting and informative address on the history of this board. About 47 years ago an injured worker had little financial security in this province. Today compensation benefits amount annually to millions of dollars with an administrative cost of less than 10 percent. The speaker answered many questions, principally relating to benefits and the qualifications for coverage. Mr. J. Hollingsworth was introduced by Lion Geo. Campey and thanked by Lion Harvey Colard.

A chicken barbecue, proceeds of which are being donated by the club to the building fund of the community centre, is to be held in the Victoria Square District Park Hall on Saturday evening, October 27. Chicken and all its delicious trimmings will be the menu. Bingo featured as dessert will be conducted by Lion Everett Vanderkooy.

On November 3, starting at 1 p.m., the club's second annual turkey shoot takes place at the Victoria Square District Park, rain or shine - fare or fowl! Open to everyone - everyone is welcome. All proceeds for community purposes.

Sick room equipment is available for loan through the club to the community. The equipment comprises many of the small articles required in an emergency as well as larger items, such as hospital beds, wheel chairs, and crutches.

Lion George Brands won the lucky draw diamond ring on Wednesday evening at the auction sale of jewellery, cameras and watches at the park.

The October 2 Lions' meeting was also the 40th anniversary of Lion Harvey Colard's entry into the painting business.

Past President Lion Frank Williams has returned from his annual fishing trip. He has resumed his $1.00 a year occupation with the other volunteers who are working on the community centre hall.

Lion Dick Jones has taken down his "gone fishing" sign from his general store. It had not been replaced with a "fresh fish for sale" sign.

Past President Carl Walker has just returned from his visit to the Lawn and Garden Equipment Show at the Coliseum in New York City. He didn't take his wife - she had been there before.

Skaters Active At Town Arena

Over 380 skaters attended the opening night of public skating at Richmond Hill Arena Saturday night.

Thanksgiving Day afternoon saw another 300 skaters take advantage of the ice to don the blades for an early workout.

The arena is all slicked up and refurbished and the public skating sessions give every indication of being well attended.

It's a really good value for the money and is open to all who wish to skate. In order to improve conditions for skaters this year no spectators will be admitted to these sessions.
