be held at the church. On Oct. 13 The Messengers will hold their first meeting, and on Nov. 10, a bazaar will be held.

In Water Area
Recently a letter was received from the OMB stating the application was granted as applied for in the recent water hearing. This means, among other things, that Buttonville is now in the water area of Markham Township, and residents (up to and including Lot 14) will pay a two mills levy which is to be charged over the area.

It does not mean that water on tap will be available immediately.

J. A. Kennedy, chairman of the OMB, who presided at the hearing last June, made it quite clear that further permission would have to be given by the OMB before water mains could be brought north of John Street on Don Mills Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sherman are vacationing this week. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Storey returned recently from Salisbury, N.B., where they left their son Art who is entering his second year Theology at Mount Allison University. On their trip the Storeys saw a good portion of Eastern Canada and the United States.

Last weekend the Victoria Square charge Y.P.U. attended a Young People's Rally at Brampton. There were perhaps a dozen members from the Buttonville area.

The Cox children have been ill with the mumps, and Paul Steffler exhibited all the symptoms last weekend. We hope they are better soon.

Will Book Exhibits

Richmond Hill Public Library Board Thursday night decided to book three special exhibits from the Ontario Art Institute for 1963.

Included will be two exhibits of original paintings and a photographic exhibit.

STOUFFVILLE: Sales of pigs have resumed once again at the Stouffville Stockyards. The ban had been instituted earlier in the year because of the danger from hog cholera.

NEWMARKET: Newmarket Redmen, Ontario Hockey Association's Junior "C" Cinderella team of the 1961-62 season, will operate again this year.

Charles Milton, a third year student at Emmanuel College, preached a fine sermon Thanksgiving Sunday at Brown's Corner United Church, and the choir, under the direction of Mrs. S. J. English, with Mrs. Donald Reesor at the organ, sang two anthems: "Hymn of Thanksgiving" and "Break Forth".

The church was attractive with seasonal fruits and vegetables, and a good congregation was in attendance.

Mr. Milton has preached at Cedar Grove for the past two years and has stated his willingness to assist occasionally on the Victoria Square circuit.

There will be a Silver Tea at the Victoria Square Manse, Oct. 18, from 2-5 p.m. Mrs. A. F. Binnington extends an invitation to all friends in the community.

Neighborhood Notes
Kathy Brown has been ill recently and could not see her triumphs at Markham Fair. Kathy took first prize for her curled paper cat and a painting in the school exhibits.

Mrs. Morrison Seller was a visitor at the Rodick home last week.

Local people who exhibited at Markham Fair received their fair share of prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pralet were particularly successful in the flower and vegetable classes. Mrs. Pralet taking firsts for pansies, petunias, a collection of annuals, and pom pom zinnias, and a third for zinnias (other variety); Mr. Pralet's seven firsts, seven seconds and three fourths for vegetables included a first for his collection of vegetables, and three fourths for varieties in the large potato class.

Mrs. George Barker excelled in the flower arrangements, winning first prize in two classes.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McGimpsey won second prize for eggs. Bill Robinson took 12 ribbons, including six firsts, in the 4-H Club and cattle judging classes, including Reserve Grand Champion for Senior Yearling Heifer in the Open, and first prize for his heifer in the 4-H Club.

Beverly and Sandra Burr took home their share of ribbons. In the Junior Institute section, Beverly won two firsts for a wool dress and her cherry pie. Her shoe bag brought a second.

Sandra took firsts for a wool skirt and shoe bag, and won a second for muffins. In the 4-H Club, Sandra took firsts for a summer skirt and shorts, and in the Calf Club section she won two firsts and a second, first in showmanship, and second for her calf.

Buttonville Junior Institute won second prize for their display and the junior farmers took first for theirs.

In the Women's Institute section, Buttonville women captured third prize for their "Bounty of the County" display, and won the Federation of Agriculture prize for the best agricultural exhibit.

It contained many types and varieties of vegetables, fruits, grain, preserves of every description, cheese, bread, eggs, honey and maple syrup, and a poem:

Here, from the land, are the gifts of York County, Bounty in full degree! York, the cream of the country In the land of the brave and free!

Here are the fruits from sun-warmed orchards: Vegetables fresh from the soil! Here, the honey bee's golden treasure

And sap from the maple's store! The cattle graze on hillside green, The bins overflow with grain! The corn stands tall in measured rows Nurtured by sun and rain.

This is the land where our forefathers gathered, 'Tis ours in trust, to improve. These are the gifts of the Great Creator

Which we must work to preserve!

U.C.W. Hold Thankoffering
Wednesday of last week, Brown's Corners U.C.W. entertained women from various neighboring churches when they held their Autumn Thank-offering.

Miss Margaret Halliday, a retired missionary who spent 30 years in Angola, was the guest speaker. Mrs. Wm. Rodick conducted the service. Mrs. Donald Reesor played the organ and accompanied Mrs. George Hooper when she sang two solos.

Mrs. S. J. English introduced the guest and Mrs. Harold Steffler made courtesies. Mrs. Hord and Mrs. E. Fuller were ushers. Mrs. Norman Reid pronounced the closing prayer.

Tea tables were arranged in the church parlors, and Mrs. A. F. Binnington poured tea. Mrs. Arnold Gardhouse, York Presbytery literature secretary, was in charge of a literature display.

Church Notes
Oct. 14 will be Communion Service at Brown's Corners Church, Oct. 23, from 5 o'clock on, a smorgasbord dinner will Residents seeking municipal water live on Yonge Street, Naughton and Stancort Drives and Leyburn Avenue.

The committee refused to make any commitment as to whether or not municipal water would be made available to the area at a meeting held last Wednesday.

Proposals now under discussion would see residents pay the basic rate of $36 a year but would raise money to pay necessary debentures by means of an adjusted frontage rate.

Residents would continue to pay a maximum four mills on the adjusted frontage.

There are a few slight differences here, according to Major Snyder, but most of them are no greater than differences between parts of the U.S.

Semi-detached or duplex homes are much more common in Richmond Hill, than anywhere south of the border, Major Snyder asserted.

He served in Germany, England, France and Belgium during the war. Since the war, he has been stationed in the Aleutians, Alaska, and Germany, in addition to bases all over the United States.

Mrs. Snyder is from Breckenridge, Texas, a little town about 100 miles west of Fort Worth. Major Snyder is from Fullerton, Pa., near Allentown in the eastern part of the state.
