

Hill Indians Edge Ghosts 2 - 1 On Soggy Gridiron

(By Ron Craine)

For the first time in 13 years a team other than the Northwestern Ghosts won the honor of a first place finish in the Metro Rugby Football League.

Richmond Hill Indians were the team to achieve the distinction of upsetting the Ghosts by edging the Northwestern entry by a 2-1 margin in Richmond Hill last Saturday.

A new trophy, emblematic of the first place finish, will be presented to the Indians.

Playing conditions were an absolute nightmare. Great portions of the field were snow-covered while other areas consisted of mud, ice and water.

Cold, soaked and thoroughly miserable, players slipped and slithered through 60 minutes of no quarter asked or given football to bring the regular league schedule to an end.

Hard running backs and dippy-doo-ding ends were hampered by the uncertain footing. Line plays were virtually impossible as players fought vainly for good traction. It was a mercy none of them drowned.

By half-time, weather conditions had deteriorated as the temperature plummeted. A half time interval was waived with both teams agreeing to play straight through. It was the sort of day that put the foot back into football.

Northwestern took the lead in the first quarter on a single booted from deep inside Indian territory.

This single point was to be the only Ghost score of the game as the Indians went on to win on the strength of two singles kicked by John Morgan.

Morgan booted the first Indian single to tie the game in the third quarter on a fine reverse play to set up Morgan for the game-winning single.

Levi Snook was lost to the Indians for the remainder of the season. Snook suffered a badly gashed achilles tendon that required ten stitches to close. His loss will be felt by the Indians as he has been a standout all year.

Al Fleming went all the way at the pivot spot and called a very sound ball game. Despite the deplorable conditions Fleming was able to throw seven passes and complete four of them for long gains.

Dick Reimer, Bill Dunn and John Morgan were outstanding for the Indians both on offence and defence. Freddy "the veteran" Parsons and Gary Sokol gave of their all on defence to completely stall the Northwestern attack.

This Saturday, Indians open a two game total points to count series against East York at East York Stadium.

The Indians have the potential and the personnel to go all the way to the league title this year. Coach Del Madeley is confident that this is to be the biggest year in Indian history.

mindng chore. Dallas Worrall was the usual tower of strength on defence.

Doug Meyers played well in the Hornet cage but a defensive lapse in the final two minutes of play robbed the team and Meyers of victory. Leading Brampton 3-1 with two minutes remaining the Hornets allowed Brampton to fire home two goals to tie the score. Dave Lund also went well and shows a lot of promise for the future.

Brampton 3 - CFGM 2
The CFGM team acquitted themselves well in the first game of the season. Coach Ed. Brown expects that his squirt team will play a lot of good hockey and should improve every time out.

SPORT SPOTS

BY RON CRAINE

No matter from what angle you view it, last week was quite a week. Tension mounted as the cold war grew hotter by the second as the world awaited the arrival of the first Russian ship at the American blockade—oops!—pardon—"quarantine" line. And so far we've managed to survive that quite nicely, thank you.

As if this wasn't enough to try men's souls, there came the sneak weather attack last Thursday. At 7:00 a.m. Yonge St. resembled nothing more than the ice surface at Maple Leaf Gardens after a fresh flood. The valley between Toronto Ladies' Golf Club and Thornhill Golf Club was a veritable ulcer gulch as cars careened gaily down both sides of the hill. Some were going forwards, a goodly number sideways, and a lot sliding backwards. Truly an auto body repairman's delight! It's done one thing for a lot of motorists, though. Snow tires have made an earlier appearance, in larger quantities, than ever before. Got yours on yet?

The tense political situation and the weather seemed just about enough for one week. But yet another shock was in store. This third occurrence came about at a general meeting, called by the Richmond Hill Minor Ball Association for Thursday last. Notices of the meeting were received on the day prior to the date set and no public announcement was made to invite ALL interested parties to the meeting.

Understandably enough, some of those few present at the meeting assumed that this short notification and lack of public announcement was deliberate and done with malice aforethought. High point of the agenda was to be the election of a new executive for the 1963 season. As all members of the present executive had indicated a willingness to stand for re-election, something smelled like an awfully big load of fish. Remarks and charges were hurled at the meeting chairman of running a shotgun election. After some discussion, it was finally agreed to reschedule the general meeting for a date to be announced and to give as much advance public notice as possible. And that shelved that problem for the time being.

In all fairness to members of this years executive body, the season just past was the most successful one ever enjoyed by minor ball in Richmond Hill. Games and schedules were run smoothly, with the minimum amount of friction. The Sports Day Parade was the biggest and best ever, and at the end of the year the organization is still solvent. How much better job can any group do. Yet at this meeting they were accused of riding roughshod over the very rules of democratic procedure and being too demanding and dictatorial. And they were guilty to a degree.

Catches Big Rainbow In Northern Waters

Conservation Officer F. Bowes of Waubashene reports catching a record breaking 15 lb., 10 oz. rainbow trout recently in the Sturgeon River near Midland.

According to the weekly report from the Lake Simcoe District of the Department of Lands and Forests, local rivers flowing into Georgian Bay have consistently produced good rainbow trout and excellent smelting.
