

HEADFORD NEWS

Mrs. Loren Guild
R.R. 2, Gormley Phone TU. 4-3040

Headford neighbours are interested and pleased that Keith Burton won top honours for his speech, "What I have Learned About Safety." He was one of six competitors from schools 4, 5 and 7, number 3 Markham Area in the public speaking contest. Congratulations Keith and best wishes for the next competition.

4-H girls are keeping up with their program and at the last meeting at Miss Cora Brodie's home Sandra Burr demonstrated the preparation and cooking of macaroni and cheese.

Shouts of delight from the young ones greeted snow, and snow men appeared and disappeared with equal speed. With equanimity their callous creators watched them go.

Elisabeth Enjoys Ploughing
Ploughing matches are over for the season but Elisabeth Barker had an opportunity to compete at the King-Vaughan meeting. The weather was cold. So cold, Elisabeth said, that she kept piling on coats and even then nearly froze. In spite of this it was fun. This is Elisabeth's first year in real competition. Classed at K-V with boys from 10 to 16 and girls of any age she came sixth in a team of ten and won the Simpson Sears trophy, a silver creamer set on a tray. The ploughmen's association has little money for prizes and they appreciate donations that add interest to competition.

Elisabeth was assisted by her cousin Leonard Wellman and was in attendance the second day to return the favor to him.

Hallowe'en
The Hallowe'en party in Headford United Church was well attended by pirates, tramps, clowns, Peter Pan and Aunt Jemima mingled with dainty ladies and fairy tale characters.

Chosen for best costume were Jenny Calder, scowrow, Connie Burton and Martha Calder, twin clowns, Richard Burton as a Hollywood beauty and Michael Calder as a well bandaged accident case.

In spite of age, period or occupation the characters mingled happily. Pirate and Red Riding Hood, Peter Pan and tramp they hopped through Pumpkin dance, Swat the Balloon and other Hallowe'en games.

Lunch was provided by the members of the UCW and Mrs. Cumber Lee, Mrs. Stewart Rumble and Mrs. Elmer Leek were in charge of entertainment.

The Terry, Burton and Calder children were delighted to receive pumpkins with their individual names written in the skin of the vegetable. Stewart Rumble had the forethought to scratch the names when the pumpkins were weeded and the names grew with them. Little delights such as this linger in a child's memory.

Something Different
An interesting wedding invitation was seen recently when a friend prepared to leave for the U.S.A. to marry a lad in the American submarine service. One side of the invitation presented the request of presence from her parents and the opposite page conveyed the invitation from his parents. This joint parental interest seemed very fitting. The couple are natives of the Philippines and this is the custom with their people.

Charivari
To all of the neighbors whom I phoned last week to ask them how to spell charivari - (I hope you read the column last week) well now you know. We must have learned to spell it sometime, we knew it was of French origin and we tried several combinations Chev, chiv chav with these combinations but no dictionary was of any help because we missed that pesky "r". Someone said send it in the way it sounds and if Sam Cook doesn't know how to spell it, "there ain't no such word." I spelled it Shiverer, I think. Take a bow Mr. Editor!

Recipe
An interesting recipe for an everyday vegetable was given me recently and it is in the oven now, filling the house with a delightful aroma.
Scrape the desired number of carrots and leave them whole. Place them on a sheet of foil sprinkle them with cut up green onion and a garlic section or garlic powder. These two items according to your taste. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and generous daubs of butter, wrap the foil about it, seal it well and bake one hour. A scattering of anise seed, if you like it, adds piquancy.

"Drys" Get Set To Fight "Wets" In Case Of Vote
Officials of Vaughan Township's "Vote No" organization apparently expect another liquor vote next spring.

Warren Baillie, a member of the organization, attended Monday night's council meeting. He told newsmen a member of his organization would attend every meeting of council from now on.

He said his organization expected the "wets" would try to have another liquor vote called for next March.

According to the Liquor License Act, a space of three years must be left between liquor votes. Since the last vote was held March 19, 1960, another vote could be held March 20, 1963.

Propositions on the 1960 ballot included brewers' retail and liquor stores, dining lounges. All three questions failed to gain the necessary 60 per cent of the vote.

Vaughan has been dry since 1906.

Two New Scholarships District High School Bd.

At a short meeting on October 22, the trustees of York Central District High School Board gave approval to a home economics scholarship at Thornhill Secondary School and were informed that the Richmond Hill Agricultural Society wishes to set up a scholarship.

The home economics scholarship at Thornhill is to be $100, the money to be replenished each year from the fashion show or by donors. The purpose of the scholarship is to encourage students proceeding towards further studies in home economics. The winner is therefore committed to higher education beyond Grade 13.

The student who obtains the highest average on the nine best Grade 13 papers will be eligible for the scholarship, providing she combines with scholarship admirable qualities of character. The teachers and head of the home economics department and the principal of Thornhill are to be in charge of conditions and continuance of the award.

Full details of the Richmond Hill Agricultural Society scholarship have not yet been arranged but will be worked out with Superintendent Sam Chapman.

Management Report
Trustee Ernest Redemeler presented a report of the Management Committee meeting of October 15.

Among the recommendations made by the committee were that the superintendent be instructed to report to the management committee the numbers and grades of students suspended. Board members agreed to request parents reporting directly to them to contact the superintendent so that full information may be available for a future management committee meeting.

It was also recommended that the chairman and superintendent attend the meeting of the York Central Secondary-Elementary Liaison Committee on October 30. They are to report back to the board on recommendations as to how this committee should be constituted and what representation the High School Board should have on it.

The board also agreed to adopt the recommendations of the Ontario School Trustees' Council provided it is apparent that all boards in this area will do the same and act in good faith. The management committee also recommended that the board request the superintendent to prepare a brief outlining the possibility of increasing the efficiency of the teaching staff.

Property Report
The property committee report was given by Trustee Robert Endean. The installation of a P.A. system in the two portables at Thornhill recommended by the committee was passed by the board. The system will be installed by General Sound and cost $176.00.

On motion of Trustee Endean, seconded by Trustee Kincaid, the board agreed to approve the overspending of the supplies budget for Thornhill shops up to an amount of $1,000.00. Trustee Endean noted that the board had been advised previously that this would probably be necessary, but that all such supplies purchased would not necessarily be used this year but could be carried over.

Some discussion took place over the request from Thornhill for financial assistance for the honour graduation dinner. As reference to last year's minutes showed that assistance had been given last year on the understanding that it was to be for that year only, and as the board has never contributed to the other high schools for this purpose, the request was denied.

Accounts were approved by the board to a total of $167,657.46.
