

Outstanding Students Honored

"These three young men are in the top two percent of Ontario's Grade 13 students. They are the elite," stated High School Superintendent Sam Chapman in presenting Ontario Scholarships to Larry Follitt, Robert Manning and David Sale at Richmond Hill High School's 39th commencement exercises on November 2nd.

Worth $400.00, the scholarships are presented to all Grade 13 students with an average of 80% or better. Robert Manning had an overall average of 84.7%. David Sale achieved 83% and Larry Follitt had 81.6%.

Robert Manning carried off $350.00. His prize from the some $1200.00 worth of school-student association for highest awards for his year's work. As well as the Ontario Government scholarship, he was awarded the Morley Kinnee Plaque for highest standing in Grade 13 English. Second largest prize winner was David Sale. As well as the Ontario Government scholarship, the Mary Banting Izzard Scholarship for proficiency in the Scholarship for highest standing in eight grade 13 papers, worth $250.00; and the Waterman Pen Company prize for highest standing in Grade 13 mathematics, physics and chemistry. In these five subjects, all-University of Toronto, worth by Mr. Ernest Redelmeier of the high school board. The posthumous presentation of the diploma of David Sims was made to his brother John Sims and a moment of silence was observed in his memory.

The twelve special commercial diplomas were presented by Mr. L. D. Clement of the board. The L. H. Sims Trophy for typewriting was presented to Mary Ann Donald and the Esterbrook Prize for shorthand to Andrea McIntyre.

The 41 honour graduation diplomas were presented by the chairman of the high school board, Mr. Robert Ross. It was noted that 30 of the graduates and 21 of these are attending various universities.

Rev. A. M. Lavery
A brief and very witty commencement address was made to the graduates by Rev. A. M. Lavery of Queen's University. He urged on the graduates the benefits of self control, in the broad sense of self-direction. It should be yourself who is giving direction to your life, he stated. "You can take your pattern unquestionably from the people around you," he continued. "You then need never know the burden of making up your mind about anything. You will be a blank sheet of paper, waiting for the stamp, saying and doing whatever the crowd does. Life is simplified, but it is no longer your own."

Robert Manning
In his valedictory address, Robert Manning noted that "there is much to look back upon with pleasure, pride and a sigh of relief". He noted how the school body had expanded and split up three times during the past five years with the formation of the Woodbridge and Bayview Schools, and paid tribute to the many fine teachers the students had had and the athletic coaches who had "inspired us in victory and inspired us in defeat."

Honor "Good Friend" On Birthday

By Toby Shore
About 30 mutual friends and neighbors attended a tea at the home of Mrs. B. R. Hook, Elgin Mills, November 1 to bring warm wishes to Miss Edna McNair, celebrating her 75th birthday on November 3.

Many more, who were regrettably unable to attend, sent along cards of greeting. The McNairs, Scottish descendants, moved to this district around 1830 and bought the property to build on, then they made the bricks for the building of their new home in which Miss Edna McNair was born and where she and her brother Les live today.

Mrs. Hook mentioned the main interests of Miss McNair today were antiques, old glass, books, jewelry and flowers. She is known by all as a warm, interested individual much alive to the world around her and with a keen interest in the children of the neighborhood.

She enjoys remembering the youngsters on their special occasions, by sending appropriate greeting cards and queries to them about their school work and hobbies. A combined facet of personality is combined in her love of flowers and her delight in assisting new gardeners to set up their gardens with a "Star of Bethlehem" narcissus or such that would be just perfect for that certain spot in your garden.

Many would be 'green thumb' gardeners owe their thanks to their gracious neighbor for this initial start. Perhaps the nicest way of summing up the feeling of the first anniversary meeting of the 4th Thornhill Girl Guides at Henderson Avenue Public School.

Guest of honor was Commissioner Jewitt, who took pictures of the girls. Leaders were Mary Gage and Miss Trudell. Mrs. E. Lynch served the group with chocolate milk and birthday cake.

The local association of Brownie and Guide mothers held a meeting November 5 at 71 Woodward Ave. A general meeting of parents of Brownies and Guides is to be held Monday, November 19, at Henderson Avenue School to sanction the work of the executive.

many friends of Edna McNair is to quote her hostess' comment: "In all my years of having known her, I have never heard an unkind word about anyone from her."

"The Liberal" and its readers join in wishing her "many happy returns and good health," to continue her enjoyment of life among her friends.

Miss McNair was the recipient of several lovely gifts along with her numerous birthday cards.
