Essay Winners

The Scout Movement has a wonderful reputation. Yet it is possible that some of the boys are not absorbing the aims and ideals of Scouting. With this in mind a long range program was initiated.

The first step was to ask the Scouts to write their interpretation of each of the ten Scout Laws. After all, a scout promises "on his honour that he will do his best to obey the Scout Law". This only means something when he understands what he has promised.

The Scout Law Essay contest was announced last May. The above six boys sent in essays. The instructions stated that no name was to be shown except on the entry form. The essays were received by Gordon McIntyre, Superintendent of Richmond Hill Public Schools. He assigned each one a number and became the only person able to match up the names and numbers. The essays were put in separate envelopes showing the boys age, Scout rank and number. These were sent to Provincial Headquarters where a four man team read and graded each essay. The sum of the ratings established the standing. The numbers were then correlated with the names.

The number of entries was small but the spirit was high and the material good. These boys deserve a lot of credit for their efforts. They all expect to enter the next contest with it is hoped, many other boys.

As their award the six boys were taken on a canoe trip in Haliburton during September. The school principals and parents gave permission to miss school on Friday to give them a long enough weekend for this event.

The boys were accompanied by Harry Johnson, Scoutmaster of 2nd Thornhill; Assistant Scoutmaster John Turner of 5th Richmond Hill and Dave Bruce, Graduate in Forestry and a member of the Executive. Rovers Peter and Richard Macnaughton went along to help portage canoes and luggage. They returned to their homes Sunday evening.

From all reports the boys and leaders thoroughly enjoyed themselves. The boys now have so much in common that when assembled for the above picture they did not want to part. This is Scouting.

The winners were: Robert Boardman - 1st Beverly Acres, Law 10 - "A Scout is clean in thought word and deed"; Murray Day - 3rd Richmond Hill, Law 4 - "A Scout is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout"; and Law 9 - "A Scout is thrifty"; James Fraser - 5th Richmond Hill, Law 5 - "A Scout is courteous"; and Law 7 - "A Scout obeys orders"; Roddy Loftus - 5th Richmond Hill, Law 6 - "A Scout is a friend to animals"; and Law 3 - "A Scout's duty is to be useful and help others"; Douglas MacDonald - 1st Melville, Law 8 - "A Scout smiles and whistles under all difficulties"; Ronald Macnaughton - 1st King, Law 1 - "A Scout's honour is to be trusted"; and Law 2 - "A Scout is loyal".

The Boy Scouts of Canada, York Summit District, express their appreciation to "The Liberal" for agreeing to publish this and then one law essay per week for the next ten weeks. It is hoped that all those interested in Scouting will follow this series.

M.P. Reports -

President Kennedy's position was wrong.

Canada's official stand was slow enough in being expressed by the Government, but even though slow in taking a stand it stood alongside its great ally, friend and neighbor. How anyone could think of Canada doing otherwise is hard to understand. The first Canadian leader to state clearly that Canada must support the United States against Russian aggression and world Communism was the Hon. Lester B. Pearson. Surely, for Canada there can be no other position. Sincerely,

L. A. Adams

Turner and Mrs. B. Houle.

Province To Make Study Of York Judicial Setup

A survey of the possibility of setting up a judicial system for York County is to be studied by the province's inspector of legal affairs.

The county's administration of justice committee reported to county council last week that Premier John P. Roberts had promised to direct the inspector to make a survey of the situation "having regard to cost, convenience to the people, and every other aspect that might be beneficial to the county."

A meeting between the premier, committee, and representatives of the county's practicing lawyers was held October 16 to discuss the matter.

Council is seeking the division of York County into two judicial districts - Metropolitan Toronto and the present York County.

Desire for the division of the county came with Metro's proposal to build a new $17 million county courthouse on the site of the old Toronto Armories.

According to Reeve Joe Dales of North Gwillimbury, York would pay at least four per cent of the cost of the building, based on assessment. It is estimated this would work out to over $680,000.

Mr. Dales has suggested the county could build quite an impressive courthouse of its own for $680,000.

Reeve William Hodgson of King Township, chairman of the committee, was of the opinion benefits derived from a separate judicial district for York would outweigh any increased cost.

Deputy-Reeve Mrs. Caroline Ion of Newmarket criticized the present financial arrangements in the county.

She said administration of justice was the only purpose for which York County still included Metropolitan Toronto.

"Metro decides how much it will spend and then sends us the bill," she charged.

Cost to the county of justice must continue to increase since total cost is increasing, she said, and reminded council the county's share of the cost based on assessment would also increase, since its assessment is increasing faster than Metro's.

This report means the province is at least going to examine the possibility of separating Metro and York County, she stated.

NDP Party Chief Outlines Plans For Education

Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario leader of the NDP called for a uniform standard of education across the province at a banquet held by the York North NDP organization at Maple Community Centre recently.

Under a plan outlined by Mr. MacDonald, this assured standard of education would be met by a uniform tax rate, levied on a province-wide equalized assessment.

The revenues needed over and above this local levy to meet a province-wide standard could be met by provincial grants, he suggested.

Mr. MacDonald charged the provincial Liberal party talks with two voices on policy matters, often in conflict or even in contradiction.

He called a recently announced Liberal platform calling for a uniform standard of education a direct steal from the NDP platform.

An earlier Liberal proposal that the province take over 100 per cent of the cost of education would undermine the degree of local autonomy, Mr. MacDonald claimed.
