King City Notes

The annual party for Little Helpers, children up to seven years, at All Saints' Anglican Church was attended by 42 youngsters and 23 mothers.

Rev. E. H. Costigan led the opening service in the chapel, during which the children presented the offerings they had saved to help other children around the world.

The entire group adjourned to the auditorium, where Mr. and Mrs. Van Yperem from the Marsh entertained with a puppet show. While the children enjoyed cookies, ice cream and chocolate milk and their special snowman table decorations, the mothers had tea and tarts.

Sponsored by the Evening Branch W.A., the Little Helpers group is convoked by Secretary Mrs. Geoffrey Pierpoint, assisted by Mrs. George Hatley.

Laskay Women's Institute is holding its first euchre of the season this evening at eight o'clock in Laskay Hall.

Mrs. Frank Buddin and Mrs. Effie Bath are convening the cards and prizes.

Mrs. Archie McDonald, King Street, opened her home for the November meeting of Laskay Women's Institute, and convened the program on Agriculture and Canadian Industry with Mrs. Earle Scott.

Mrs. Marvin Hunter read a Christmas poem by Edgar Guest. A series of euechres at Laskay Hall was planned.

Five tables were played at the opening euchre held by King City Firemen's WA in the fire hall recreation room.

Prize-winners were Mrs. Len Robb and Mr. George Robson, high scores; Mrs. Paul Beaupre and Mr. George McDonald, second high scores; Mrs. Ken Fawns and Mrs. John Monkman, consolation.

Ladies attending provided refreshments for the party arranged by Mrs. Monkman.

Hospital canvassing throughout the village started last week. When each canvasser was assigned a list of five residents to contact in aid of the current building campaign.

Last centre in King Township to hold an election this year is Schomberg, where residents will vote for the election of two village trustees on December 8. Voting hours will be from ten a.m. to six p.m.

Carl Aitchison, Vincent Dugan and Herbert Westover were nominated, two of them to be chosen.

At an earlier nominations night, Village Chairman Clarence Wood (16 years a trustee) received an acclamation. Three others nominated, Dr. Jack Webster, Edgar Piercey and Jack Brydon, declined.

Nearly 150 people accepted the invitation of the Houlton Chiropractic Health Centre to a "chiropractic seminar" in All Saints Church hall.

Guest speaker James Douglas, Woodstock, gave his views of chiropractic methods applied to modern living.

Joseph Houlton introduced Earl Sawyer, Cooksville; Donald Moore, Oakville and Ronald Bilsby, Oshawa, who participated in a panel, answering questions from the floor.

Further informative sessions open to interested people are being planned.

King City residents have been notified on December 16 Nobleton will be added to the number of centres, which may be dialed directly without long distance charge.

A receptive audience of 300 enjoyed the evening performance of Earle Moss, well-known concert pianist, at the opening of the concert series arranged by Mrs. James B. Houston in King City Composite School.

In the absence of Sir Ellsworth Flavell, the introductory address was given by Mr. John Whalley. At the conclusion of the successful program Mrs. Douglas Henderson commented on the way a community can be united through appreciation of music.

Next in the series will be the work of pianist Susan Small and baritone Maurice Brown.

An interesting display of antiques gathered by grade 8 students and loaned by friends illustrated pioneer life at Kettleby School's "open house".

Following the custom of the last three years, the souvenirs of yesteryear were shown as a history project. Attractions included school slates, copper-tipped boots, candle-makers, antique lanterns, several types of irons for pressing clothing, an heirloom christening gown and bonnet, Indian relics, a cheese cutter, tobacco cutler, a wooden shoulder yoke used for carrying two palls of water at the hooked ends of ropes, and a yarn winder.

One golf club had been brought from Scotland more than 50 years ago.

Mrs. Jim Thompson, whose antique shop is across the road from the school, loaned a few reminders of early days, including an Indian mask.

Two pupils offered sample bags of coffee as they demonstrated the use of a coffee grinder. Pictures taken in 1908 showed Kettleby buildings, ponds and the grist mill destroyed in 1950.

An 1860 map of York County indicated where people settled. Throughout the nine classrooms, parents inspected pupils' work.

Jennings Nabs Reeveship Over 2 By Wide Margin

A keenly contested election in King Township last Saturday resulted in Ray Jennings winning the reeveship, with 1,730 votes, over two lawyers, Ronald Wilson, who polled 752 votes, and Donald M. Findlay, 635.

Mr. Jennings told "The Liberal" he is completing his employment at the Ontario Hospital in Aurora and will be able to devote full-time to being reeve.

This was his first bid for the top post. He returned to the political field after an absence of three years. Until the end of 1959 he had served as King Township councillor for eight consecutive years always receiving either the most votes or an acclamation.

Three-year councillor Gordon Cook, farmer, had been accorded an acclamation as deputy-reeve a few days earlier at the nomination meeting.

Of six contestants for the three councillor's places on the board, sitting members William Curran, a chartered accountant, and Ansonveldt businessman Jack Rouble were returned, joined by a newcomer, Kenneth Mactaggart, a farmer.

After serving as councillor one year, Mr. Curran headed the polls with 1,781 votes. Mr. Mactaggart received 1,471 and two-year member Mr. Rouble was returned with 1,375.

Defeated in their first attempt as councillors were Elwood Dale, merchant, with 1,176 votes; Mrs. Ruth Mabee, housewife, 844; and Donald Bowie, salesman, 545.

No woman has yet been elected to King Council. Mrs. Mabee was the second to try after Mrs. Ursula McLennan ran for deputy-reeve last year and councillor the previous year.

Three questions were decided by the electorate. They favored extending the franchise to British subjects of 21 years residing in the township a year, by a vote of 1,607 to 1,180.

A two-year term for council, starting in 1964, won approval, 1,731 to 1,130.

Oak Ridges Lake Wilcox Socials

Most Popular Player Award
 Mrs. Gerry Cook, Moray Ave., had to be "talked into" going to a banquet for the KVV Senior girls' softball by other members of the Oak Ridges team that knew Gerry was to receive an award for being selected "most popular player" for the league. The Oak Ridges Team were the only other team of the league to receive any awards, outside of the winners The King City seniors. Saeen Van Kooten, of the Oak Ridges team won a trophy given for the first triple play that had ever been made since the league was formed.

The KVV banquet was held at Vellore this year and all members of teams enjoyed a delicious dinner.

Gerry was presented with flowers and talcum powder for her birthday celebrated recently from the Oak Ridges Lions Club and then was nearly over-come when they recalled her to present her trophy to her. Best of luck Gerry, and I think they made a good choice.

The Teen Club will hold their next dance at Lake Wilcox School on December 8, 8 p.m. sharp. Mark V band will be playing for the "twisters" and the "Mombos" in the crowd.

At the Whitchurch nomination meeting last week, Mr. Ross Farquharson, Lakeland Ave., was acclaimed Deputy-reeve, and Mrs. Elsie Gibbs, Willowbank Ave., was renominated for council. Best of luck to both of you.

A few chuckles were aroused at the same meeting when Mr. McCachen of the Ridge Inn, Oak Ridges, said the township last year had voted "against water" and recently "against liquor" and wondered what the township were supposed to drink. Former Reeve, George Richardson, answered the question with "he's a surplus of milk on the farm".

Fair Nets $250 At Teston United

Almost $250 was raised by the Hi-C club of Teston United at their Fantasy Fair held Friday evening in the basement of the church. The fair had a fair-land theme.

Each youngster received a prize and took part in games in kiddieland, presided over by club members dressed as cats, clowns and wolves. Also in kiddieland were Humpty Dumpty and a wishing well.

A dress corner and sewing booth was known as Cinderella's House of Dreams. Upstairs, boys in the club dressed as waiters to serve tea and sandwiches in the Starlight Cafe.

President of the club is Sharon Robson. Proceeds are for adopted Korean and Moroccan children.
