See Yule Pantomime

 Curtain Club members and their children earlier in the year. Now they have their proving ground and are prepared to benefit by working in a production with a semi-professional company of adults. They find it is not all glamour: there is team work and backstage behaviour. There is discipline, sacrifice of time and energy, loyalty to the show which means staying on the job once committed. But it is all worth the effort when a costume transforms you into an exciting person and the audience is hushed when the velvet curtains sweep back. The pantomime is a transplant from England where 90% of professional theatres play pantomime beginning Boxing Day. We have in the club many English disciples of pantomime - the writers of Aladdin - Dennis Stainer, Mary Monks, Phil Barnes and Lou Donnelly tell this fascinating eastern tale of Aladdin with original music. In true pantomime tradition, the principal boy Aladdin, is played by Anita Stainer with Carole Scott as his princess. Come and see what happens in the Sultan's palace and the Chinese laundry - Lions Hall, December 27, 28 and 29th. For tickets please call AL 7-2664.
