

Need Equipment To Launch Club For Town Youths

First steps in launching a boys' club for Richmond Hill have been taken by a Church Street resident. Lou Donnelly, 164 Church St., says the proposed club is designed to keep local youngsters off the street.

"There are clubs for boys scattered across England," explains Mr. Donnelly, who was raised there. "They have been very effective in keeping boys occupied in their spare hours."

Mr. Donnelly is looking for other residents to pitch in to help make the club a success. "People who are willing to help are more than welcome."

First requirement of the club is new premises. Mr. Donnelly is also looking for suitable furniture, a tennis table, darts, judo mats, a record player and records, boxing gloves and any other suitable sports and recreational equipment.

Anybody who has time or equipment to help start the club should phone Mr. Donnelly at 884-5067.

Yule Mail Jumps Over Last Year At Local Office

Although Christmas mailing in Richmond Hill is running slightly ahead of last year, local post office officials have repeated their warning to mail early.

Saturday was the deadline for delivery of mail to distant points in Canada and the United States by Christmas. Today (Thursday) is the deadline for all other out-of-town Christmas mail. Next Monday is the deadline for local delivery.

Officials said they will try to deliver all mail on time, but can make no promises for mail not sent out by the deadlines.

Richmond Hill Post Office handles about five times the normal monthly volume of mail during December, officials say. Last December it handled about 500,000 pieces of mail. Over 1,200 parcels went out during the same period.

Real pressure from Christmas mail began Monday. The post office will take an extra help as it is needed.

All Christmas mail should include postal zone number, officials warn. Out of town and local mail should be wrapped in separate bundles.

Indications point to a normal Christmas as far as the post office is concerned.

Car Firm Moves To New Location

One of Richmond Hill's leading English car dealers appears to be comfortably settled after a move from downtown to the north end of Richmond Hill.

Richmond Motors, who have been located next to the Richmond Theatre for the past two years, have moved to newer, more modern quarters at the intersection of Industrial and Enford Roads.

Proprietor Bob Currington announced at the same time the addition of the Rootes Group of cars to their business. The firm now sells Morris, MGA, Riley and Wolseley cars.

Richmond Motors also specializes in Castrol oil and grease products and Dunlop and Michelin Tires. They have body shop facilities on the premises and two licensed mechanics.

"It is hoped customers will follow us to our new location," Mr. Currington stated. "We'll be ready and willing to serve them."

McLean Firm Owners The Riddell Property

The property of the Riddell Estate on Yonge Street, just north of Arnold Avenue in Thornhill, has been purchased by David McLean Limited, realtors.

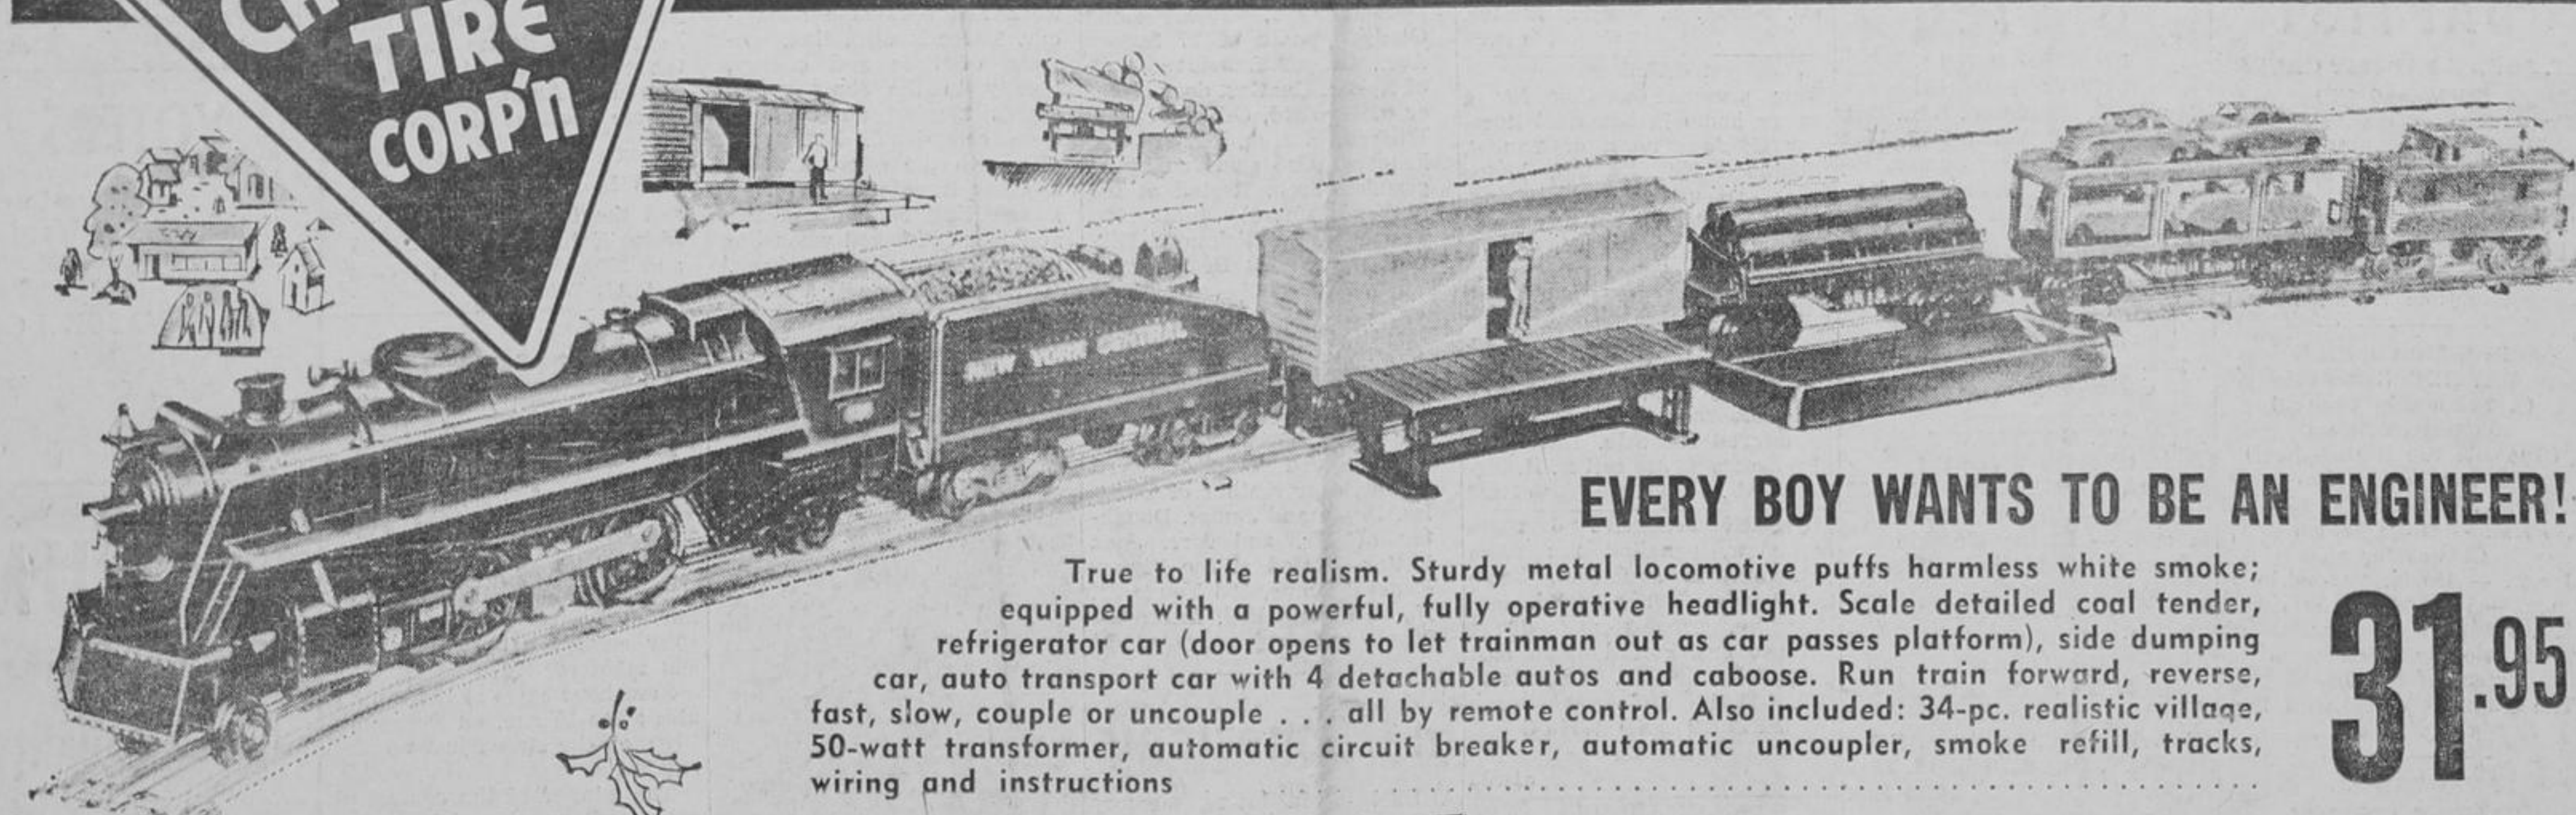

The McLean firm plans to occupy the new premises early in the new year. The Riddell property consists of an 11-room building and a Yonge Street frontage of 115 feet.

The familiar McLean sign that illuminated the corner of Yonge and Colborne Street for the past 17 years has been moved in preparation for the realty office transfer.

David McLean stated that the property that has been a landmark for years at Colborne and Yonge Streets is to be offered for sale and sold as soon as possible.
