MR. AND MRS. ADOLPH HERMANN FRINGS

Happy Couple

Miss Gerda Befurt of Toronto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Befurt of Stuttgart, West Germany, was married recently to Mr. Adolph Hermann Frings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Frings, Thornhill. The wedding was held at St. George's Lutheran Church, College Street, Toronto. The officiating minister was the Rev. W. H. Goegginger, Doctor of Philosophy.

The bride wore a lovely gown of white chiffon and white lace, over this, a white fox stole. Her bouquet was of white roses and white carnations. The maid of honour, Miss Naka Witushynski and also the bridesmaid, Miss Ingrid Mann wore an aqua brocade sheath dress with over-skirt. Their bouquets were of white carnations.

The groom's mother wore a powder blue satin and lace sheath dress, natural mink stole and corsage of orchids. One brother of the bride, Mr. Rudolph Befurt, attended the wedding.

Following the wedding service, according to German custom, and in German language, a reception was held in the Pillar Room at the Mayfair Inn, Queensway. 150 guests attended the dinner party, after which dancing to the music of a fine orchestra was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Frings left for a visit to Niagara Falls, to be followed later by a honeymoon stay at their parent's winter home at West Palm Beach, Florida.

Toy Drive Successful

Say Club Officials

Officials of the Aristocrats Rod and Custom Club announced they have virtually achieved their goal in their Christmas drive to collect used toys.

The toys are to be repaired and distributed as Christmas gifts to less fortunate youngsters in the Richmond Hill area. Club officials term the project a complete success.

Toys collected by the club were turned over to co-ordinated welfare services, a group of service clubs in Richmond Hill, who wrap and distribute them as gifts.

Among the toys received by the club were a bicycle, two or three tricycles, a fire car, dolls, cars and trucks.

Wells Heads Polls

Three New Faces Elected To Vaughan School Board

Handling of school board business is likely to undergo some drastic changes in Vaughan Township during the next two years if Saturday's election results are any indication. Only two of the five elected trustees are members of the 1961-62 board.

Chairman Sam Kaiser and Mrs. Dorothy Robertson were the only trustees returned to office. Newcomers are Malcolm Armstrong, Ross Jolliffe and Lorne Wells.

Heading the polls was Maple Crest with 1,552 votes. This gave him a substantial margin over runner-up Ross Jolliffe, who garnered 1,199 votes.

Mr. Wells built up a substantial lead in Maple, heading all three Maple subdivisions, and maintained his margin by heading most of the polls in the central part of the township.

His vote counts were tops in Edgely, Teston, Concord East, Scott East, Carrville, Concord West, and Murray's Corner.

A political novice, Mr. Wells, who is 43, was the only Maple resident to be elected.

Ross Jolliffe, who ran sixth in the 1960 elections, parlayed strong support from ratepayers in the suburban areas in southeastern Vaughan to move into second place.

The 159 votes he polled in the Uplands polling subdivision were tops for any candidate. Mr. Jolliffe helped found the Uplands Ratepayers Association.

He also led the Thornhill North, Richvale, Thornhill, Yongehurst East, Westwood Lane West, Garden Avenue and Scott West subdivisions.

Chairman Sam Kaiser, a veteran in school politics, ran third with 1,135 votes. Only strong support from the rural northwestern part of the township returned him to office.

Mr. Kaiser, a painter and decorator, topped his home polling subdivision of Kleinburg and led in Purpleville, Elder Mills, Nashville and Vellore.

Support for Malcolm Armstrong, who came fourth with 1,124 votes, was scattered across the municipality. He edged out fellow Pine Grove resident, Mrs. Dorothy Robertson, in both Pine Grove East and Pine Grove West, and tied her at a third poll in the other end of the township, Patterson. Mr. Armstrong also headed polls at Crestwood Road and Yongehurst West.

Mrs. Dorothy Robertson, only other incumbent to be returned to office, took the fifth and final spot with 1,020 votes. She tied for the lead at Patterson and finished first at Boyle.

Sixth was the only other incumbent to stand for re-election, Terry Goodwin of Thornhill, who took 862 votes.

He headed the Thornhill South and Arnold Avenue polls. Seventh was Mrs. Louis Edmanson, who lives south of Maple. She polled 791 votes and headed the Jefferson poll. It was her first try for office.

Maple resident Bert Stevenson was eighth and last. Mr. Stevenson won 767 votes, failing to head any polls.

Mr. Stevenson's failure to win support was the election's biggest surprise. A leader in activities of township ratepayers groups and the George Bailey Home and School, he had been considered a contender. Only survivors of the board elected in 1960 are Mr. Kaiser and Mrs. Dorothy Robertson.

LORNE WELLS

Mrs. Mona Robertson did not seek re-election, while Terry Goodwin and William Kerr were appointed to replace Herb Constable and George Chandler.

Newmarket Hospital Staff Pledges Over $10,700 To Campaign

General staff of York County Hospital at Newmarket have thrown their weight behind the United Hospitals campaign by pledging more than $10,700 to the appeal.

"The 140 employees actually hope to raise the total amount to $12,000," said a spokesman. This contribution does not include the gift of the 55 staff doctors who earlier contributed $90,000 to the drive.

The campaign is raising funds to double the size of the hospital at Newmarket and to build a new one at Richmond Hill. At present there are only 113 hospital beds per 1,000 population in York County compared with an Ontario provincial average of five per 1,000.

Employees of Office Specialty Mfg. Co., Ltd., in Newmarket also have made a substantial pledge. Some 550 employees are contributing $19,650. The average donation is $35 to be contributed over three years.

Employees of Line and Cable Accessories have added $6,000 to the campaign.

Keffer, McConkey Back In Vaughan

Mr. Keffer swept most of the polls in the northeastern sector of the township. He headed all three Maple polls, Concord East and Concord West, Vellore, Edgely, Thornhill North, Purpleville, Scott West, and Yongehurst West, and tied with Mr. Williams in Pine Grove East.

Most of the polls Mr. Keffer headed are in the rural or more established residential areas. He headed the polls with 2,281 votes in his first try for office in 1960.

A tide of support from the new suburbs in the southeastern part of the township swept Mrs. McConkey into office. She headed polls on Crestwood Road, Arnold Avenue, Westwood Lane South, Garden Avenue, Thornhill East, Thornhill South and Upland.

Her victory came in spite of a poor showing at her home polls in Maple. Effect of Mrs. McConkey's policies as chairman of the waterworks committee was quite marked.

Mrs. McConkey pulled her largest vote total, 122, at Uplands, where a new pump to provide water for the area was installed in the past six months.

Polis at Concord East and Concord West dropped Mrs. McConkey to fourth and third places, respectively. Concord residents had bitterly opposed a proposal from Mrs. McConkey's waterworks committee to subsidize an industrial water area in Edgely.

Mrs. McConkey took 1,701 votes to finish second in 1960, her first try for office.

Milt Savage, Bathurst Street farmer, moved up from a fifth place finish and 1,165 votes in 1960 to his fourth place finish with 1,033 votes this year. He led all four polls in his neighborhood - Patterson, Jefferson, Carrville and Elgin Mills.

Most disappointing performance was by John Neufeld, who slipped from a strong fourth with 1,210 votes in 1960 to a poor fifth with only 776 votes. The Maple restaurant proprietor failed to head any polls. He failed to finish higher than third except at Maple East and Maple West.

Wilfred Keffer of Maple, a retired farmer and helper found the Maple Cattle Breeders Association, now the Central Canada Cattle Breeders Association, in 1960.

Mr. Keffer was secretary-treasurer of his school section's trustees for 11 years, while he was farming at Concord.

Mrs. McConkey has been a resident of Maple for four years. Her husband is a vice-president of McConnell-Eastman, a major advertising firm. Garnet Williams, 48, is a retired dairy farmer. He is a director of the Toronto Milk Producer's Association and a member of the Holstein Friesian Association.
