Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Rumble, who knew one another as children celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a reception at their North Keele Street home recently.

of the intersection of the railway crossing.

They enjoy the bustle of village life. Mrs. Rumble likes to try her hand at oil painting and has several scenes decorating the walls. She used to be a member of King City Women's Institute.

Mr. Rumble finds gardening a creative hobby and attends meetings of Robertson Lodge, AF and AM, which he joined 38 years ago.

They have one daughter, Miss Mabel Rumble, who has been employed 20 years in Toronto with the Department of Internal Revenue.

Their son, Austin, and his wife live at the Rumble farm with their four sons, Ross, Paul, Bruce and Glen.

Mrs. Rumble and her sister, while Mr. Rumble and two brothers, Arthur, Maple, and Walter, King, are the remaining of seven children.

Completing half a century of wedded happiness, Mr.

and Mrs. Rumble had no suggestions to offer young couples, other than that they all have to live their own lives. When Mr. and Mrs. Rumble moved into the village the population was 300, in contrast to nearly 2,000 today. Around King Township they have gradually watched modern cars replace the horse and buggy mode of transportation of their youth.

Along with their guest book listing friends who called with good wishes, Mr. and Mrs. Rumble treasure the telegrams received from the Queen's representatives and government officials. Esmond Butler, Secretary to the Governor-General, sent a telegram: "Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Madame Vanier have asked me to send to you and to Mrs. Rumble their warmest good wishes on the occasion of your golden wedding anniversary."

John H. Addison, Liberal M.P. for York North, wired: "Heartiest congratulations on your 50th wedding anniversary."

Gifts from neighbors and friends included a deep pink cyclamen and bouquets of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

King City Notes

The intense interest of 13-year-old Peter Cook in drawing objects of the space age is beginning to bring him recognition.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Cook of Patricia Drive, he entered the Buck Rogers comic strip sea-copter drawing contest and was rewarded with a $2 third place prize.

An accompanying letter from Robert C. Dille of Chicago, president of National Newspaper Syndicate Inc., of America, congratulated Peter and thanked him for investing his time and talent in the contest.

Mr. Dille wrote: "Although your conception did not win first prize, it was judged worthy of this runner-up prize. There were 2,500 entries in the contest, and as much as we would like to, we are unable to award first prize awards to more than one entrant."

Peter drew and submitted three sea-copters of his own design. He has always been enthusiastic about art work and at present space craft challenges his talent. Art is one of his best subjects in Tom Coker's class at Eva L. Dennis School.

A lad of 15 won the international contest.

An array of casserole supper dishes, salads and desserts greeted 32 mothers attending the First King Scout Troop Ladies' Auxiliary pot luck party at All Saints' Church recently.

Members brought canned goods for local distribution at Christmas time.

An entertaining skit was presented to illustrate "How not to conduct an executive meeting". Mrs. Ralph Hunter, as the hostess had forgotten the executive was to meet at her house and was relaxing in comfortable old clothing, her hair in curlers, when they arrived.

While she was getting ready, the visitors thoroughly inspected her housekeeping, deciding the room hadn't been dusted since their last visit.

Mrs. Jack Hamilton was in her regular role as club president and Mrs. George Reynolds, past president. Mrs. John Fox acted as the neurotic, well-equipped with pills and hot water bottle.

Akela Mrs. A. E. Bamford took the part of scoutmaster's wife and Mrs. Vic Doner thoroughly munched gum as their club mother continually wondering when the meeting would be over.

The next auxiliary meeting is planned for January 28 at All Saints' Church. All mothers of Scouts and Cubs are welcome to attend.

Bazaar Nets $500
The first bazaar held under the newer name of United Church Women at King City Church netted over $500 for the treasury. Aprons and bazaar items were still being sold in succeeding days.

Mrs. Gordon Orr convened the well-attended event, which was opened by UCW President Specialties of the revitalized restaurant will be seafoods and steak. Mr. Kakis reports he has hired the "best chef in Toronto" to prepare his meals. Seafood will include scallops, halibut, rainbow trout and whitefish.

Change Of Ownership For Plaza Restaurant
A new first-class restaurant has been opened in Richmond Hill. The Bayview Plaza has been re-decorated and re-staffed by its new owner, Manis Kakis.

Mr. Kakis, who came to Canada from Greece only six years ago, formerly operated a restaurant in Toronto.
