

SUSAN DENISE WEST-GAUL IS BRIDE OF HAROLD GEORGE BURNS

Wed In St. Mary's Anglican Church

St. Mary's Anglican Church, Richmond Hill, was the setting of a lovely fall wedding on the night of November 16 for Susan Denise West-Gaul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey West-Gaul of Richmond Hill to Harold George Burns, son of Mrs. Bessie Burns and the late Mr. David Burns, also of Richmond Hill.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of cathedral white chantilly lace and net, scalloped sabinia covered with iridescent sequins outlined the bodice, a full length skirt with net inserts scattered with lace motifs, with a crescent of self roses accenting the soft gathers into a graceful sweep. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a crown of pearls, and she held a nosegay of red roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Carol Espey attended the bride as matron of honour. Bridesmaids were Sally West-Gaul, sister of the bride and Mrs. Elsie Burns, sister-in-law of the groom, dressed alike in matching cotillion blue satin peau-de-soie, full skirted dresses with hat, shoes and gloves to match. Each carried yellow mums.

Flower girls were Misses Susan and Sandra Burns, twin nieces of the groom, dressed in white organza with matching white shoes and wore cotillion blue headpieces. Both carried baskets of yellow mums.

Mr. Roy Espey was best man and ushers were Nigel West-Gaul and Stan Burns. The reception was held in Wrixon Hall. Seventy guests were received by the mother of the bride, who wore a two piece cocoa brown lace sheath with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow and gold mums. The mother of the groom was dressed in a two piece beige lace sheath with rose coloured accessories. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds and white carnations.

Leaving for a trip north, the bride wore a red two-piece suit with black trim, black accessories with a corsage of white mums. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burns will make their home in Richmond Hill.

Commissioner William Wagner -

WHY wasn't it made long ago, yes, as long ago as January 1961 when Mayor Haggart became a member of the commission or at any time between now and then, rather than in the last few days of December 1962. Mr. Cook has been a hard working, faithful servant, honest and businesslike in all his dealings as chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission of the Town of Richmond Hill, and I would be very disappointed if he resigned from the commission. Furthermore the policy of the commission is the same today as it was in January 1961 and that is to place its business locally wherever that is possible.

Any printing requirements of the commission that were awarded to "The Liberal" was because they were equipped to do the type of printing required by the commission and solely on the policy of the commission to award its business to local business concerns.

Area Residents Perform In Yuletide Television

A group of local residents are "stars" on a television show which should bring back some memories to anybody who has lived and spent a few Christmases in this part of rural Ontario.

Purpleville and Victoria Square provide the backdrop for Country Calendar's annual Christmas show, "Christmas in the Country."

The show revolves around a reminiscent visit by Rev. Dr. A. C. Forrest, editor of the United Church Observer, to his childhood home near Maple with his seven year old daughter Diane. It opens with a Sunday School Christmas concert in the Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church near Maple including a recitation by Garry Keffer.

Later, Mr. Forrest and his daughter visit Allan Orr's stable at Victoria Square and Jesse Bryson's home and farm near Purpleville.

Members of the "cast" are Garry Keffer, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Keffer, Elmer Bryson Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bryson and their two children Mr. and Mrs. Orr Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Allan Orr and their three children, Rev. Forrest and his daughter Diane, along with the congregation of Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Christmas Casualties

Your Christmas tree can be the loveliest thing in the house — sparkling, fragrant, shimmering with the vibrations, so beautiful — or it can be so tragic.

The conifers, to which the "Christmas trees", spruce hemlock, pine and the rest of the cone bearing varieties belong, are very oily and resinous and, therefore, very flammable. A spark from an open fire grate or from the heat of one of the little Christmas light bulbs resting on the branch, can cause a flame and then the whole tree would become a blazing torch.

There are plenty of ways of making the tree a source of light without overloading the electrical capacity. Shining metal ornaments with light thrown on them are safer than hot little lamps in dangerous proximity to the fast drying needles.

When you buy your tree, don't take it into the house until the last possible day. If you can keep it outside under snow, so much the better. Failing a supply of snow, spray it every few days while it is outside. When you do take it in, it will be much fresher and much less combustible. Indoors, stand the trunk in a pail of water, after making vertical cuts in the bark where it will be immersed in water. It will help to support the tree if the pail is half filled with sand and water.

If you use the small ornamental lights, examine them thoroughly to make sure the cords and sockets are not broken or worn. If there are breaks or worn spots in the cord, have your electrician renew it.

When you leave the house don't leave your tree lights on. Be sure to disconnect them when you retire for the night.

Don't leave a lot of tissue paper in the room where the tree is standing. The cotton batting used around the base of the tree should be the fireproof kind. And the tissue papers that are taken from the gift packages should be put safely out of doors with the household waste never tossed into the basement near the furnace.

For safety's sake, find out from a qualified electrician just what is the limit of power you can use for your Christmas lighting, cooking and other use of equipment. At this season there will be a much greater use of electricity in the majority of homes. A fire is bad enough at any time — it is even more tragic at this happy season.

Electors Of Vaughan Township

I wish to extend my sincere thanks to the citizens of Vaughan Township for re-electing me to our Township School Area Board. A special thanks to the many loyal friends and supporters who worked so hard on my behalf.

CUB and SCOUT NEWS

1st Beverley Acres Cub & Scout Troop
The investiture of the new leaders of the Kaa Cub Pack of the 1st Beverley Acres Cub & Scout Troop was indeed an important event for this pack, as it had been in danger of having to suspend activities, due to lack of leaders.

Akela Bill Charbonneau and Baloo Ron Malone were invested by Scoutmaster Norman Foster at the December 4th meeting, as leaders of the Kaa Cub Pack. Blair Robinson was invested into the troop.

A very interesting film on D.A.R. mouth to mouth respiration was shown to the troop, through the courtesy of General Electric. The cour' of honor voted in favour of a winter camp over a summer camp.

At the December monthly hike, the fog helped to make the game of "Capture the Treasure" more interesting. For lunch, the scouts cooked a variety of menus — from bacon and eggs, shishkabob to frozen Chinese TV dinners, also a whole chicken cooked in aluminum foil. During this hike, a number of outdoor tests were passed.

GUIDE AND BROWNIE NOTES

13th Brownie Pack
Five Tweenies were welcomed into the 13th Brownie Pack of Richmond Hill East, at their regular meeting, and were enrolled by the Brown Owl, Mrs. Josie Fleming. At the same time, Sandra Dunbar was presented with her golden hand and her toymaker badge.

For the past three weeks, Mrs. M. Shaw and Mrs. E. Rayson have been instructing the Brownies in making (secret) Christmas gifts for their mothers. While the pack saluted, Donna Bridge was invested as a Packie, and presented with her symbol of office by Sandra Dunbar, brown tie and brown lanyard. These are to be worn only when on duty with the pack.

Vaughan Council Notes

Vaughan Township Council Monday night rejected an application from the developers of the Normaple Subdivision to have the maintenance bond released.

An inspection by Township Engineer Keith Hopper indicated services in the subdivision are not up to township standards.

Council instructed Clerk Jim McDonald to send a copy of a certificate listing defects, prepared by Mr. Hopper, to the bond-holders, The Guarantee Company of North America.

Included in the letter will be a request to hold the bond in full effect until work in the subdivision is satisfactorily developed.

A special meeting of Vaughan Township Council is Slated for December 27. All uncompleted business for 1962 will be finalized. Inaugural meeting of the 1963 council will be held January 7 at 8 p.m.

A request from the York County Emergency Measures Organization for space in the Vaughan Township Municipal Building to house communication equipment was referred to Police Chief James Davidson.

Council adopted a recommendation from the fire and police committee that Chief Davidson be instructed to meet with EMO Director W. F. A. Preston.

Chief Davidson was asked to ascertain the exact size and type of equipment to be installed, and to report his findings to the committee.
