T.S.A. No. 1 Markham

Board Hears Summary

A report on their attendance at the Ontario Association for Curriculum Development Convention held this fall was given to the members of the Board of T.S.A. No. 1 Markham at their December meeting by Supervising Principal E. J. Sand and Mr. L. Evans, principal of Thornlea School.

Mr. Sand reported that over 500 delegates had attended the convention. He had attended the group session on educational television and found it most interesting. He reported that over 200 systems of television in the school are used in the United States and that Nova Scotia is leading the rest of Canada in this field. The Metro Educational Television Association is producing programs in Ontario and these are not for direct teaching but for enrichment of the present curriculum. An advantage of television teaching is its intimacy and that special people, equipment and events can be brought right into the classroom which would not be possible any other way. Difficulties were reported to be the fact that only one-way communication is possible, the trouble in arranging uniform schedules, and the provision of funds for programs and equipment.

Mr. Sand's group recommended that school boards should be made aware of the specifications for TV receivers as some boards had purchased sets which were inadequate; that the O.T.A. and M.E.T.A. should get together to discuss educational TV; that immediate steps should be taken for the acquisition of a channel for educational TV in Toronto. The group also commended the basic course given to teachers on the subject and suggested that it be enlarged.

Mr. Evans commented that some of the M.E.T.A. programs he had seen - such as the one on the "People of the Long Houses" were 95% trash. Mr. Evans reported that he had attended the standards and evaluation group but he was disappointed in it as the discussions "didn't get off the ground", and the group didn't ever come to any decision on what standards were wanted. He felt that the group had been dominated by elderly inspectors and other elderly people whom he felt were clinging to the past. After one and a half days debate, the group brought forth no recommendations.

Mr. Evans stated that he would have liked to talk about standards for the future, particularly the spreading of the load downwards from Grade 9 to 8 and 7, but that this suggestion was panned at the conference. He noted however, that the Ontario Teachers Federation had recently voted to spend $80,000 in setting up a workshop to study this, and the curriculum generally. The workshop is to have a permanent staff and he suggested time might be better spent there than at conventions.

A report was also given by Trustee Stone on his attendance at the public school trustees' Association meeting on November 24th where the Bishop's brief on extending further aid to Roman Catholic schools was discussed. He reported that the trustees were unanimous in their stand to resist the brief and had expressed the need for unity in school systems. All discussion, he reported, had led to a motion for a committee to present the case for the continuance and expansion of the public school system.

It had been recommended at the meeting that each board should send a telegram to Premier John Robarts or their local member of the legislature expressing their agreement with this decision.

The board refused to take any action on the question, however, as the members felt they would like to study the question more thoroughly before reaching a decision.

As chairman of the finance committee, Trustee Stone reported a balance in capital account of $58,320.69. Expenditures of $31,112.56 were approved for general account.

MORLEY'S FOODLAND

Warren Hall, assistant manager, reported business was as good or better than last year. "Christmas affects the food business as much as any," Mr. Hall pointed out.

Biggest sellers were the Christmas staples — turkeys, geese, chickens and cranberry sauce.

S. S. KRESGE, Manager Tommy Mills termed business this year excellent. "You've caught me at a bad time," he commented. "We're right in the middle of trying to untangle what will likely be record sales."

"It's hard to tell whether there were more people from out of town, but they must be coming from somewhere," he said. Mr. Mills, president of Richmond Heights Merchants Association, reported business increase all across the centre.

GLOBE TRAVEL SERVICE: Mrs. Joan Goodhoof, proprietor, reported a slight decrease in business because of special circumstances not applicable to most local merchants. "Most of our Christmas business usually involves trips to the Caribbean," Mrs. Goodhoof explains. "People were apparently afraid to travel there because of the danger of war there," she said. Other business was up at Globe.

"Traffic between this area and Europe was greater than ever as new Canadians visited families in Europe," she stated. "Many Canadians gave return tickets to their parents in Europe as Christmas presents," leaving this account in the red by $2,806.39 as of November 30. He noted however, that on December 3 the residential and farm school tax assistance grant had been received from the Province in the amount of $14,161.20, leaving the general account with a substantial credit balance.

In reporting for the property committee, Trustee John MacKay reported that a letter had been received from planning director Ron Forrest of the Markham Planning Board stating that their re-zoning of the Meadowview Heights area had not yet been approved by the O.M.B. Until this approval is received, the board is unable to make any plans for the Henderson school area.

Trustee MacKay also reported that tenders had been received for drapes for stages at Woodland, Henderson and Bayview Glens Schools but had included back drapes which were not required and so had been returned. He also noted that the stage floor at Henderson Avenue School was not satisfactory and the contractor would refinish it during Christmas vacation.

Ottawa Trip
Chairman of the education committee, Trustee A. Parker, reported that a committee of Trustees Aimone and Parker, Mr. Myers, Mr. Martindale and Mr. Sand had been set up to discuss the Ottawa trip of Grade 8 students. He also noted that Mr. Sand had spearheaded a survey of students in the area schools who could play a musical instrument with the possibility in view of organizing a school instrumental group of some kind.

Safety
In reporting for the health, safety, recreation and public relations committee, Trustee Louise Aimone reported that contact had been made with the police about the safety of the children going to and from Henderson Avenue School, one of whom has already been involved in an accident. The police department has promised to go into the schools and talk to the children. Markham Township Council has stated that as the CNR is still working at Henderson Avenue, they can't start the sidewalks this year. Trustee Aimone felt that this was not a valid reason. On motion of Trustee MacKay it was decided to write council about the matter, stressing that one child had already been injured. It was also suggested that the secretary get in touch with the council on the subject of the Greenlane crossing light and the possibility of crossing lights at the intersection of the railway with 16th Avenue.

A. W. Bowden

Widely known in retail lumber and business circles, the sudden death of Mr. Arthur Wray Bowden at his home, Maxwell Avenue, North Toronto, December 20, came as a profound shock to the community.

Born in Toronto, Arthur Bowden was educated at Lake Lodge Preparatory and St. Andrew's College. In 1918 he became associated with the Bowden Lumber Company, and was secretary-treasurer of this well-known concern until the time of his death. The Bowden Lumber Company was founded in 1880, with lumber yards and warehouses located at Richvale and Willowdale.

Mr. Bowden was a member of St. James' Bond United Church, Toronto, the Department of Education, visual aids branch and that Mr. McNaught had been pleased with the amount of equipment in the schools.

An area teachers' meeting had been held on November 29 where the teachers continued their study on improving written English. The teachers had also been asked to submit comments, suggestions and criticisms re the report cards presently in use, with their possible revision in mind.

Mr. Sand also reported that there had been a meeting of principals with Inspector Maynard Hallman and Mr. McNaught of the Department of Education, visual aids branch and that Mr. McNaught had been pleased with the amount of equipment in the schools.

The deceased is survived by his wife, the former Mary Craig, and by one daughter Frances (Mrs. James F. Neil), one son, Mr. Craig Bowden of Richmond Hill, and by eight grandchildren.

Interment of the late Mr. Bowden took place in Mount Pleasant Cemetery on December 24th, with the Rev. Charles G. Higginson officiating at the service. The pallbearers were: Messrs. James E. Bowden, John E. Bowden, George Bowden (nephews), Norman Rippon, John Neil, William Doucette,
