Organizational Meeting

N. Alexander Heads Young Liberals

An enthusiastic group of almost 70 politically-minded young adults gathered in the Legion Hall, Aurora, last Friday and elected a York North Young Liberal Association executive. Previously, the riding has not had a Young Liberals group. Under the chairmanship of John Neufeld of Maple, president of the York North Liberal Association, the following were nominated to form an executive steering committee to get the fledgling organization underway - Miss Sheila Allen, Richvale; Miss Heather Chapman, Aurora; Donald Christian Jr., Newmarket; Norman Alexander, Richvale; Edward J. Paquet, Sharon; and William Kerrigan, Maple.

Mr. Alexander was elected chairman of the group and Sheila Allen was elected secretary. Every major centre in the riding was represented at the inaugural meeting.

Mr. Terry Wright, president of the Ontario Young Liberals Association, told the group that there are numerous things a Young Liberal can do during and between elections if he or she is interested in maintaining a stable governmental system in Canada. He said that being a Young Liberal could be a lot of fun as well as giving young people a real opportunity to help their country and have a voice in national and provincial matters.

Mr. John A. Addison, candidate for nomination as federal Liberal standard bearer in York North, told the group at the meeting some of the things he felt would emerge as issues in the forthcoming election. He commented that it would be a bad thing for Canada's if anti-Americanism became an issue.

Twenty-five years ago on February 10, Leonard Wellman and Mabel Walker were married in Weston. The anniversary of this happy occasion was celebrated at their home in Queensville when about 40 guests enjoyed their hospitality at a buffet dinner.

Among the guests were the attendants of the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walker, nee Dorothy Keffler, Barrie, Orillia and Markham Township.

Local guests were Leonard's mother, Mrs. W. Wellman, his brothers, Alan of Sutton, Melvin, Headford, and their wives, and sister Ruth, Mrs. Isaac Reaman and her husband of Langstaff and uncle, George Barker and Mrs. Barker, Headford.

Elizabeth and Charles Barker were the guests of Brenda and Paul Wellman while their parents attended the anniversary.

Students Take Over
Students from Emmanuel College occupied the pulpits of the United churches in York Presbytery the morning of February 10.

R. D. Rice, B.A., third year theology student, was the speaker at Headford, K. Deer, B.A., student minister in the charge, conducted the service, assisted by a classmate, H. Klassen, B.A. Mr. Rice used for his text, "By What Authority?" His well organized subject and his wit was a testimony of his belief.

"Jesus," he said, "can be proved by history. He is an historical person. He can be proved by the personal experience of believers and by the testimony of the ages."

Mr. Rice said that the moral truths that Jesus taught have been valid through every era and remain the supreme sanity in today's complex society.

Congratulations to the twins, Gloria and Gordon Lee, on their 9th birthday, February 26. Enjoy this year, 'Lad and Lassie, because it won't happen to you again. Nine out of 10, we say, and then it is done. Nine is a popular number.

Long ago when one wanted to tell of something awesome one would say, "as terrible as a nine-eyed eel, a good fighter fought like a nine-tailed tiger."

"People who escape all sorts of trouble are compared to cats with nine lives, and when you dress in your best bib and tucker you are dressed to the nines."

So you see that nine is a very important number. Nevertheless, it will pass like a "nine-days' wonder" and then you will be 10.

The Unionville Junior Farmers Association held their annual meeting in Buttonville Hall February 4. Dan Rose of the Department of Agriculture conducted the elections.

The following slate of officers was elected; President, Bill Pearson, Markham Township; vice-president, Carlisle Boynton, Gormley; secretary, Bob Hickson, Aurora; treasurer, Charles Barker, Headford.

Dates to remember were emphasized: Junior Farmer Training School, Orangeville, Feb. 16; Guelph Conference, March 8, 9, 10. Delegates to this conference are Jean Allen and Joan Reesor.

Mrs. William Wellman and Mrs. George Barker accompanied Elizabeth Barker when she attended the February meeting of the Temperanceville Women's Institute to show her pictures, taken in Great Britain.

Elizabeth also showed her pictures to the Alliston Junior Farmers and their guests, members of the Ivy Junior Farmers.

Before the meeting she enjoyed supper and a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Vanderpost and

Annual Meeting Hears Home Chief's Report

Numbers of children living in the Loyal True Blue and Orange Home dropped to 52 by the end of 1962, according to a report submitted by administrator Crawford Beatty at the annual meeting of the board of directors, held Saturday.

Included in the total of 52 are 33 boys and 19 girls, Mr. Beatty reported. Nine children are in the school's nursery.

The board's annual luncheon was held in connection with the meeting.

Guests were Richmond Hill Mayor William Neal and Mrs. Neal, Dr. J. R. Johnson of Richmond Hill and President Peter Pfening of the Richmond Hill Jaycees.

Also attending were Principal W. Porter of Maurice Cody School, Toronto, Recreation Director Mrs. Jean Thomson of Richmond Hill, and Rev. J. F. O'Neil of St. Mary's Anglican Church.

Youngsters from the home attend Sunday School at St. Mary's.

Among the building projects finished in 1962 were the replacement of the refrigeration plant, landscaping of the front lawn, completion of new offices, and division of the senior dormitory into roomettes.

Residents of the home are children from broken homes and not orphans. Mr. Beatty reported increasing success in re-uniting families.

Report Membership Up 16 Per Cent At Church

Philip Barth presided at the first annual business meeting of St. Paul's Lutheran Church February 3 held in St. Matthew's United Church, Crosby Avenue.

Reports were received from congregational officers, committees and organizations.

Elected to three-year terms on the Church Council were Albert Harvey, Ross Percival and Reid Williamson, Peter F. Petersen was elected to a two-year term.

The 1963 Church Council will be installed during Sunday's worship service at 11 a.m. in the Walter Scott School.

Other members of the council are Philip Barth, Philip Lippert, Harold Melsness, Joseph Miller, Victor Solich and Pastor Albert Myers.

The new council will hold its inaugural meeting this Sunday at 7 p.m. It will elect the officers of the congregation and announce committee appointments.

Many of the active adult membership of the congregation enjoyed a turkey and ham buffet dinner before the annual meeting. Pastor Myers called the excellent attendance "a sign of the great spirit of our congregation."

The pastor reported briefly on his activities in the service of the congregation. He noted an increase of 16 per cent in the membership of the church. He reported nearly 1,650 pastoral visits made in homes, hospitals and offices.

An amendment to the congregation's constitution was passed unanimously to set forth procedures and rules governing the Sunday School. Dr. Harold Melsness, chairman of the Christian Education Committee, reported a year-end enrolment of 80.

The 1963 congregational budget, adopted at Sunday's meeting, devoted one-sixth of its income to benevolence work of the Lutheran Church throughout the world.

Take No Action On Owner's Plea For Lower Fee

An increase in the license fee from $30 to $125 for refreshment vehicles calling on commercial establishments in Richmond Hill was termed "discriminatory and prohibitive" by John Zakarow when he appeared before council Monday night to protest the increase.

At an earlier meeting in January council agreed to boost the fee after hearing recommendations from its police committee that a $200 rate be charged.

Mr. Zakarow said the charge was out of line for the population and cited Aurora who charge $10, Newmarket who ask $50 and Toronto where it ranges from $75 to $125.

The operator charged the boost would put owners out of business and blamed complaints from local eating establishments for council's action.

Mayor William Neal denied the accusation and told the operator that $30 was too small a business tax. He said this was the only reason for the hike.

Council took no action on the operator's plea for reconsideration of its earlier decision.

Council Capsules

Richmond Hill Council Monday night approved transfer of the town's garbage contract from Buchanan Cartage Ltd. of Aurora, to York Sanitation Ltd., of Newmarket.

W. H. C. Bailey appearing on behalf of J. M. McCaffery and R. E. Stackhouse, owners of the company, told council there will be no changes in collection service as outlined in the contract. It expires December 31 of this year.

Reeve Floyd Perkins appealed to property owners to keep their sidewalks clear of snow during this weather.

He said older citizens and mothers with children have a hard time walking if walks are not kept clear.

An 1877 bylaw last amended in 1915 requires householders to keep the front of their premises clear of snow and debris.

A request by Ward 3 Councilor Thomas Murphy asking for at least four meetings a year of all municipal department heads was passed on to the administration and procedures committee for study.

Both Mayor William Neal and Reeve Perkins could see little value from such meetings but both agreed to wait for a report from the committee.

THE MUSIC BOX

out to you that music is a big deal, a lot bigger than most people dare to realize.

The music festival movement is doing a great deal for the youth of Canada. So if the kids come home beefing about the adjudicator or feeling sad about not winning this time don't forget there's over a quarter of a million other kids in the game and everyone wants to win despite the best intentions to keep the thing a matter of 'pacing each other on the road to excellence'. Try to remember the code of the sport when the next time Sweden, or Russia cleans up on the Trail Smoke-Eaters.

Copyright Takes Care of the Old

When Verdi died in 1901 he set aside a portion of his will, or the royalties from his music, to operate the Giuseppe Verdi Rest Home for the aged musicians. As long as the copyright existed the portion of royalties went to the support of this institution but when the terms of copyright expired this year (after the Italian government extended it against the publishing law until now) the publishing company of Ricordi no longer could collect monies towards the continued support of the rest home. Every time a Verdi opera was performed some of the royalties collected went to the home. So now it is an end but the Italian Government has agreed to set aside about $80,000.00 per year to make up the loss. Verdi is buried on the grounds of the institute.

Think of the political haggling here in Canada if such a sum were set out to a similar situation. The minister of defense might not resign but no doubt the government would be in an uproar unless of course President Kennedy or Dean Rusk o'ked it.
