Voters Get To Know Candidates

Voters in York North won't have any excuse for not knowing which of the four candidates running in the riding - in their own opinion at least - will be the best man to vote for on April 8th. This by reason of the fact that they have been afforded several occasions in which to see the candidates in action as a group, confronted by each others arguments for the party they represent.

Yesterday, the four candidates appeared as guest speakers at a dinner sponsored by the Richmond Hill Junior Chamber of Commerce. Again on April 1st, Messrs. John Addison, Liberal, Stanley Hall NDP, John O'Brien, Social Credit, and Charles Hooper Progressive Conservative, will collectively face a public audience at a meeting being sponsored by the Holy Name Society of St. Mary Immaculate Church in Richmond Hill.

At the St. Mary Immaculate meeting the candidates will be afforded equal time in which to convince their audience that the political programme of their party is the programme that should send a government to Ottawa.

The meeting will be chaired by Bill Hamilton, president of St. Mary Immaculate Holy Name Society.

Library Offers Records To Local Music Lovers

"Music is the universal language of mankind," Longfellow wrote. Now residents of Richmond Hill can enjoy the best of classical and semi-classical music at home.

At a recent meeting of the Richmond Hill Public Library Board, a plan was approved to establish the circulation of recordings as part of the library's programme. This is by no means a new thing for public libraries in Ontario. Collections of recordings and films have been considered an integral part of the library services for many years. However, in an effort to keep up with the rapid growth of Richmond Hill in the last ten years, the library board has concentrated its resources on the purchase of books, and has had to forego many of the standard library services.

The chairman of the library board, Mrs. Peter Townsend, pointed out that many requests for records had been made at the library, and that these requests have shown a marked increase in recent months. The library has purchased one hundred recordings and these will be ready for circulation on April 8th. It is expected that the collection will reach three hundred records by the end of 1963. Opera, ballet, symphonic works, chamber music, musical comedy and folk music will all be represented in the collection as well as many other types of music.

With the approach of Canadian Library Week, April 6-13, 1963, the library board has arranged that this collection will be made available to the public. Mr. Rex Battle, well-known Canadian concert pianist has consented to speak at the inaugural ceremonies in the library on the afternoon of April 7 at three-thirty.

To celebrate Canadian Library Week and to draw attention to the many features of the local library, an exhibition of oil paintings from the Art Institute of Ontario will be on display. Entitled "From Watson to Winter" the exhibition will be comprised of fifteen original oil paintings by such artists as Home Watson, A. Y. Jackson, Arthur Lismer, and William Winter.

Displays of new books will be arranged in the library, and the public is invited to attend these celebrations during Canadian Library Week.

These are not promises They are FACTS

- In 1962, Canada had the highest growth rate of any Atlantic community country — up 8% over 1961. Last June, the Liberals promised gloom and doom.
- Exports rose by 8%. Farm cash income by 4%, car production by 31%. Devaluation helped to spur business.
- 85% of Canadians now pay less in income taxes than in the last year of the Liberals.
- Employment is up 630,000 over the last year of the Liberals. Unemployment lower than the U.S. Winter works provides 700,000 new winter jobs to help to offset seasonal employment.
- Housing. Aid to 750,000 new homes in the past 5 years. 1 in 7 Canadian families lives in a home built since the Conservatives took over in 1957. Lower down payments, longer mortgage periods, in direct contrast to Liberal "tight money" that had made home ownership impossible for so many.
- Old age pensions up from $46 to $65. Veterans pensions up by 37% over the last Liberal year.
- Hospital insurance. The Conservatives made hospital insurance a fact. The Liberals promised it for 38 years.

These are the solid achievements of a Progressive Conservative Government

Canada Needs To Face Facts Of Life - Addison

At a rally in Mount Albert Community Hall on March 21, the Liberal candidate in York North, John Addison, told a full house of sixty people that another minority government after April 8th would mean the continuation of control of parliament by rump groups with strictly regional interests. "As we have seen since the last election", he said, "the NDP and the Social Credit will only support legislation which is favourable to British Columbia and Quebec - completely ignoring the needs of the rest of Canada". The Liberal party is the only one that has a chance to form a truly national government representing all parts of Canada, John Addison said. "The key question you must ask yourselves on April 8th is whether you want Canada to continue to be controlled by a small group of men with purely regional representation or whether you feel Canada needs a decisive, sound government - a majority government which can introduce legislation in the best interest of all of Canada", he said.

Continuing, he reminded his audience of the sorry spectacle of a Prime Minister unwilling to make decisions, a serious cabinet crisis as a result, the picture of the two-headed Social Credit Party with two different defence policies, and of Mr. Tommy Douglas being rejected in his own riding last June. Then he contrasted with these the picture of Mr. M. Pearson who he termed the only man in Canada today who had the plain guts to take a clear stand on Canadian nuclear defence in spite of the obvious threat it held to his party's political future. "Somebody had to take a stand", said Mr. Addison, "and in my opinion, this is the kind of leadership Canada needs to face the facts of life today".

Youthful Artists Take Top Honours

Out of nine Richmond Hill students who entered the Newmarket Lions Music Festival held in Newmarket from March 18 to 21, no less than five of the contestants came out of the prizes.

A gold medal and scholarship went to Ronald Nokes, clarinet, for his winning performance in the 15-year-old and under class. Ronald is a student at the Mundinging School of Music in Richmond Hill.

In the piano accordion class top honours went to Gary King who, with a total of 91 marks, was not only best in his category but scored the highest marks in the entire festival.

Jane Nunn of Richvale was the winner in the 11-years and under class for piano while Janis Nicholls, 13 years of age won first in the 17 years and under class for piano and first in the 15 years and under class. Janis won second in her own age group but with total marks for the three competitions entered won for herself the May Patterson scholarship.

Judy Nicholls, sister of Janis, entered in three open classes and won 2 firsts and 1 second which earned for her two scholarships. One of the scholarships won by Judy was for the most outstanding Bach performance.

Judges in the competition were for piano, Frank Wharram of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, accordion, Colin Marsh and clarinet, R. G. Green of the Toronto Conservatory of Music.

Home Clearance Fire Drills For Public Schools

A plan to put a little more realism into fire drills at Richmond Hill public schools is now under consideration by school authorities it was learned at the last meeting of the school board.

In the past fire drills have consisted only of clearing the classrooms of pupils in the shortest time possible. After evacuating the school the pupils would congregate in groups in the school yard and following a period of time would again re-enter the school and continue with their classes.

Now it is being proposed that when the children are evacuated from the school that they proceed home - as they would naturally be expected to do in the case of a real fire.

In order that parents may be forewarned of Junior's early arrival at home because of a fire drill, school authorities propose sending letters to all parents describing the new type of fire drill that is being planned.

If the new system of fire drill is adopted two types of alarms will be used in order that teachers and pupils will be able to differentiate between the new "home clearance" drill and the older type drill wherein the children will return to classes following the exercise.
