

Must Live And Work In Harmony With Friends

Speaking in support of Liberal candidate Don Trapp, Saskatchewan riding of Biggar, John Addison told a rally in Rosetown-Biggar, Saskatchewan, last Saturday, that Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Hamilton are deluding the electorate into believing that wheat sales to Red China will go on indefinitely. "If you vote for continued demagoguery and another Diefenbaker-Caouette government," Mr. Addison said, "you are only kidding yourself into believing that the present deficiency payments will continue. With our present balance of trade deficit, it is only a matter of time before Diefenbaker will be forced to admit Red Chinese-made products into Canada - which he will never do - or cease to dispose of your surplus wheat to that country."

Mr. Addison who carries the Liberal standard in York North and is both a farmer and a businessman, went on to sharply criticize the restrictive trade measures of the Conservative government. He said that Canada must live and work in harmony with her friends and allies and that this means having the ability to capitalize on current world trends to free trade among nations of the western alliance. "Somebody has got to recapture the confidence of the other nations in our ability to run our economic affairs nationally on a sound basis because without this confidence we cannot bargain from strength, as we must, at the world's bargaining table. Canada is a trading nation and we must participate in the opportunities opening up now through Mr. Kennedy's proposals for an Atlantic trading community or we will face one of the worst periods of economic chaos this country has known since the depression," he said.

Then Mr. Addison asked his audience a question: "Can you honestly say to yourself that a vote for Diefenbaker because you have a carefully timed cheque in your hand is a vote for sound policies for the future well-being of Canada? What are the Conservative policies for the future? How well will you be looked after by a party split from within and dependent for power on the support of a Quebec-dominated Social Credit group?" Mr. Addison went on to appeal to his audience to support the only united party in Canada to have a strong, decisive government - which means a majority government - able and willing to make decisions and take action for the good of the whole country, or whether you wish to watch Canada wither on the vine economically through a repeated performance of a paralyzed government made up of pro-Diefenbaker Tories and Quebec Social Crediters.

"If you place any value on Canada's future - and yours - there can be but one choice," Mr. Addison said. "The only realistic choice is to vote Liberal because Canada needs a majority government now more than ever before."

N.D.P. Youth To Remove Placards

Seventeen-year-old Valerie Ewart, secretary of the York North Club, Ontario New Democratic Youth, reassures readers of "The Liberal" that all posters urging the election of the New Democratic candidate Stan Hall, will be removed as quickly as possible after election day, April 8.

Miss Ewart says "Since our group was responsible for placing many of these signs on trees in your area, we also accept responsibility for removing them after election day. Any person noticing signs not removed within a week should notify us by writing to me, at R.R. 2 Maple."

House Of Concord Visited By Many

By Ruth Keffer

Those who attended the recent "Open House" at the Salvation Army's House of Concord experienced a worthwhile evening.

After a formal programme lasting about two hours, guests were invited to tour the buildings and to partake of a beautifully prepared lunch.

Following a vocal selection by Captain B. Meakings and a prayer offered by Col. H. G. Wallace, Jim Robinson, president of the residents council, welcomed the guests. Chairman of the meeting was Commissioner W. Wycliffe Booth.

A scripture reading by Mrs. L.L.-Col. J. C. Ecott and a selection by the West Toronto Band preceded the fourth annual report given by the resident director of the home, Major A. MacCorquodale. Maj. MacCorquodale said that out of a total of 89 boys who passed through the home in the past year, 63 were returned to society as good and useful citizens. This means that the plan of the House of Concord was 69.5 per cent successful. Five boys were committed for further psychiatric care, eleven were discharged having problems beyond the scope of the House, and only seven left without permission. Since doors are never locked, day or night, this is a remarkably small number.

Major MacCorquodale outlined the rehabilitation programme in effect at Concord. Out of a possible 55 trades taught under the guidance of the Ontario Dept. of Education three are taught to the boys at Concord. These are restaurant training, farm training and the service station attendant's course, which, judging by the number of grads, seems to be the most popular.

A few words of welcome were extended by Dr. R. E. Stokes, representing the Board of Admissions and Review. Dr. Stokes, who works closely with the House of Concord, praised the work of the institution highly, noting that many boys entered the home with serious emotional disturbances and were helped to the point where they could return to a normal position in society. He also mentioned that several boys returned to have their marriages performed at their former "residence."

Commissioner Booth read a letter from Mayor Donald Summerville, whereupon he introduced the mayor's representative to the meeting, Alderman Horace Brown.

Alderman Brown commented that while city council seldom agreed unanimously on any subject, it did give its collective approval to the Salvation Army and its work. Mr. Brown stated that no task was greater than that of helping the emotionally disturbed, and he felt that the city of Toronto should be sending their thanks to the House of Concord rather than just bringing a greeting.

Next guest was Mr. George MacFarland, assistant director of the Ontario Provincial Probation Services. Mr. MacFarland added his department's praise to that of the other speakers, saying that the House of Concord was watched by groups all over the province. He looks forward to the day when this pilot project is repeated in many areas throughout the province.

After another selection from the West Toronto Band which, incidentally was organized before 1900, graduation certi-

M-F Farm To Host '65 Plowing Classic

Tuesday of last week Mrs. Ernie Bone, Mrs. Jack Barton and Mrs. Adam Read, met at the home of Mrs. John Baker for another quilting bee; Mrs. Minnetta Ness also gave a helping hand with the quilt and prepared delicious lunches for the ladies in between times. Once again a good time was had by all.

Chaos
Vandalism at its very worst was indicated last week in the Carrville United Church basement. Chairs and tables were overturned, the piano on its side completely ruined, cupboards were upset and everything was in a state of chaos. Further investigation pinned down the real culprit "spring". During the warm days of last week the water had seeped in to a depth of five feet and the force of the water had caused the destruction. Along with a foot of sand on the floor and damage done to objects in the basement it certainly left a real mess to be cleaned up.

It is certainly wonderful for spring to be here and see the snow disappear but it does have its drawbacks too.

For two cents I'll leave town.

Don't go away mad. Just go away. In a Volkswagen. You'll come back smiling on the money you saved going.

The Volkswagen averages 38 miles to a gallon of gas. In fact we've heard a few owners claim 50 mpg. (They're either very good drivers, or a little weak at mathematics.)

The Volkswagen is small change in other departments too. For a start, the oil never needs topping between changes. And even when it is time for a change, two and one-fifth quarts will do it.

When it comes to the cooling system, your expenses come to zero. The radiator can't boil over or spring leaks or freeze up because there is no radiator. We cool our car with air instead of water.

On a long trip your thoughts may turn to service and replacement parts. Don't worry. You can be miles from nowhere and still find VW service. (We have 346 dealers right across Canada.)

As a matter of fact, why not test drive a Volkswagen at your nearest dealer now? And since it only costs him a couple of pennies, feel free to head for the city limits.
