This Week's Happenings In Maple

It's The Greatest

One of the biggest time-saving boons to housewives, "the greatest thing since sliced bread" is the pre-sifted flour. Even though my son had just bought me a new flour sifter, I, for one, welcomed this latest innovation because that was one thing that really bugged me - having to sift the flour for baking!

Birthdays in the News

On April 25, Ronnie Seed was 12 years old and I remember having his name in the paper before when telling about the odd-ball pets his dad brings home from the gravel pit from time to time. They range from furry little mice to slippery long snakes!

Sharing their birthday date, Karen Bacher and Dennis Yake were both '9' on April 24th.

His First Year - A Champ

Robert Martin, Keele Street, who just celebrated his 8th birthday, appeared on the sports page of "The Liberal"

last week. This was his first year of real hockey and his team, the Holy Trinity Anglican in the church league of Thornhill, are the minor-atom champions for 1962-63. (By the by - the absent 'John Martin' was not Robert's father lending extra brown - but another so named, atom player).

Annual Meeting MMHA

Having witnessed a most successful first year for the Maple Minor Hockey Association - everyone will want to be on their toes to keep up with the high calibre of 1962-63 officials and executives.

While the taste of success is still fresh and enthusiasm running high an annual meeting of MMHA will be held on May 27 to appoint the new executive for 1963-64, watch time and place. There should be about the same number of adults attending the annual meeting as there were giving support at the banquet.

A Former Maple-ite

Noted on "The Liberal" sports page again that Daryl Rice had scored a goal playing for the squirt aged CFGM hockey team that won the North York League Championships. Daryl lived with his family on Ontario Street before moving to Richmond Hill.

Congratulations Again

Carol Foster, of the Foster Sister Trio, Nashville, came 3rd in the Peel musical festival for vocal solos, girls under 16. In the girls' trio, under 21, the Foster Sisters again topped all as well as in the ladies trio, under 18.

Edgeley Doings

A class of nine girls, members of the Edgeley 4-H Homemaking Club are all prepared for their achievement day activities on May 4 at the Aurora and District High School.

Under the capable leadership of Mrs. R. J. Darlington and Mrs. George Snider, each girl has made a blouse for herself in the unit "What Shall I Wear?" This project is one in the five clothing projects offered in 4-H homemaking clubs in Ontario. The unit was completed in eight club meetings and on completion of their study and work, the girls had developed quite a number of skills in planning, selecting and making garments. On Saturday they will proudly display their newly made blouses and their note books and present the skit "How to Plan a Wardrobe".

All clubs in the county take part and are luncheon guests of a district women's institute. They also select two new projects, one sewing and one cooking, for the 1963-64 season, commencing next fall.

The Edgeley 4-H Homemaking Club is sponsored by the Edgeley Women's Institute and the achievement day program is considered a most important part of the club's activities.

Women's Institute

Mrs. John Snider, convener of Citizenship and Education is preparing an interesting program for the meeting of the Edgeley Women's Institute at 2 o'clock on May 2 at the home of Mrs. C. H. Boake. The roll call will be answered by each member citing "A law I would like to have enforced."

Mrs. Boake and Mrs. Frank Locke will be the social committee. Mrs. Locke is donating a door prize.

Sports at Pioneer Village

The winter sports activities promoted at the Pioneer Village by the Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority proved so popular with the public that it is planned to enlarge it on a permanent basis next winter.

During the nine weeks from Christmas until the spring break-up, 21,000 people used the facilities at the Pioneer Village to enjoy skating, tobogganing, skiing, sleigh-riding, etc.

Next winter visitors will likely find the village beautifully lit with colored lights, a delightful place in which to enjoy their favorite sports.

Conservation Workshop

Plans for various conservation activities were discussed at a conservation workshop on April 24 at the Canadiana Motel.

Included in the discussions program were control and water conservation, recreation, conservation services, information and education and historic sites. Members of municipal councils, municipal officials, planning board members and board of education members and officials attended the workshop.

Vaughan Police Report Mishaps

A Willowdale man, Paave Kihlanki, 36, of 412 Horsham Road, suffered facial injuries when the car he was driving dropped off the west shoulder of the road as he proceeded south on Bathurst Street last Saturday. Damage to the vehicle was $425 police reported.

On the same day Larry Fryer, 24, of 69 Yongehurst Road, Richmond Hill, did $50 damage to his 1961 Pontiac after he lost control of the car in loose gravel and struck a culvert. No injuries were reported.

Concord Socials

Birthday greetings, belated and otherwise to the following folks: Jean Gilbert and Mrs. Marg McLean, April 18; Larry McLean, April 20; Audrey Boron, May 4; Douglas Boron, May 13.

Among those attending last Friday's performance of "Spring Thaw" were Warren and Elizabeth Baillie, Joe and Audrey Boron. They were with several other members of the Maple United Church couples' club.

Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. Gord Barber on the arrival of their baby boy recently.

Two more mumps casualties were Gary McKay and Debbie McGee, who have recovered and are back to school.

Another little girl "back to school" is Lisa Boron, for the first time this year, yet!

You will remember that last fall while the other children returned to school, Lisa paid a visit to "Sick Kids" for several weeks where she underwent a spinal operation. Her recovery was remarkable and Lisa was out of her body cast much ahead of schedule. She returned to school after Easter holidays and is managing very well.

Audrey Boron has also had her dad, Mr. Baillie from Orangeville, visiting recently. Mrs. Baillie underwent surgery recently at Wellesley Hospital and Mr. Baillie stayed with the Borons until Mrs. Baillie was well on the way to recovery.

Mr. Hayes, Westcrae Dr., is doing nicely at home after a recent visit to Branson Hospital.

Concord "Celebrities"

Last week was Concord's week on the Betty Kennedy Show, or so it seemed. On Thursday Major A. McCorquodale of the House of Concord gave a most interesting interview to Mrs. Kennedy. This of course concerned his work at the House of Concord and was also in connection with the Army's Red Shield fund-raising drive.

Friday, Col. J. McInnis, administrator of Fort York, was one of Mrs. Kennedy's guests. This was prior to the ceremony on Saturday afternoon at the Fort celebrating 150 years of peace between the participants in the Battle of York, Canada and the U.S. On Friday Col. McInnis remarked that the cairn at Fort York was erected in remembrance of the fallen heroes on both sides of the battle. It is, he believes, the only cairn or monument having such a distinction.

After both interviews, I re-made my long-standing resolutions that "this year we're going to visit both places".

One event that we finally did get to witness was a play by the Richmond Hill Curtain Club. Along with those other, gay theatre-goers, the Steffans, we saw "We Are Married".

The club's current production, "This English Comedy" by J. B. Priestly was a real hit with us and everyone else in the audience which filled Richmond Hill's answer to the O'Keefe Centre, and a creditable answer it is too. This group is congratulated once more on its hard work and perseverance in bringing such fine quality entertainment to the local area. We'll be back again.

Forgot to mention before that to celebrate her birthday, Marg McLean was wine and dine at the Maison Dore by her mother, Mrs. R. P. Bambridge and her sister Mrs. L. Hyde of Ottawa who was visiting Marg for a few days.

Out-of-town Wedding Keffer's wedding day when she became the bride of Rod Wickett. Many local folks attended the ceremony at North Bay. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ash, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Eberschlag, Mr.

For those wishing further information on gardening and landscaping the Maple Library houses a variety of books on these subjects. Among these are "Roses for Canadian Gardens"; Guide to Garden Flowers"; and "Flower Growing in the North".

In non-fiction, author Lillian Beckwith has produced two books of enjoyable reading about life on the Hebrides. These are: "The Hills are Lonely" and "The Sea for Breakfast".

Maple Minor League

Hockey Players Are Feted

When 220 hockey players, coaches, referees, executive, family supporters and loyal fans attended the Maple Minor Hockey Association banquet on April 23 at the community hall - no one had any doubt that at last, minor hockey had finally come to Maple and in its first year had been a resounding success.

The teams seated at the end of the long tables nearest the head table, with their coaches, did yeoman duty towards the disappearance, and enjoyment, of the turkey dinner with all its trimmings, pie and ice cream. To the ladies who prepared and served the banquet, under the guidance of Audrey Magee, Marion Holmes, Marg Crook, Norma Baker and Larry Stevenson, the grateful thanks of all for the tasty hot dishes and most adequate service. Our two local dairies added to our first annual banquet's success by: Cousin's Dairy donating the ice cream and Findlay's Dairy, the milk and cream. The B.W. Miller Florists added visual colour by donating the head table floral centerpiece and snapdragon bouquets for each table.

Following grace by the Rev. Ralph C. Williams of Maple United Church, the president of M.M.H.A., Dalton McArthur introduced the head table guests, the executive and their wives, vice president Bob McIntyre and Lois; secretary-treasurer, Lorraine (Larry) Stevenson and Bert; director Reg Thacker and Marg; referee-in-chief Roy Rowarth and Eileen and guests Dorothy McArthur, wife of the president, Reeve Ab Rutherford, Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Williams, N.H.L. official Ron Wicks and guest speaker Eddie Powers and his wife Edna.

President Dalt McArthur gave up trying to hide his pride in the success of the minor league's first year as he publicly thanked all those who had contributed so much in time and effort to support, encourage and train the young hockey players.

The parents had been the cheering section with mom being the early - and it was early - arouser in some cases. However at times she found her budding Mahovovich had gone to bed completely "hockey-wise" equipped or had to assure him it was only three or four a.m. and he wasn't going to be too late to meet his coach to ride over to Schomberg with his team buddies!

The coaches did double duty in many ways but mainly managed to instill the true sportsmanship spirit of fair play and grace in losing or winning. In the rapid progress in style and know-how that was noted each week as the season progressed, you could readily see the desire of the boys, combined with the understanding and instruction of the coaches - all bound up together in team work - enabling Maple to proudly proclaim, "We finally have a minor hockey league in 1962-63 - just wait till next year and see it expand!"

The referees and timekeepers and publicity much appreciated. To "Larry" Stevenson, who was everyone's right hand, much of the success was possible, and the thanks to her and her many cohorts was most sincere.

The presentation of the Atom "runner-up" crests to the members of the Rangers, was made by Bob McIntyre.

Reeve Ab Rutherford brought whistles and cheers from the boys when in his address he commented on the success of the first year of minor hockey in Maple
