Second Thoughts

Jackie Parker, Argo's new high-priced quarter back, made his debut last week as a singer with the Benny Louis band. But Argo fans will be more interested in how he carries a ball, than a tune; and would rather see him sling it than swing it.

A committee of Ontario high school principals has recommended that grade 13 be cut down to seven subjects "to allow students time for research in the subject they prefer" . . . Now, if the principals could recommend how to spell a dirty chuckle . . .

Controller Allan Lamport, who accomplished the impossible with Sunday sports, is now pressing for a Toronto sweepstakes. And, being Lumpy, he's likely to suggest holding his initial sweep on the completion-date of the new city hall.

No Comment Dept. — TV's Joel Aldred is reported to have invested $50,000 in a Toronto firm which packages and sells dried Metro sewage.

An example of Elmer Roper's famous advice to "Sell the sizzle, not the steak," seems to be going in the ads for the "1867" highway restaurants: ". . . guests are welcome to linger for complete enjoyment of deliciously prepared meals." — Sounds like they're selling the slow service.

A $400,000 retreat house for married couples has been built near Port Credit by the Oblate Fathers . . . Maybe they call it a "retreat house" because the couples, being married, no longer make advances.

THE MUSIC BOX

By Ray Stephens

To the effect that York Music Festival had asked Richmond Hill Council for some financial support. In 1961 the council donated $10. Nothing in 1962 and now the matter has been referred to a "finance committee" for FURTHER THOUGHT! There should be some change coming from that penny.

By the way, the York Festival is sponsored by the Woodbridge Board of Trade. There are some 17 scholarships amounting to $25,000. 25 paid for advertisers and cash donations from separate sources of $70,000. Despite the operating costs of a county festival I fail to see just where Richmond Hill should be begged for $10. It doesn't do the name of music any good. Why not $100? At least it would be something to spend a penny on thinking about.

Ontario Council for the Arts Some rejoicing can take place if the above council materializes. Premier John Roberts has proposed a bill establishing the Ontario Council for the Arts. This would be set up to support the cultural advances in theatre, painting, music and the arts generally, particularly among our young people and to ensure smaller centres of such developments.

Music To Soothe Experiments are being carried out by supplying soft music to agricultural efforts. A recent article on India stated that experiments are proving most successful. Plants respond to quiet music and have shown results in better growth. This brings us back to the word culture, again and it seems that in India they have given up trying to educate the human race and now concentrate on the turnips in the fields. What an opportunity for song writers. "Music for growing potatoes to", or "Strawinsky for Brussel sprouts".

Closing Chords Erland Misener of the CBC Library in Toronto. For many years the whole music library of this country when radio first began and the originator of the present top rated CBC music library.

Eric Rolinson. Probably Canada's most brilliant musical theorist. Taught form, harmony, counterpoint at the Royal Conservatory in Toronto. Writer of several books on the subjects. Benno Moiseiwitsch. Undoubtedly one of the world's greatest masters of the piano. Age 73. Daughter Tanya is the internationally known theatrical designer.
