Impaired Drivers Fined

Keith T. Moxam of Downsview pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving in Richmond Hill Police Court Tuesday and was fined $125 and costs or seven days in jail; his licence was also suspended.

He was stopped on the main street of Markham Village, Constable William Vance said traffic was fairly heavy but there was no accident.

Gordon J. Flanagan, 19, Superior Ave., Mimico was fined $75 and costs and given a three months licence suspension when he was found guilty of careless driving by Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake Tuesday. He was also fined $10 and costs as a minor in possession of liquor.

The charge was laid after an April 29 accident in King City where the Flanagan car was in collision with one driven by Mrs. Bessie Moodie of Keswick.

Mrs. Moodie told the court the second car came down the road at her in reverse. "Both my husband and I are still under doctor's care," she said. Mr. Moodie, a passenger, said damage was about $200.

The accused said he was turning around from a lane when his power steering cable broke. The investigating constable said the accused had been drinking.

John Robert Hampson of Markham Township was remanded to June 25 on charges of impaired driving May 22 and failing to remain at the scene of an accident. He was released on bail.

Magistrate Hollinrake in convicting Johnson of a minimum fine of $50 and costs or seven days and licence suspension told the court, "It was one of those unfortunate cases where the accused is a fine young man in circumstances that went against him. I have to rely on the police officers for what they see. They were honest people, too, and used none of packed phrases to get a conviction."

Court was told a cruiser followed Johnson's car and finally stopped it. There was a strong smell of alcohol, a constable said. His testimony was corroborated by a second constable.

Defense witness William Elliot L. Ferguson, of Markham Township was also fined $10 and costs for illegal possession. His plea of guilty was entered by Patrick Lillis appearing for him.

James N. Griffin of Whitevale pleaded guilty and was convicted on a charge of illegal possession of liquor in Markham Township. A constable said the car was stopped on a Highway Traffic Act violation and a case of 24 beers.

Crosker who attended a farewell party at which Johnson was present said the accused had felt sick about midnight. Johnson told court he had had three ales, had felt nauseous and finally left the party about 3 a.m. He said he drove home slowly because of the way he felt.

To fulfill his plans Mr. Lotan appeals for our readers' help if you have any antique children's clothing, toys, books or furniture, the proprietor of this popular supplier of children's clothing would deeply appreciate its loan. He plans on giving a prize for the most interesting item on display.

Anything of an antique nature pertaining to children will be accepted - and displayed with the owner's name and a brief history of the article. If you can give the approximate date of its use, the information would add to the display's interest. Antique cradles, books, toys, heirloom christening gowns, antique shoes, Buster Brown or Little Lord Fauntleroy suits, children's sleepwear of previous generations, anything to do with Indian children, are only a few suggestions Mr. Lotan has to offer of what he is looking for.

If you have such an article tucked away or on proud display in your home, just take it to the Children's Fashion Shop in the centre of Richmond Heights Centre, and qualify for the prize offered. Mr. Lotan would like the articles prior to June 10, and promises to give them every care and return them when the display is over.

Following a short discussion on his proposal during which members of council commended Mr. Scudds on his plan it was decided that it should be submitted for the consideration of planning board and brought before council at a later date for consideration of adoption with planning boards' recommendations or revisions.

Scudds Presents Parking Plan For Approval

polley would not attract new assessment to the business section of the town.

As an alternative to the foregoing concept Mr. Scudds suggested that planning board, under their downtown redevelopment plans, may well consider creating an area that would be free of all parking restrictions. The suggested area would be bounded by Wright and Dufferin Streets on the north, Church Street on the east, Elizabeth on the west and a section to be determined south of Lorne and Arnold Streets as the southern boundary.

Within such an area Mr. Scudds proposed that the town assume the responsibility of creating public parking lots by using land now controlled by the town and, where necessary, leasing land and expropriating right of ways. Under such a plan short term parking would be provided free of charge and long term parking offered to transient commuters and residents on a monthly fee basis.

It is Mr. Scudds' belief that the town would benefit by a substantial increase in assessment if the plan were adopted and on the basis of such a belief is of the opinion that the municipality should assume a portion of the cost of the project and that the remainder be levied against the property in the area that would benefit from the scheme. Mr. Scudds pointed out that such a cost sharing basis would, of necessity, have to be approved by the property owners in the area.

Mr. Scudds claimed that the advantages inherent in his proposal were that it would attract increased assessment to the downtown area, a result of being better able to utilize the property in the particular section of town. This, he said, would profit not only the local residents but the town as a whole.

In addition it would be the beginning of a redevelopment that could add millions of dollars of new assessment over the next few years and there was no reason, as far as Mr. Scudds could see why other areas could not be added to the scheme as conditions warranted. Finally, Mr. Scudds contended, it was the type of scheme that would encourage the style of development that would add prestige and appearance to Richmond Hill.

Following a study of Councillor Scudds' parking proposal by the planning board at their Tuesday night meeting it was the consensus of members that the plan had many points to commend it. Mr. Harold Deeks, director of planning told 'The Liberal' that the plan would definitely facilitate the best land usage and development in the area. He said that tackling the parking problem on an area basis permitted more scope in planning and that in general Mr. Scudds' proposals were along the lines of a plan presently being worked out by the board.

Following a short discussion on his proposal during which members of council commended Mr. Scudds on his plan it was decided that it should be submitted for the consideration of planning board and brought before council at a later date for consideration of adoption with planning boards' recommendations or revisions.
