A former popular resident of Richmond Hill, Ruth McMullen of Campbellford, has just returned from a six weeks' holiday abroad. Following is a concise account of her travels in her own words:

"I flew SAS from New York to Bergen, Norway, to join a Cook's tour. We (23 Americans and I) travelled 22 days, mainly by bus, with several boat rides on the Norwegian fjords. Norway is very mountainous with narrow, hairpin roads and many beautiful waterfalls and glaciers and I fell in love with the country and its friendly people.

"Northern Sweden is heavily timbered but the southern part is rolling farm land and very pretty.

"From Stockholm we flew out and back to the island of Gotland to visit the old walled city of Visby with its many ruins and narrow steep streets. Then we drove south through Jonkoping and Goteborg and crossed the Kattegat into Denmark. I once again fell in love with a country and its people, who are all so out-going and friendly. Denmark is a quaint, storybook type of farmland with many windmills and thatched cottages, and its fields are very neat. We made a special trip from Copenhagen 35 miles north to Elsinore and Hamlet's Castle. While we were there, the Royal yacht passed by and we witnessed a 21-gun salute.

"I forgot to mention that in Bergen, we visited the home, studio and grave of Edward Grieg and saw his piano and many original musical scores.

"In Oslo, we saw the international ski jump and a wonderful view of the city from the tip of Halmenkollen (a high hill). I liked Oslo very much as it is a small city and easy to get around in.

"Stockholm is larger and Copenhagen is the largest of all and it is very easy to find yourself going in the wrong direction as streets suddenly change names and there are many squares with streets going off in all directions.

"From Copenhagen I flew by Irish Airlines to Dublin and spent three days shopping and sightseeing before joining a bus tour.

"We had a 12-day circle coast tour up through Belfast, across the top at Portrush, down the Atlantic side, with side trips out to Connemara and the Ring of Kerry, through Cork & back to Dublin. I attended performances of the Abbey Theatre in both Dublin and Killarney and enjoyed them.

"In Uppsala we went to the university library to see the Silver Bible. In Dublin I visited Trinity College Library to see the Book of Kells and a very old, small harp, as well as a couple of other very old biblical books.

Mrs. Gerald Huntley last Wednesday entertained her aunt, Miss Blanche Legree of Toronto for dinner at the Huntley's Judaea Court home.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Castle have returned to their Beaverton Road home with son Fred and daughter Heather after summer holidays in the Peter Savages' cottage at Ox Tongue Lake near Algonquin Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Evans with their children, Lorraine and Bobbie of Elmwood Ave., spent three weeks recently on a trip that took them through New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, down through Rhode Island and back to Quebec City.

Twelve school friends and acquaintances gathered recently at the home of Mrs. George De Baeremaeker on Lawrence Avenue at a luncheon for Miss Annette Bostock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bostock who will be married to Wallace L. McKinnon this Saturday in Richmond Hill. Hostess was Miss Judy De Baeremaeker.

Mrs. De Baeremaeker returned this week from a week's holiday in Orillia where she was visiting her three sisters, Mrs. Laura Uren, Mrs. Robert Gowenlock and Mrs. Henry Gos.

Bob McIntosh, the Richmond Hill motorist who last week walked away from a Maple Sideroad crash that demolished his car is a real fan of seat belts.

Although last week's "Liberal" report didn't say so, Mr. McIntosh was wearing a belt which he said saved his life and prevented any serious injury.

He could sell a hundred seat belts on the strength of what happened to me and the shape the car is in," he said.

To-night, Thursday, August 8th, the Richmond Hill Horticultural Society is visiting the gardens of the Shouldice Surgery, at Bayview Avenue, Thornhill.

Richmond Hill Landmark

Century Old Business Closing

In this issue Mrs. Marguerite Glass announces the closing next Saturday of the Glass Meat Market, one of Richmond Hill's oldest business establishments.

Mrs. Glass has carried on since the sudden passing of her husband, the late Lauder Glass, about a year ago, but now is discontinuing business and is offering for sale the attractive Yonge Street business property.

The sale of the prominent Yonge Street, Glass Meat Market property has been negotiated by David McLean Limited, Realtors.

The building built by the late Lauder Glass was one of the more modern downtown stores with its attractive black vitrolite front on the West side of Yonge Street.

Yonge Street property enquiries have greatly increased in the past few weeks according to local realty sources.

Over a century of continuous service by one family business is something of a record not only for Richmond Hill but for the whole district. The Glass Meat Market has been a landmark in Richmond Hill for several generations. Long before Canada's first birthday the firm of Pugsley and Glass established a wholesale and retail meat business in Richmond Hill. The partners were brothers-in-law and after some years of successful operation, the business was taken over entirely by William H. Glass, one of the founders. He carried on for many years with the assistance of his sons, John P. Glass, Albert E. Glass and Reuben W. Glass. With the passing years and after the death of W. H. Glass, the business was carried on under the name of Glass Brothers, the principals being John P. Glass and A. E. Glass. In 1914 J. P. Glass became the sole owner and he carried on until his death in 1929, when his son Lauder Glass took over the business.

In spite of the hot weather, Crosby playground had a successful Halloween party July 26. "The time of year wasn't exactly right but we had fun," reports Mrs. Jean Thomson. She awarded prizes for best costumes to Cindy Lamoureux, a gypsy and to Doug MacKenzie, a hobo. There were games and food but the main attraction was the singalong "On Top of Spaghetti".

Spending a two weeks' holiday with her sister Mrs. Joseph Mahon and Mr. Mahon who live at 298 Elmwood Avenue, is Mrs. Irene Millar of Glasgow, Scotland. She is seeing many of the places of interest in the district and has expressed the wish that she had come to Canada ten years ago. Mrs. Millar has not minded our hot, humid Canadian summer.

Mrs. William G. Street, Richmond Hill school board secretary and her sons, Bill, and Stephen, are at present visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Collins in Sault Ste. Marie, Mr. Street who is "holding the fort" expects his family back to their Kerswell Drive home this week and is planning to take them on several trips, perhaps to Heart Lake and Buffalo.

David Agg, spent the holiday weekend at Camp Koinonia at Haines Lake in the Parry Sound area where he had an enjoyable time meeting campers of former years. Special weekend camp speaker was Archdeacon of Kingston, the Ven. Desmond C. Hunt, who is also president and chairman of the board.

David, who received word Monday he had passed grade 13 has been accepted at West Hall, University of Western Ontario where he will study Business Administration.

Richmond Hill resident Fred Gardiner, an officer of the North York Humane Society, was involved in a double mission of mercy recently. Returning from picking up a cocker spaniel, severely injured and within hours of giving birth to a litter of pups, which had been dumped in a gravel pit near Bradford, Mr. Gardiner came upon a two-car collision near Holland Landing.

He made the four members of a Toronto family who were injured in the crash as comfortable as possible, and stayed with them until help arrived and they were on their way to York County Hospital, Newmarket. His cocker spaniel patient survived minor surgery performed by a member of the North York Humane Society at Newmarket and was later taken to the Aurora dog shelter.

In making the announcement that the business will close on Saturday, Mrs. Marguerite Glass said she did so with considerable regret as the business has for so long meant so much to her late husband and the Glass family. However she said she had given the matter careful consideration and the decision was not one made in haste. She said it was with a most sincere heart she extended thanks to the people of Richmond Hill and district for a generous measure of patronage and good-will extended over a long period of years. To many, Richmond Hill just will not be the same place without the Glass Meat Market.

shopping centre. Many former residents now living in near or distant cities will recall with nostalgia the pleasant visits to the store when it was operated by Lauder Glass, John P. Glass or W. H. Glass. Throughout more than a century of family ownership the Glass Meat Market earned a high reputation for quality products and fair and honest dealing.

The passing of this business landmark will come as a shock to many people of the district, particularly older residents of the town and district who through a lifetime have made the popular butcher store a

Back to Richmond Hill again is Mr. John Waegemakers after a three weeks trip to Holland, visiting his birthplace, Gilze, N. Br. and his mother, who he had not seen in ten years. It was quite a family reunion which included his sisters and brother, and also his wife's father, sister and brothers at Tilburg.

Mr. Waegemakers fished in the North Sea, along the dykes, to Ghent, and made several trips into Belgium.

Sympathy really goes out to those housewives who reside in the Hall-Richmond Streets area for the "dusting" they suffered on Friday afternoon and Saturday.

Hall Street had been plowed up by the paving contractors - but unlike Elizabeth Street - the loose surface had not been watered down, so with the strong north-easterly wind, clouds of dust were blown over the homes of the unlucky residents - created by thoughtless motorists who travelled at their usual high speed. Fortunately - "the rains came."

Mrs. Ans Vermeulen and daughter Tinneke from Rotterdam, Holland, enjoyed a scenic motor tour over the holiday weekend.

A sister of Mr. Chris Ruhl, owner of the Richmond Hill Home Bakery, Mrs. Vermeulen and daughter are staying at his home. At six o'clock Saturday evening, Mr. Ruhl closed the doors of his Yonge Street store, and by 10 p.m. they were at Niagara Falls, viewing the changing colors illuminating the falls - termed "the world's greatest moving picture".

During their stay, the party which included Mrs. Ruhl looked down on Niagara Falls from the Seagram Tower, visited one of the hydro generating stations, through the flower garden displays, to Buffalo.

Returning to the Canadian side, Mr. Ruhl drove along the Niagara River, then home through the grape and peach growing areas.

Miss Beverley Bourgard of Hillsview Drive, flew from Montreal via TCA plane for Los Angeles, California, on a two week's visit.

Staying with an uncle, Mr. John Phillips at Norwalk, and with another uncle, Mr. Henry Gordon at Bell, Miss Bourgard will have an opportunity to see a considerable amount of that section of the west during her stay.

While yet quite a way to go before reaching Babe Ruth or Mickey Mantle calibre, the Richmond Hill Post Office Baseball Team is steadily "coming up".

In recent matches they tied with a 12-12 score playing the strong Willowdale P.O. team and won over the Aurora P.O. team with a score of 17 to 15.

Mr. Bert Gramsch, of Black Realty Limited, enjoyed a brief four day holiday at the summer cottage on Go-Home Lake in the Parry Sound area.

Water skiing, boating, swimming and fishing was good on Friday and most of Saturday, but the high winds and heavy rain came as a damper to these activities.

"Vacation by the Sea" - plus a scenic tour was the enjoyable experience of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Jackson and their son David, of Rockport Crescent. Fully equipped with tent and cooking facilities, their first stopover was Drummondville, Quebec, Nuniac their next. Ferrying across to Prince Edward Island, they spent a week camping out at Malpeque Bay.

JANICE GWEN DEDLOW WEDS DAVID INNISS

Muskoka Honeymoon Mr. And Mrs. D. Inniss

White flowers and candlelight in Richmond Hill United Church Chapel made a pretty background when Rev. C. G. Higginson united in marriage Janice Gwen Dedlow, daughter of Mrs. John Dedlow and the late Mr. Dedlow and David Faustlin Inniss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lawrence Inniss of Bridgetown, Barbados.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Clark Dedlow, wore ivory silk organza over matching peau de soie and a shoulder length veil, carried a bouquet of chiffon roses and stephanotis centred with a cymbidium orchid. The bride's cousin, Miss Carol Simpson of California, was maid of honour.

She wore hyacinth blue silk organza and carried a crescent of pink spray carnations. Mr. Raymond Swan was best man.

A reception followed in the church parlour. The bride's mother received in an ensemble of champagne silk honan with a corsage of pink delight roses.

Mrs. Peter L. Inniss, sister-in-law of the groom, assisted, wearing beige chiffon with matching accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

The bride and groom honeymooned in Muskoka. For travelling the bride chose a navy suit, white and navy accessories and a corsage of pink orchids. On their return the couple will reside in Toronto.

Sheryl Kerr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Kerr, Judaea Court is vacationing for a week near Ottawa.

The Rev. and Mrs. C. G. Higginson have returned to their home considerably benefited after two weeks of healthful relaxation at Camp Bella Lac, Muskoka.

This camp - operated by the Federation of Ontario Naturalists - provided many interesting lectures on botany, geology, and allied subjects.

Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, Elgin Mills Road, spent the weekend at their cottage at Franceville, near Honey Harbour.

The weather for part of Saturday was ideal for trying out their new boat, but the high wind and rain ended further trials and prevented the usual good fishing.

"Thoroughly tanned - and relaxed" from a three week's vacation at Miami Beach, Florida, is the Perdicaris family. Dr. and Mrs. J. Perdicaris, daughters Kim and Lynda, who have just returned to their Kerrybrook Drive home.

Motoring partly on the Thruway and scenic highways, the first stopover was at St. Augustine, Florida, the oldest settlement in the United States.

The Fort, dating back to early 1600 which is in a fine state of preservation - now presents a new attraction - a realistic "sound and sight spectacle".

At Miami, Miss Carlton Cocks, aunt of Mrs. Perdicaris was visited. Kim and Lynda, who now can both swim, enjoyed swimming with their parents in the salt water pools and the Atlantic Ocean.
