

Challenge OF Cancer

No. of Hospitals and Clinics Served by Society's Volunteers — 29.
 More than 20,000 patients benefited from these services in 1962.
 The cost to the Society was $671,904. This does not include the time of over 30,000 volunteers, the value of which is incalculable.
 The Society has provided $1,472,371 in capital funds to purchase property, build and equip facilities for ambulatory patients requiring over-night accommodation during treatment at clinics. These institutions, called Boarding Homes or Lodges are located at Vancouver, Hamilton, Toronto and London.

Miss Davina Todd Carr Weds Norm Loveridge

Richmond Hill Presbyterian Church was the scene September 7 at 3 p.m. of the wedding of Miss Davina Todd Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carr, 45 Ardblair Road, Blairgowrie, Perthshire, Scotland to Mr. Norman Loveridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Loveridge, Rev. J. N. Hepburn performed the ceremony.
 Given in marriage by Mr. Jack McEwen, Ruskie Farm, R.R. 2 Maple, the bride wore a floor length gown of white taffeta with scattered sequins and a large bow at the back of the waist, with matching head-dress.

Mrs. Ella Findlay was her sister's matron of honour wearing a yellow nylon over satin dress with matching head-dress, white shoes and gloves. Three junior bridesmaids, nieces of the bride, Miss Davina Phillip, Miss Lorraine Phillip and Miss Elizabeth Holt, were gowned in blue nylon over satin, with white floral headbands, white gloves and shoes.
 Best man was Mr. Eric Forsberg, and ushers were Messrs. James Holt and James Phillips, brothers-in-law of the bride.
 At the Carrville United Church Hall, Mrs. Jack McEwen represented the bride's mother. Her dress was of tulle and beige silk with beige hat and matching accessories.
 For travelling to Niagara Falls, the bride donned a charcoal grey three-piece suit with rose pink hat and black accessories.
 On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Loveridge will reside at 17 Elizabeth St. North, Richmond Hill.

MARKHAM VILLAGE: Official opening of Highway 48 through the village September 18 will be the occasion of a mammoth dance, bingo and games being planned by the Jaycees.

DEATH BY SUFFOCATION
 According to a U.S. Government test conducted on 201 youngsters aged 3 to 5½, abandoned refrigerators, freezers and ice boxes remain death traps even when equipped with safety devices. Induced into a refrigerator-playhouse and told to come out as soon as the door closed, two out of every five children MADE NO ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE, even though the door was provided with a release mechanism. Observed through an invisible viewer for up to ten minutes, some cooed and played happily; some lay down to go to sleep; some pounded on the door without attempting to push it open; others simply cried. PLEASE, PLEASE, PLEASE alert your little people to this danger and help make sure that all abandoned or temporarily idle refrigerators, etc., have had their doors removed, or else are so tightly bound that no child could ever get into them. This is especially true now that older and wiser brothers and sisters are back at school and tinier types must make most of their own fun.

FACTS FOR LIFE
 The tragedy of a child locked in an abandoned freezer makes me wish a telephone had been in there with him. Impractical? Unfortunately, yes. But take another emergency where a youngster does have access to a phone. Would it be just another toy to him, or would he know enough to use it for help? Few parents permit their children to play with the phone, since this can put it out of order. But I wonder how many explain how serious an instrument it is and how to use it in case help is needed? From seeing adults use the phone, would a child know to wait for dial tone? Would he understand that if he pulls the dial back, instead of letting it return freely, he can get a different number from the one he wants? I doubt it. But if these things are carefully explained to him, he will hear the reassuring voice of the operator if he ever needs help quickly.

NUMBER FACTS
 Since we seem to be on children this column here's a puzzle they probably don't know, though you may remember it. And believe me, it's good practice for any budding mathematicians in your family! Take your telephone number and double it. Add five; multiply by 50; then add your age. Now add the number of days in a year and then subtract 615. If all went well, your total should consist of your telephone number and your age, reading from left to right. But make sure you have lots of paper to start with!

Good Government Deserves Your Support

YORK NORTH'S LEX MACKENZIE AND ONTARIO'S PREMIER JOHN ROBARTS

"My interest is in the individual person.
 "I do what I can for him. I believe that every person should have easy access to the government of his country through his local member. It is my job to make his life a bit better and happier, to make government more understandable and useful, and to get things done for York North.
 "I ask for your support on September 25, so that I can continue to work for you."
