New Church Not Ready In Time For Thanksgiving Service Sunday

Dedication of the new King City United Church on Elizabeth Grove is still scheduled for October 20, but the Thanksgiving service will not be in the new building.

It was expected the final service in the original church would be last Sunday.

Since painting and decoration of the new church will not be ready for October 13, family Thanksgiving will be observed next Sunday morning in the King Street building.

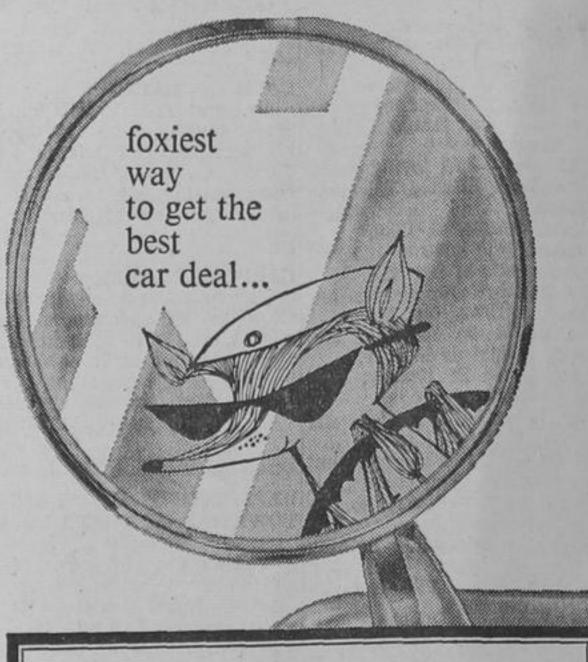

For the dedication and opening, Rev. Stephen Mathers, past president of Toronto Conference and present minister of Scarborough United Church, will speak at the 10:00 a.m. service.

Rev. Crossley Hunter, more active in the United Church ministry than retired, has accepted Rev. Martin R. Jenkinson's invitation to be guest speaker

No Sunday school classes are planned for the dedication day. The Bible class, under the direction of Mr. Jack Hamilton and Mrs. Donald M. Findlay, will be resuming shortly.
