Thornlea H. and S.
Thornlea Home and School Association held its first meeting of the fall season on October 16 with Mrs. G. H. Martin in the chair.

The school choir opened the meeting following the reading of the minutes and treasurer's report. Mrs. Martin turned the meeting over to Mr. L. Evans who introduced the teaching staff; Mrs. McDowell, with the school last year as supply teacher and in the same capacity again this year; Mrs. Neicy-poruk who is teaching grades 1 and 2 again, Madame France, Oral French teacher, and the new teacher Mrs. Joyce Allen grades 3, 4, 5 teacher.

A demonstration of a French lesson which proved to be both interesting and humorous and which saw a number of parents must have wished their own French teacher had been as charming as Madame France.

Mrs. Allen then conducted the school choir in several songs, including "Annie was a Miller's daughter", "Oh Shenandoah", "Hush Little Baby", "The Violin's Ringing" and "Land of Glory".

Mr. G. Walker thanked both these teachers for their wonderful work with the children.

Announcement was made of the annual fun fair on November 9; notices will be sent home to parents asking them for donations to the various tables and their full co-operation.

The meeting closed with the children leading the singing of "O Canada" and everyone adjourned for coffee, pop and donuts. Next general meeting will be the Christmas meeting in December.

GUIDE AND BROWNIE NOTES

6TH GIRL GUIDE COMPANY

Reported by Guide Cheryl Edwards

On October 8, the 6th Richmond Hill Guide Company held an investment ceremony for Charleen Rayson who was enrolled as a provincial cadet. Charleen is the first provincial cadet in all the 12 years of guiding in Richmond Hill.

Madam Commissioner Mrs. Milligan and Lieutenant Mrs. Milligan were present. On behalf of the company, Josephine Knight presented Charleen with a gift to show appreciation for her work within the company.

Along with Charleen's enrolment a few of the girls received badges. Brenda Haviland and Colleen Wagner received hostess berrie and Arlene Furry, Laura Noree and Cheryl Edwards received their athlete badge and Cheryl Edwards received her commonwealth badge.

After campfire, refreshments were served and the company closed with taps.

The book "Brooms, Buttons and Beaux," by Emily Dow, is all about a world of facts for girls in their teens. Mrs. Dow tells you everything that a mother's helper should know in order to be truly successful when helping mom or even when you are next door at a paying job.

The author tells you the proper way to wash dishes and make beds. She tells you how to treat stubborn stains, silk and synthetic fabrics, sweaters and woollen articles. (She also tells how to clean spots and stains and gives you dozens of examples.) This is only part of the first chapter and there are 12 in all.

The most interesting chapter to me, was the one on how to give your room a new look. You are shown through diagrams and writing how to do such things as to wallpaper your room the proper way, how to make curtains to give your room a new personality, how to construct a dainty little dressing table, just like your mother's.

The author also tells you where to place your study corner and how to take care of it. If you are handy with a saw, nail and paintbrush try making yourself a pair of book ends or maybe if you prefer a sewing machine follow the instructions and make a shoe bag or maybe try to make a wastepaper basket which can be easily painted and decorated to go with the colour scheme of your room.

Why not try it, it could be a lot of fun even though it is not quite as elegant as the store bought furniture which so many people insist on.

However, I must admit that I have not tried any of these ideas and I don't think I ever will, but I do know one thing and that is that I truly enjoyed reading "Brooms, Buttons and Beaux". I am sure that every growing girl whether in her teens or not will enjoy this very interesting book.

Headford Congregation Learns About Trinidad

BY MRS. LOREN GUILD

Mr. Idris Hamid at the service Sunday morning in Headford held the interest of the congregation as they heard him talk of his homeland, Trinidad.

He used a map showing areas of production in the country, of oil, sugar and coconuts. This small sunlit land is 2,000 miles square. He said it would go nicely into Lake Ontario and still leave plenty of room for swimming. The population is 900,000. Trinidad is an independent country with her own flag and national anthem and while not approximating the high standard of living in Canada neither is she a country of poverty.

Columbus named the island for the Trinity. Three hundred years ago the English captured it from Spaniards, the slave trade developed and Africans were brought in. Indentured labourers, imported from India and the original two native tribes were swallowed up in the ethnic mixture. The population is approximately 45% African, 35% Indian and the balance, English, Spanish, Chinese, Portuguese etc., he said.

Religious Influence
Mr. Hamid spoke particularly of the religious influence in the development of his country. He is of Indian parentage and was a Moslem but no matter what race or religion a child in Trinidad may attend any denominational school without prejudice or religious pressure. However, a recent challenge to the Christian churches has arisen. Since Pakistan and India received their independence they are campaigning for the religious exclusiveness of Hindu and Moslem.

Growth of education in Trinidad stems from the efforts of one man. Over one hundred years ago John Morton visited Trinidad in search of better health, was appalled by the poverty and ill usage of the poor people and determined to do something about it. When he returned to Canada so fervid was his plea to the Presbytery that he was sent to Trinidad as the first missionary, in 1868. His first school was on his doorstep and his pupils were a group of ragged underfed youngsters. There are now 73 primary schools, six secondary schools, one teacher's training school and a theological seminary. In evangelism, the Protestant church has established 140 churches, 30 part churches with a membership of 40,000.

Tribute to WMS
Mr. Hamid paid tribute to the former WMS organization which inaugurated schools for girls and now have 800 pupils. This he pointed out was a truly great accomplishment because the attitude of the Trinidadians was that girls did not need an education to marry and keep house. Local girls are now carrying on the work in schools and as deaconesses. The church in Trinidad receives help from the Canadian church and they have set a

Pole Climber Hurt
A Thanksgiving task Michael Calder imposed upon himself was to raise a flag pole to accommodate a flag in his possession but David Terry considered the pole a challenge to climb. He slipped and escaped serious eye injury. The lid was badly cut and needed stitches. There was reason for thanking for "what might have been."

Albert Leek was one of two 4-H members to represent York County at a tractor competition at Guelph, a follow-up for the tractor club course in 4-H. It was necessary for the contestants to identify parts and to explain mechanical difficulties of out of order tractors. The boys spent a day gaining interest and valuable experience about the campus and enjoyed a banquet before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Leek are with the Elmer Leeks while Mrs. Leek is recuperating from her last operation.

Friends will be glad to know that she is progressively improving and they will be returning to their own home very soon.

No Service Sunday
Owing to the anniversary services at Victoria Square October 27 there will be no service or Sunday school in Headford Church. Members are urged to worship with the congregation at Victoria Square.

Plans are complete for the euchre and bridge to be held in Victoria Square Community Hall October 28 under the sponsorship of C.H.V.S. Branch of York Central Hospital Auxiliary.

Cheese Cake Recipe?
Do you know what a "Hated Kit" is? This is a recipe from an old cook book. Read it and think of the good old days. Warm slightly over the fire two pints of buttermilk. Pour it into a dish and carry it to the side of a cow. (I am not making this up.) Milk into it about one pint of milk, having previously put into the dish sufficient rennet for the whole. After allowing it to stand for awhile, lift the curd, place it on a sieve and press the whey through until the curd is quite stiff. Season with sugar and nutmeg before serving. Whip some thick cream, season it all so with sugar and nutmeg and mix gently with the curd.

The cook adds with consideration: "If you do not have a cow, the dish can be made without milking the cow into it, although direct milking puts a better 'hat' on the kit." I do admire our great grandmothers. I expect that this is an early stage in the development of a cheese cake.
