Bazaar
 The bazaar held on November 23, under the auspices of the Carrville United Church Women was officially opened by Mrs. A. I. Higgins at 2 p.m. The tables were laden with lovely articles to be sold revealing all the talents of the Carrville ladies. The baking goods table certainly gave everybody who saw all the goodies, the impression that the ladies certainly don't hide their skills in a sewing basket either.

The convenor for the bazaar Mrs. Adam Reid would like to extend to her committee the members of the U.C.W. group and everyone else who kindly donated to the bazaar her warmest thanks for helping to make the bazaar the huge success it was.

Fruit Growing
 Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bushell are solving the problem of the high cost of citrus for themselves right in their own hot house. They are growing them and grow them they can. On a small grapefruit tree there hang six beautiful, big grapefruit. They are not quite ripe yet but if wishing they were and looking at them speeded the process any they would have been ready months ago. The tree first bloomed in May so it apparently takes quite a long time for the fruit to mature.

Mr. and Mrs. Bushell, besides having the grapefruit tree have a poinsettia. Well folks will say anyone can have a poinsettia, but not usually have they one over six feet tall. It will certainly add a lovely accent in their home in the Christmas season fast approaching us. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bushell attended the graduation exercises at the Thornhill Secondary School on November 15, when their daughter Beverley graduated. Beverley is attending business college and we wish her all the best in her chosen career.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Read, and Mrs. Bruce Bordon attended the christening of Frederick William Harford, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Harford, in St. David's Anglican Church, Weston on Sunday afternoon.

L.O.L. 99 met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barton on November 18, for their election of officers meeting.

Happy birthday to Larry Wade who has a birthday on November 29.
 Once again folks I extend an invitation to give me a call whenever you might have a bit of news that you think your fellow readers would like to read. Now with the Christmas season setting in there will be lots of visitors and events going in every home. Let me know for I will be only too happy to put it in our Carrville column. Just call 285-4001 and ask for Mary.

MARKHAM: Main Street Business Men's Association will enter a float in the December 7 Santa Claus parade which will proceed down Main Street to the Shopping Centre. The float will then return to Main Street.

WILLOWDALE: North York Councillor Irving Paisley has suggested the township provide a snow shovelling service for homeowners. He said snow shovelling should be included in the regular street maintenance routine of the works department as a "community service."

Caught In The Act

Godfrey Ralston (Grant Marshall) is caught in an embarrassing pose with his cousin Jill (Joan Plume) when Mrs. Hallie Ralston (Joan Mallory) arrives unexpectedly from Junction Hill. It was all part of what the patrons to Cousin Jill from Junction Hill will see to-night (Thursday) at Richmond Hill United Church when St. Matthew's Players go into action. Merry Kendrick (Lilly Martin) wants to see what all the trouble is.

York Central Soon
 600 Bed Hospital

"We now realize that all the work we have done will culminate November 28," said Douglas Storms, chairman of the board of trustees of the York Central Hospital Auxiliary at Richmond Hill United Church recently.

Although the official opening of the hospital is to be held today, Mr. Storms noted the hospital would not be entirely finished and patients would not be admitted until mid-December. Mr. Storms commented particularly on the beauty of the interior decoration of the hospital with its magnificent use of colour. Not only are the rooms truly beautiful, he stated, but the view out over the hospital's 15 acres of land is also beautiful and it is possible to see St. Clair Avenue from the top floor.

While the hospital to begin with would not have such luxuries as a board room or a chapel, he prophesied these would not be long in coming and that the building would be a 600 bed hospital very shortly.

Mr. Storms stressed selection of staff had been very carefully made and that the heads of various services are excellent people. "You can have confidence that if you go to that hospital you will receive the finest of attendance in a most beautiful building" he stated.

The meeting opened with the serving of dessert and coffee and was designated by Mrs. Ruth Miller, president of the York Central Hospital Auxiliary, who presided, as strictly a "fun night".

Mrs. Miller drew the members' attention to the displays of hand work at the front of the hall, including stuffed toys for the hospital gift shop, made and arranged by members of the gift shop committee under the direction of Mrs. William Finlay. The display received an "honourable mention" at the convention of the Ontario Auxiliaries Association held at the Royal York Hotel recently. Some pages for an auxiliary scrap book being compiled by Mrs. D. Fayle were also on display, as well as some dolls dressed by Mrs. J. G. MacMicking, a baby layette made by the Pleasantville Auxiliary (several of these are to be kept on hand at the hospital and will be given free of charge to needy patients); and a display of party hats and tray favours in different themes to be used for patients in the hospital. These were the work of Mrs. Stuart Parker.
