Okay Planning Agency Salaries Affect Yk. Manor Costs

"I think this is the first time since 1958 when all the facts have been assembled. We must enter the field of planning with compromises for all but I personally don't think planning is all border disputes and I would be ashamed not to spend some of the people's money on planning. The heck with petty politics," the North Gwillimbury reeve said.

Reeve Garriock said there was plenty of advice now available about planning. "You'll only be confused at a higher level," he said.
Vaughan Deputy-reeve Jesse Bryson said planning was a definite part of the municipal life although the lines forming Metro boundaries may change. "Expensive Experiment"

Markham Township Deputy-reeve Stewart Rumble, a member of the planning committee, called the plan "a very expensive experiment" which he said would create overlapping functions in the southern six municipalities.

In a comment on the section involving the agency from taking part in any disputes, Reeve Garriock said, "All planning problems ARE between neighbouring communities; if the planner is left out, what's his use? If we're going to pay for something in the southern six the north wants, I'm in favor as long as we get some use out of it."

Received a letter from the Richmond Hill Public School Board stating the board's portion of the funds available for loan under the municipal works assistance program, in the amount of $97,272.65, may be used by the town if desired.

It was noted that it would be impossible to give the board definite assurance that the town would use this amount by March 1, as requested, but that such assurance would be given in time for the board to make application on their own if the town decides it cannot use this amount. It was noted that this is highly unlikely.

Hill Town Council Briefs

Monday night Richmond Hill Town Council in a meeting which lasted just one hour dealt with the following items of business:

Referred a motion by Councillor William Lazenby and Reeve James Haggart that a speed limit of 15 miles per hour be posted in the town park to the police committee for consideration.

Councillor Lazenby reported he had received a request for such action noting that the mere posting of a speed limit could be a safety factor. The number of children in the park and at the area should receive some beneficial effect from this limitation of speed. Councillor Mrs. Lois Hancey reported she also had received a similar request and that the police committee already has it under consideration.

Decided to set up a mayor's committee for town improvement. Mayor Thomas Broadhurst felt "a crying need exists for somebody to be solely concerned with the appearance of the town. With the wide variety of talent in the town which can be tapped I feel that a great deal can be done to improve the appearance of the town at a minimum cost." It was agreed that the same committee should be charged with coming up with ideas on how the town could celebrate Canada's centennial in 1967.

Referred to the town's solicitor a letter dated February 11 from William Page, 57 Palmer Avenue. The letter claimed that during the early part of January the writer's wife "broke her hip at the south-east corner of Church and Palmer. The accident was caused by a very bad sloping corner and very slippery conditions which the works department had done nothing to rectify but did so after the accident". The writer also complained of slippery roads and no sanding. Mayor Broadhurst pointed out there was a time limitation on such claims. Clerk Russell Lynett confirmed that notice of accidents must be received within 10 days. The town's insurance company will also be notified of this accident on the suggestion of Councillor Robert Saunders.

Area Group Only Bell Choir In Canada

The only bell choir in Canada will play in the Richmond Hill High School Auditorium on Wednesday evening, February 26, when the York Choralers are giving a variety concert in aid of York Central Hospital.

If you have heard the carillon at Ottawa or if you are old enough to remember the touring "Musical Eckhardts", Swiss bell-ringers, who played in small and large Ontario communities in the 20's and 30's, you will have some idea of the beautiful music produced by bells.

You have to hear them to know how beautiful their music is.

Ten ladies all with a good musical background comprise the Diamond Bell Ringers. Leader is Mrs. Vera Diamond and practices are held in her home at 100 Patricia Avenue, Willowdale, every Tuesday night.

The copper bells are handmade in The White Chapel Bell Foundry, London, England. They cost a considerable sum and are insured. Ringers always wear gloves because perspiration will tarnish the bells. Mrs. Diamond owns 26, each marked with the key letter and their range is two octaves.

How did Mrs. Diamond become a bell ringer? She is organist and choir leader at Richmond Hill Presbyterian Church where she conducts a junior, intermediate and senior choir. She was previously assistant organist at Newtonbrook United and for four and one-half years was organist at Royce Presbyterian in Toronto.

For three summers she attended The Church Institute at Alfred University, New York City. Courses are given in organ and choral conducting and in handbells — which particularly appealed to her. Last year she attended an area festival in New York and an all-state festival for handbell ringers in Detroit. She is a member of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers. Her musical friends caught some of her enthusiasm and they formed a choir.

NEWMARKET: Most of the residents of Newmarket feel that a community centre would be the best way for the town to mark Canada's centennial in 1967. This is the result of a survey conducted by the local Jaycees.

Markham Police To Hire Night Radio Operator

Markham Township Police Department has been authorized by council to employ a night clerk dispatcher at a salary of $2,400 a year.

In a report to committee in council Chief Harvey Cox said the employment of a clerk in the police office was proving satisfactory and suggested "that employment of an additional man for the evening shift will relieve a constable for regular duty."

more concerned about the annual maintenance cost of the vocational addition "which will be substantial."
"In refusing this application," Mr. Rumble continued, "I feel the ratepayers should have a chance to vote on it. I feel it too much. They should vote for it if they feel they can afford it."

Councillor Hoover agreed with Mr. Rumble's viewpoint noting the "increase would require about three mills on that debenture issue alone. Properties in value if we don't put a halt to it."

"If the board wants to go ahead let it be put in the taxpayer's hands," he concluded.

Councillor Sloane summed up his position simply saying that "in big business the board of directors takes it to the shareholders before deciding. Maybe we should govern ourselves accordingly."

Councillor Palmer stated councillors were elected by the people to "make the decisions and I don't feel we should go back to ask the people what to do."

He added he had complete confidence in the school board's judgement stating they had given the matter careful thought before deciding on its necessity.

"Besides," he said, "I don't like putting the ratepayers to the cost of an election."

Reeve Charles Hooper noted it was "a very contentious question."

"It's too costly for me to vote for," commented Deputy-reeve Rumble.

Council was informed that the village of Markham had approved its share of the $675,000. The township's share would have totalled about $325,000.

builders and others in the construction industry toys with the health of the home owner and the entire community," he said.
Dr. King suggested there might be some improvement in the suburban or semi-rural situation if the builder or subdivider was required to guarantee the tank's operation over a reasonable period.

A Vaughan case was cited in which the septic failed to the extent raw sewage leaked through the walls of a suburban home.

The doctor also reported one case of typhoid fever in York County last year.

"Typhoid has become rare but can't be forgotten in the everyday public health defenses against this disease," he said.

Too much reliance on septic tanks for waste disposal where the water supply is from a close by private well, as is the case in many semi-rural and resort areas in the county, runs the risk of further typhoid infection, Dr. King said.
