Toronto Cabbie Turned Around Fined $150, Costs

A Toronto taxi driver with a poor sense of direction was convicted of impaired driving in Richmond Hill Magistrate's Court although he claimed he had only had a few drinks.

Harris F. Noseworthy, about 45, of Manor Road, Toronto, pleaded not guilty to the charge laid by Markham Township Police July 22 when Constables Bruce Findlay and Albert Hudson found him asleep at the wheel of his car parked on Yonge Street in Richvale.

Const. Findlay said the ignition key was at the "off" position but tail and headlights were both on when he and Constable Hudson stopped at the car. The officer said he woke Noseworthy who at first refused to get out of the car. Const. Findlay said there was a small bottle of liquor in the back seat.

"I asked him where he thought he was and he replied, 'Wilson Avenue.' I told him he was in Richvale," Const. Findlay said.

Const. Hudson corroborated the evidence. He said Noseworthy admitted to having a few drinks at a Willowdale hotel "and got caught".

Noseworthy on his own behalf said he had been up early and working all day and apparently got twisted around when he left the hotel.

He was fined $150 and $22.50 costs.

When he asked if he could drive his car home, the magistrate gave an emphatic "No!"

Here's a smile for you

Two wealthy playboys were discussing the fate of a friend who had just paid out $25,000.00 damages to a chorus girl who sued for breach of promise.

"But did you hear what finally happened?" said one. "She was hit by a car as she left the court but was only awarded $400 damages."

"Just goes to show you," said the other. "Never play with a woman's heart. Just kick her in the ribs."

If you once start sending your shirts to our laundry service we predict you'll 'kick' yourself for not doing it long ago. Not only will the girl in your life appreciate being free of the tedious job but you will be very pleased with the quality and promptness of our work. Just call us for pick up and delivery.

They're Really Good Guys

A pail full for the swimming pool raised recently when Kent Clothiers, local softball team, met CKEY Good Guys in a hilarious exhibition ball game in the town park. In spite of cold weather a substantial sum was realized for the swimming pool fund.

Markham Bucks Industrial Annexation

F. Price who owns and operates the ABC Bowling Alley on this property is anxious to extend his present operation to the parking lot to the front parking lot would permit closing of two entrances. This would move entrances and exits farther away from the corner and relieve traffic congestion in the area.

Re-zoning

Only three objections had been received by closing date October 1 on the proposed rezoning on the eastern side of town. Two of these were on the one Cedar Avenue property, Thomas Murphy, representing the owners of this property asked that the zoning be reverted to its former zoning of R3B. He maintained that with industrial development across Cedar Avenue, the land was not suitable for single family housing.

Planning board indicated to council that it would have no objections to the two properties under question reverting to the former zoning of R3B.

Mr. William Bunker's application for division of his Mill Street property was approved with the provision that 13 feet be added for widening of the road.

Art Show By Former Elgin Mills Resident

An interesting exhibition of paintings will be at the Gordon Maclaren Auditorium of Richmond Hill Public Library for one month starting on October 12.

They are the work of Mrs. Ruth Carlyle of Toronto, the former Ruth Heeley of Elgin Mills.

Mrs. Carlyle began painting less than two years ago as a therapeutic measure following a severe nervous breakdown. As her technique improved and her confidence in her ability to speak through canvas grew, so did her determination to prove herself to the public.

"Perhaps," said Mrs. Carlyle speaking about her paintings, "my work is not yet the best, but it is an expression of my feelings and an indication to others who have been mentally ill that there is not only hope but that to have been mentally ill is not synonymous with ignorance, lack of ability or strength of character."

The paintings exhibited will be for sale and Mrs. Carlyle intends to use the proceeds to help those recovering from mental illness.

Sewage Main Bid Awarded By Twp.

Donegal Construction Company Limited was awarded the contract, subject to proper approvals to supply approximately 2,000 feet of sewage mains along Keele Street in Vaughan Township's industrial area.

The contract, at a bid price of $15,103, was lowest of nine submitted to Vaughan Council last Monday night.

Highest bid was that of T. Collini Company Limited for $49,141.

Township Clerk Jim McDonald said the engineers' estimates placed the price of the work around the $20,000 mark.

Second low bid was that of Romano Construction Company for $16,170.

CNE Mgr. Bert Powell Farms Near Newmarket

The recently-appointed general manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, Lambert Clay (Bert) Powell, is no stranger to York County.

Farming has been a sideline with him for 20 years and he raised prize Aberdeen Angus cattle at a 50-acre farm on Leslie Street up until 12 years ago. When the farm was sold, he continued to live in a house in the area.

Mr. Powell has recently acquired a home and 100-acre farm near Newmarket and plans to move there shortly. He raises and rides hunter horses and shows hacking ponies.

Mr. Powell has been assistant general manager of the CNE since 1963 and advertising manager since 1950. He is a former amateur boxer and won a Golden Gloves tournament in Winnipeg as a featherweight. He was also a Mann Cup lacrosse player with the Brampton Excelsiors.

He and Mrs. Powell, the former Kathleen Dunn have two children, Clay, a lawyer in the Ontario Attorney-general's Department, and Mrs. Robert Sillcox, a resident of King Township.

Elects His Trial By High Court

A request from a recent arrival from Scotland to have his case heard before a judge and jury resulted in a mild flurry Tuesday at Richmond Hill.

George Alexander Davidson, about 30, who was charged with theft of $100 from Frances Ryan of R. R. 1, Milliken October 1, was in custody when he appeared in magistrate's court.

Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake was prepared to proceed with the case when on the advice of legal aid, bail was set at $200 cash or property when it was learned a brother of Davidson's lived in Richmond Hill.

When asked how he wanted his case heard, he asked for a judge and jury trial which requires the magistrate to hold a preliminary hearing.

A date for the hearing was set at October 13.

Stouffville
Rev. C. E. Fockler, 85, of Markham was recently honored on the occasion of his 60th anniversary of ordination into the ministry.
