Sod Turning At Emmanuel Anglican Church

Tradition played an important part in the Harvest Festival celebration at Emmanuel Anglican Church, Richvale, last Sunday. The services also marked the fifth anniversary of the church in Richvale and the 58th anniversary of Emmanuel Church in Hanlan's Point, whose gifts of furnishings are treasured by the Richvale congregation.

The day also was marked by the turning of the sod for the new and permanent church building. Henry Glover, who had helped build up the Emmanuel tradition on the Island, was chosen to turn the first sod as an apt and fitting tribute to the erstwhile island church.

The Rev. J. E. Speers, B.A., B.Th., Rural Dean of York, preached the sermon at the morning service which preceded the sod-turning ceremony. In keeping with the theme of the day, he spoke of the traditions of Christian service handed down from the Hanlan's Point to the Richvale congregation. The junior and senior choirs combined in the singing of an anthem, "Sing to the Lord of Harvest."

The flowers on the altar were offered to the glory of God by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ince as a memorial to Mrs. Ince's father, M. Kaufman.

One hundred and ninety people attended the sod-turning service, including Rev. F. C. Jackson who ministered at Emmanuel before the present incumbent, and is now assisting at Holy Trinity, Thornhill; Rev. J. F. O'Neil from St. Mary's, Richmond Hill, who was represented at the harvest service by Winslow Case, one of his lay readers; and Rev. Canon H. W. Buchner, the Dean of Divinity at Trinity College.

David Brooman the new student-assistant at Emmanuel and People's Warden Leslie Walters read the lessons of the day.

Immediately after the blessing at the morning service, the clergy and choir proceeded out of the church and took up their designated positions for the ground-breaking ceremony. They were followed by the members of the congregation.

At conclusion of the outdoor ceremony, all present were served a buffet luncheon in the rectory by members of the W.A.

Remembered in prayers during the service was Rev. Edward Morley, who is ill and who ministered for several years to the congregation after it had been organized by Rev. H. C. Newton-Smith. At first the congregation met in the Charles Howitt Public School for church and Sunday school services. It then moved to the portable church on MacKay Drive which will be replaced by the new church for which the ground was broken on Sunday.

When Emmanuel Church at Hanlan's Point was closed because of clearing residences from Toronto Island five years ago, the furnishings and treasures of that church were turned over to the Richvale congregation for safekeeping, in an impressive ceremony. Amongst these treasures were two plaques in memory of Greer McGolpin and his son William, who were generous contributors and motivating factors in the establishment of the church at Hanlan's Point.

The basement of the new church will be named the McGolpin Memorial Hall in their honor.

Also honored during the luncheon period were the wives of present and former rectors, Mrs. Edward Morley, Mrs. F. C. Jackson and Mrs. Kenneth Thatcher.

Three Week Holiday In England Enjoyed By Richmond Hill Couple

After three weeks in England Dorothy and Gordon Cockburn have returned to their home at 249 Harrygan Crescent.

Arriving on their silver wedding anniversary, they drove from London to Welling, to the home of Gordon's sister, Mrs. E. Priest, where there was an exciting family reunion, followed by an anniversary celebration. Their headquarters during their stay was at the home of Dorothy's nephew, Mr. A. Cast at Bexley Heath, which was their old home. The next few days were spent visiting old friends and neighbors—one evening spent square dancing, which was great fun. Following the wedding of Gordon's niece, Pauline, on September 5 they drove through the beautiful Cotswolds, stopping at Stratford-on-Avon, exploring and having lunch at the Old Inn. They visited the Abbot family, former neighbors of Harrygan Crescent, who have a beautiful 18th century home, set in lovely grounds. Their daughter Lesley is now attending a boarding school at Goudhurst, Kent and Kevin a local nursery school. The Abbot's had just returned from a holiday in Spain in company with the Len Jones family, former residents of the Hill. All are very happily settled in England. The Cockburns spent four very happy days with the Abbots, going into Wales and having a picnic on the Black Mountain, and visiting Birmingham to see the now three storeyed indoor shopping plaza.

On leaving the Abbots they made their way through Somerset, Dorset, Devon, Torquay and Babbacombe, spending one night at the new hotel on the Exeter bypass. Continuing down the coast through Sleaford Sidmouth, Lyme Regis to Bournemouth, they stayed with Mrs. D. Cross, mother of Neville Cross, Wenlock Street. From there they travelled inland through Arundel, Seaford, Eastbourne, cut inland at Hastings and back to Bexleyheath. Their last few days were spent touring Kent and Sussex visiting many old inns, then to Tunbridge Wells to visit Dorothy's niece, Mrs. George Plant where she teaches school.

A day in Greenwich where they went over the Cutty Sark, a very old famous frigate concluded their holiday.

The English hospitality and the warm welcome they received throughout their entire stay, contributed to the Cockburns' wonderful holiday. They hope England will continue to prosper, and they look forward to their return visit.
