Enjoyable Trip

Allan and Marjorie Fitchett with teen-age daughters Peggy and Patsy set off this summer from their Crestwood Road home in a new car and house trailer for a six week vacation. This trip had been planned for some time. They covered 10,521 miles, wore out two tires, but had no car trouble took 19 rolls of movie film and 350 slide pictures.

Leaving June 30, they drove to the Grundy Lake Provincial Park, approximately 200 miles. Travelling via the Trans Canada Highway, they visited Kakabeka Falls near Fort William, not quite as large as Niagara Falls. Crossing the prairies, they visited Falcon Lake in Manitoba and were amazed to find that 12 o'clock midnight was almost as bright as 12 o'clock noon there. At Regina, they visited the government buildings and the museum. Next stop was Moose Jaw. At Calgary, they parked their trailer in Happy Valley Park and saw the Calgary stampede. They had the pleasure of seeing Juliette, Gordie Howe and Wilf Carter.

At Banff they all went swimming in the hot springs and then went through Jo-Ho Valley north towards Jasper and Mosquito Creek. They rode on the Whitehorn chair lift and viewed Lake Louise from a 6,700 foot elevation.

At about 7,300 feet up, they found the Columbia ice fields very cold. They were surprised to meet a neighbor, Ross Tustin from Willowdale there.

While camped at the Miette Hot Springs at Rocky River Camp, they saw a herd of elk. At Edmonton, they visited a game farm and then spent some time with friends on a farm at Dawson Creek.

Going south to Kamloops, in British Columbia, they encountered 95 degree temperature and followed the Trans Canada Highway to the Fraser Canyon, spending a night in Swedish Park at Capelino Suspension Park. In Stanley Park they saw the largest totem pole in existence. In Westminster, they visited the University of British Columbia and took the ferry across to Nanaimo.

In Victoria they visited the Buchard Gardens as well as Ann Hathaway's cottage and the wax museum. There was also an interesting undersea museum.

Following the Pacific coast, they then travelled down through the United States to Oregon and then to California where they went through the redwood forest. Their car slipped easily through the 20' by 20' "world's largest tree house" but the trailer couldn't make it.

They visited Disneyland and Los Angeles and spent some time with relatives and former neighbors from Crestwood Rd., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keetes and family.

A high temperature of 105 degrees met them on their trip through the desert, on their way to Los Vegas, Nevada, where they marvelled at all the gambling houses. Moving on to view the Grand Canyon, the temperature dipped to 56 degrees, which a big drop, any way you look at it. They visited the lava flow and the petrified forest, bringing home samples of the logs, which look just like glass.

Travelling to New Mexico and Colorado they saw the cliff dwellers' caves, Treasure Falls and the Great Divide, climbing from 2,700 feet to 10,200 feet on a nine mile hill.

They took the Santa Fe trail to Dodge City and stopped at Greensburg to see the world's largest dry well.

In Indiana they stayed at Cokkia Mounts Park then took the Lincoln trail up through Ohio and back to Canada. They left June 30 and arrived home again August 9.

Maurice Moreau MP Speaks Out For Maintenance Of Federal Powers

Maurice Moreau, Liberal Member of Parliament for York-Scarboro, speaking recently at Shawinigan Falls warned French-speaking Canadians that they would be the greatest losers from fragmentation of federal powers. Seventeen polls in Markham Township are in the federal riding which Mr. Moreau represents in Parliament. He was first elected in 1963.

The following excerpts from a recent editorial in the London Free Press is typical of the favorable reception Mr. Moreau's comments have received in the Canadian press from coast to coast.

"Mr. Moreau told an audience of business and professional men that if a Canadian identity is to be maintained the federal authority must be supreme in such matters as monetary policy, immigration, tariffs and trade.

Reeve Goodhead Suggests Subway North To Aurora

Reeve Norman Goodhead was the guest speaker at the October 7 meeting of the York Chapter, Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario, held at La Colony Restaurant, Aurora.

Mr. Goodhead was quite outspoken about the difficulties of reconciling the needs and objectives of the city of Toronto proper with those of suburban municipalities. He felt that not enough engineers were entering politics and that their training and experience would be of invaluable assistance in meeting the increasingly complex problems being faced by governing bodies today.

Mr. Goodhead was strongly in favour of commuter service to Toronto and deplored the abandoning of the old metropolitan radial system which once went as far north as Sutton. He felt too, that the subway could quite sensibly be extended to such places as Aurora and Stouffville.

Newmarket Firm Aids Children As Customers' Christmas Gifts

Two children in Hong Kong, one in India, one in Greece, two in Italy, one in Germany and one in Martinique, eight in all, are aided by a unique Christmas gift plan adopted by Peter Gorman, well-known Newmarket wholesaler.

The firm used to spend about $400 a year on Christmas gifts plus $100 on liquor. Four years ago Mr. Gorman heard about the Save the Children Fund and was so moved by conditions under which so many children in the world exist that he decided to do something about it.

Now he spends about $650 annually to help the children by sending the money to the CSCF fund and letting his customers know what the money has done. Last year he told his customers that an eight-year-old Indian boy who had never attended school is now at school and doing well; a 16-year-old leprosy victim is improving and two Hong Kong children have been able to start school.

Mr. Gorman is a Roman Catholic and has specified that the children "adopted" in lieu of Christmas gifts to his customers must be of all religions and races.

The first year he sent out cards and pictures of the children, giving a short history of each. Reaction was favorable and has led to the "adoption" of at least 40 other children, Mr. Gorman reports.

Says Mr. Gorman: "I wish I had thought of this years ago. As a result of it, Christmas has become a happier time for us and my customers also seem to like receiving the progress reports."

It costs $60 to "adopt" a specific child for a year. The Gormans have eight children of their own.

Annual Plowing Match At Macklin Farm Next Tues.

Next Tuesday the annual plowing match sponsored by the King-Vaughan branch of the Ontario Plowmen's Association will be held at the Jack Macklin farm on the King Side-road, near Temperanceville.

Eleven classes with $1,400 in cash and goods offered in prizes will, it is expected, draw a large field of entrants to the annual event. There are classes for horses and tractors, in single and gang plows.

One class is restricted to residents of King and Vaughan Townships, another provides competition for boys and girls, 16 years and under.

There are also two utility classes which involve no handling but in which the speed in which the plowing is done is the prime object. These are always of great interest for spectators and are scheduled for late afternoon.

Also included is the Esso Class for mounted plows which is open to those over 18 who have never won a trip. This award carries a cash prize of $15 and an opportunity to compete in next year's International Match for an all-expense-paid trip, usually to British Columbia.

The Eaton's Class is open to juniors, 18 years and under; and the International Harvester for the best plowed land with a mounted plow, three or more furrows.

Entries are received on the day of the match — with good weather prospects are for a large number of enthusiastic plowmen.

Aubrey Doan, Newmarket RR 2, is president of the King - Vaughan Plowmen; Andrew McClure, Woodbridge, RR 3 is secretary and Jack Macklin, King RR 3 is treasurer.

Many factors enter into the judges' decisions in these matches — crown, body of the land, finish, ins and outs, straightness and uniformity.

Organized originally as an aid for farmers in learning the proper methods of plowing, these annual matches are still filling that need. As one officer of the King - Vaughan Plowmen told "The Liberal", "a farmer who does a good job of plowing does a good job of farming in all its aspects."

The banquet and presentation of trophies and prizes will be held the same evening at Snowball United Church.
