years, visited with his former neighbors while in town.

Mrs. W. J. Perry and her daughter Cindy, 102 Arnold Avenue, entertained after the hair fashion show October 27 for a group of friends who attended the event. Cindy was one of the models who appeared in the show.

Latest In Wig Fashions Modelled At Hair Show

An attentive group of Thornhill ladies watched a fascinating display of the latest in hair fashions at the St. Luke's Separate School auditorium on October 27.

Sponsored by the St. Luke's CWL, the show was put on by the Rialto Beauty Boutique, Yonge Street, Thornhill. Mrs. June Mallon, president of the CWL was the mistress of ceremonies.

Lucy Rogers of Wig Creations of Canada gave a demonstration of wigs, postiche and switches. Two wigs were passed among the audience for close examination. One, machine made, was of coarser hair and weighed about four ounces. The other, a hand made one, was of finer hair and weighed less than two ounces.

Miss Rogers stated that the cost of a good wig varies according to the type and color, the pale shades being the most expensive. Upkeep of a wig can cost from $6 to $15 every five weeks but Miss Rogers noted that some wig owners learn to care for and set their wigs themselves and become quite proficient at it.

Wig making is largely a European art and all orders taken by Wig Creations of Canada are sent over to Europe with meticulous measurements and specifications as to color. The law requires that all hair be sterilized and thoroughly processed before the initial wig making is done. Miss Rogers advised too, that all European wigs are made from hair that has never been bleached, tinted, or permanently waved.

Mrs. Helen McNally modelled a soft, short pale blonde wig and Mrs. Mona Guse a short auburn wig. An attractive ash blonde, Miss Rogers was her own best advertisement. She was wearing a wig, a perfect match for her own hair, with her natural hairline showing.

The use of the postiche or small wig was also demonstrated. Don Perry, hair stylist from the Rialto Boutique combed out Mrs. Elsie Parker's gorgeous red hair and worked a matching switch into it to create a sophisticated hair style.

Miss Rogers also gave a brief talk on men's hair pieces. When a man arrives at the salon to inquire about a hair piece, they know he is definitely going to buy, she stated. Once he has finally mustered up enough nerve to approach an expert, he never turns back. Women on the other hand, take longer to make up their minds and usually shop around first. Although expensive, men's hair pieces are becoming very popular with the "thin on top" types.

Marjorie Smith, "Miss Clair", gave a bright and interesting talk on the art of hair coloring, explaining thoroughly the different types of tints and beaches. Attractive models, their hair colored in luscious shades, beautifully styled by Mr. Don, paraded across the stage and through the audience. "Miss Clair" commented on each of the models and drew attention to the use of the small hair bows which added a very feminine touch to the beautifully groomed heads.

Long and short hair styles for the Junior Miss were modelled by little Cathy McNally and Tara McNully.

Winners of door prizes were Mrs. Patsy Bean, who won a voucher for $50 towards the purchase price of a wig, Mrs. Sheila Lacroix who won a voucher for a permanent wave, and Mrs. J. Emerson who won a voucher for a color and set.

Guides and Brownies

Guide and Brownie activities in Thornhill South are now well under way. On October 13, Brownies from the 3rd and 5th and 6th packs flew or walked up into the 1st and 4th Guide companies. Flying up were: E. P. S. Weedon, C. Craib, J. Whitori, S. Arnot; walking up were, J. Martin, F. Armstrong, K. Nickolas, A. Lennox and S. Salt.

October 17 the Guides of the 1st Thornhill under Guide E. Hanson and S. Steele were guests of the 3rd King City under Guiders W. Molevelt and D. Jones. Hiking, trail making and fire lighting tests preceded a huge campfire where the Guides enjoyed songs, fellowship, hot dogs and marshmallows.

October 17, Guides of the 4th Thornhill under Guide N. Davis enjoyed a bicycle hike to Pioneer Village.

October 17 was popular day for hikes. The 3rd Brownie pack went for a nature walk and ramble, ending up at Tawny Owl Marchion's place to build fires. Nine Brownies passed their tests for fire lighting. After the tests one fire was kept alive so the Brownies could enjoy refreshments.

On October 24 all the Brownies in Thornhill South gathered in fancy dress at Henderson Avenue School for a Halowe'en party. Judging of costumes, apple ducking, candy relays, a Halowe'en story and refreshments made this first district event an outstanding success. The party was planned by Brown Owl S. Stone assisted by Brownie leaders from all the packs, 3rd Brownies, E. Brannigan and Tawny Owl Marchion; 4th Brownies, B. Rogers, D. Jacobs and I. Darcite; 6th Brownies, B. Slinn; 7th Brownies M. Frost and L. Hagbarth.

A new Guide company has been formed in the Bayview Glen area under Captain E. Turner and Lieutenant A. Rhodes.

The Henderson mother's group has been busy this fall planning their annual one day sale of nuts to be held on November 21. This is their one effort of the year to raise money for Guide and Brownie work so they are hoping for a fine day and many customers.

Thirty-eight Guides of 2nd Thornhill Company with their leader Mrs. Joy Whitehead and two assistant leaders, Mrs. Sheila Rounthwaite and Mrs. Dorothy Fisher, with some parents who assisted with the transportation, toured the Cheeseborough-Ponds cosmetic factory in Markham on October 27. Scouts and Cubs

The 1st Thornhill Scouts and Cubs are having a father and son banquet on November 13 in the Thornhill United Hall.

To improve the effectiveness of the Scout program in 3rd Thornhill it is necessary (a) to avoid the preoccupation of the leadership with fund raising ventures (b) to redirect the activities of Cub and pack towards a balanced participation in the full range of scouting activities. These objectives can only be accomplished by meeting part of the financial burden through an assessment upon all members. Thornhill does not participate in the funds allotted to the Scout movement via United Appeal of Metro Toronto. The group assessment for the current year will be $3.00 for each Cub and $3.50 for each Scout.

The 3rd Thornhill Cub Pack had a most enjoyable Halowe'en party on their regular meeting night. First prize was awarded to Allan Jackson for his clever Frankenstein costume, second prize went to Kevin Doyle who was a robot, and third prize to Paul Johns, the Statue of Liberty.

Senior Citizens

The October meeting was held in the Thornhill United Hall October 21. After the singing of "O Canada" Mrs. Ada Rowe sang several beautiful songs. President Mrs. Mizen introduced a new member, Mrs. Gertrude White and visitors from the senior citizens of Richmond Hill, Mrs. A. Andrews, Mr. F. Rose, Mrs. E. Masters, Mr. and Mrs. Sheahan and Mr. and Mrs. E. Lomax. Mr. Lomax gave a very encouraging and interesting talk on the needs of the senior citizens and their special aims.

Mr. Sheahan then spoke to the United Senior Citizens convention which was held in London, Ontario in September. Mr. Rose entertained with his usual cheerful songs.

The following are the executive for the coming year: President, Mrs. E. H. Thompson; Past President, Mr. H. Mizen; Vice-president, Mr. Lusher; Treasurer, Mr. D. Baker; Secretary, Mrs. L. D. To-day hemophilia is no longer rare. Under proper management it is not a fatal malady. The life expectancy of Canada's estimated 2,300 males is the same as that of the general population.
