Slight Increase In Bell Rates

In conformity with the regulations of the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada, the Bell Telephone Company of Canada has reported to the board that the number of telephones in the Maple local calling area now exceeds the present rate group.

If the board directs the company to re-classify the Maple exchange into the next higher rate group, telephone rates would be increased slightly to make them the same as those paid in other exchanges with a similar number of telephones in their local calling areas, R.

J. MacDonald, Bell manager for this area, explained. For example, the monthly charge for two-party residence service would be increased by 20 cents and individual residence service by 25 cents.

Telephone rates for local service in any exchange are governed by the number of telephones in the local calling areas, recognizing the principle that the value of service to each customer increases as the number of telephones increases.

Telephone customers served by the Maple exchange now have 21,662 telephones in the local calling area.

The following table provides examples of the new monthly rates for typical classes of service in the present and new rate groups for the area:

Residence Service	Present No. 6	New No. 7
Individual	$4.40	$4.65
Two-Party	3.45	3.65
Multi-Party	3.15	3.25
Extension	1.25	1.25
Business Service
Individual	9.10	10.50
Two-Party	7.05	Not Applicable
Multi-Party	4.80	5.10
Extension	1.85	1.85

Concord News

Wedding of Interest
On November 8, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Keffer attended the wedding of Miss Rosaline Troisky to Chaim Steinfield, held at the New Murray House, Steele's Ave. W.

The ceremony itself took place in a room which seemed to be designed specifically for this type of occasion; the quadrangle was wider at the rear, narrowing at the front where a raised platform held the canopy-type altar which we had seen in synagogues.

The dinner following was held upstairs in one of the four dining rooms; these rooms are divided by enormous folding doors so that the four rooms may be made into one.

In comparison with the Hebrew ceremony, our Christian one seems almost too solemn, although I suppose there are some who would find the Hebrew ceremony a little casual.

An interesting ritual, thousands of years old, is the drinking of wine by the bride and groom from a common cup, after which the groom crushes this cup beneath his heel. Although we had seen this done before, its significance was not known until this particular wedding.

The rabbi explained that this represented the destruction of the temple in Jerusalem in Old Testament times, and ever after the temple is in the home, warm and which to me seems very symbolic at the same time occurs when the bride and groom are presented at the altar, each by his or her parents. This says to me that each family, having raised its offspring to maturity, is giving up its hold on that child and is presenting it to God and to a new life.

How did we get to the wedding in the first place? Well, Roz, the bride, is the secretary in Doug's office, and along with half the office staff we were fortunate enough to be included among the guests.

Dr. G. E. Reaman Speaks To Aurora Historical Society

A native of Concord and former resident of Richmond Hill, Dr. G. Elmore Reaman addressed the first meeting of the Aurora and District Historical Society recently.

A noted historian and author of "The Trail of the Black Walnut" and "The Trail of the Huguenots", Dr. Reaman stressed that the Huguenots, Palatine Germans, the Pennsylvania Dutch and the Quakers should be awarded an equal position with the Loyalists in Canadian history books. All these people, he said, played an important part in the development of southern Ontario and York County.

An international lecturer, Dr. Reaman called the historical societies the "unsung heroes of research". He paid tribute also to the women's institutes for the work of their branches particularly in the compiling of the Tweedsmuir Community Histories.

Formerly a professor of English at the Ontario Agricultural College, Dr. Reaman is now director of adult education at the University of Waterloo.

He is presently engaged in research on Ontario's Indians, a subject which he called a blind spot in the Canadian's knowledge of history.

County Forests Produce Revenue

About 29,400 trees have been planted this year in York County reforested areas, 3,500 by students during the annual school tour.

The forests now have a total acreage of more than 4,000 with the purchase this year of 212 acres in Georgina Township.

Lands and Forests Zone Forester J. D. Griffiths told York County Council, the forests are in good use as a tourist attraction for people who like a walk through the woods.

There is no car traffic through the Vivian Forest and problems such as fire hazard, litter, garbage dumping, vandalism and rutting of roads in wet weather has been eliminated.

Only two fires were reported in the forest this year, one started when a neighboring barn was burned and another believed caused by a careless smoker.

Pulpwood cutting amounted to 330 cords delivered to Ontario Paper Company and Iko Asphalt Roofing at Brampton. Total revenue to date is $6,570.86, Mr. Griffiths said.
