with the public is anyone's guess-the players are all amateurs in the strictest sense of the word but at the same time there are some expert hockey players spread across the league.

Newmarket Cubs lost Dan Patrick to Johns- hill. Brook Stratton, Paul Riv- title came to Thornhill last town, Pennsylvania, an EPHL team midway through ers, Dale Crouter and Bob Wil- week as the senior soccer last season. Dynes defenceman Don Haynes is one of the best rearguards in amateur hockey circles while the play of Willowdale Rangers' Chick Webster is something to see. Chick is the oldest player in the league but his instinctive and devastating moves around an enemy goal keep him well up in the scoring race and make him the envy of other and younger forwards in the league. Not all the players are brilliant but make up for their natural shortcomings with a burning desire and a will to go all out all of the time. All in all it is hockey well worth seeing.

Each team plays a 16 game schedule and sees action one night a week. Games are played in Richmond Hill Arena Tuesday nights, Bradford arena Wednesdays and at Don Mills Arena on Sundays. Team will have completed their scheduled league games early in February and the top six teams will then enter playoff elimination rounds.

The eventual winner this year could be anyone of the nine clubs involved—the league is that evenly balanced. Since the adoption of the international rules injuries have virtually ceased to be a major problem and, barring unforeseen accidents, players are always in a healthy condition. It should be a most interesting race!

For anyone who likes good, fast hockey action with play sweeping from end to end, this is the best league around Metro. Admission fees to games in Richmond Hill Arena are modest and provide a good Tuesday night of fast entertainment. Given any sort of break this league could really become one of the better ones in the province and attract new teams and new talent. Make Tuesday night YOUR hockey night in Richmond Hill and see for yourself. You won't be disappointed!

IT ISN'T FAIR!

Fashion sometimes does us men dirt and now it has happened again. Advertisements for this year's ski togs say that the "snow bunnies" are a thing of the past and milady is now expected to wear a "jumpsuit", whatever that is, at something more than $100 a time! It's a rank injustice.

Skiing, as you know, is a sport where people sprain ankles, break arms and legs and mangle muscles while zipping down snowy slopes on oversize bed slats. That's for active types. The rest of us sat around admiring the "snow bunnies" in form fitting slacks of all known hues. Now the designers decree "no more the snow bunny look"-what a bunch of dogs!

This Christmas a lot of fledgling skiers are going to want a lot of equipment. As you're probably well aware—it ain't cheap! To help out with your budget the Toronto Ski Club will hold their annual ski exchange and rummage sale at Summit Golf Club on December 5, starting at 2 p.m. There'll be boots, harness, skis, poles and the whole bit on sale. At the rummage sale there'll be skates, old raccoon coats, snow shoes, bodkins and whatever, maybe even the odd bearskin rug.

If anyone has any ski equipment to dispose of then this is the place to do it. Just take it to Jack Mesley scored for Con- David Grass (unassisted), Doug and put forward by Rev. Dougrelax.
