Harold Deeks, former local planning director, now engaged in private practice in Toronto, will be appearing as one of three panelists on program number six, in the "Metropolis" series of suburban development.

This program, of one hour duration, will be on CBC Channel 6, November 22, 10 to 11 a.m. An architect and sociologist-writer are the other members of the panel.

Part of the program relates to people "who move away from the highly complex city, are found to become involved with local problems... The values and way of life of the suburban family are examined."

S.O.S. Information will be appreciated and is urgently needed as to the whereabouts of a dog, which unfortunately has bitten a boy aged 14.

The animal's physical condition is questioned and for the safety of other children the description of the dog is as follows: Large black male, green collar, with chrome studs, part German shepherd, retriever and Newfoundland.

Anyone having seen the dog (Beverly Acres area) please telephone 884-2472.

The C.G.I.T. senior girls of St. Matthew's United Church sold fudge and popcorn at the play "The Clock Struck Twelve" performed by St. Matthew's Players on November 9, 10, 11.

Their leader, Flip Forbes, and the girls, Donna Rayson, Carolyn Dennis, Donna Bridge, Valerie Dany, and Sharon King plan to donate the money brought in, to the debt retirement fund of the church. They would also like to thank all those who contributed to make their effort such a success.

The M.T.H. Music Guild held their monthly gathering on Sunday last at 428 South Fernleigh Circle.

Following a film "The Performer", of people in the entertainment world such as Teresa Stratas, Christopher Plummer, etc., the younger adults held a recorder session.

The new executive was then voted in with Jane Dean in the presidential chair, Mrs. M. Good, secretary, Judith Jones, treasurer, and Judith Jones, telephone convenor. An honorary membership was given to Mrs. S. Garson. A further project of this enterprising music guild is to form a choir of young adults, to participate in future concerts.

If you enjoy choral singing, call 884-3802, and join this enthusiastic group. Miss Ruth Garson, A.D.C.M., reported that she had recently met Major McCool, head of the music program of the Ontario Department of Education, to obtain Vox recordings (the lives of composers and their music) to be added to the guild's record library, and had been afforded full cooperation, but would appreciate small donations from local music lovers to help defray the cost.

The senior adult group have formed a trio—2 recorders and a flute—and will be available to churches or worthy organizations, for Christmas carol services. They will be attractively dressed in costumes from the Elizabethan era.

The MTH Music Guild would like to take this opportunity to thank CFGM Radio Station, Mr. E. Rudall, and Mrs. S. Garson for their donations to the guild's 16mm movie projector.

This is a non-profit organization, contributing a great deal to musical appreciation in Richmond Hill, and donations, large or small, buy music sheets, recordings, etc. helping to bring more musical culture to young and old alike—and if the guild's eventual ambition is realized—to establish a music centre in the community, where all music lovers may get together and share their common interest. If the sincerity and enthusiasm of Miss Garson is a criterion, the centre is already underway.

Interested prospective members and contributors may call 884-3802 for further information.
