

Edgeley Notes

Among those who attended the Central Area Women's Institute convention last week in the Royal York Hotel were Mrs. George Snider (delegate), Mrs. C. H. Boake, Mrs. R. J. Darling and Mrs. James Spencer from the Edgeley branch.

The theme of the convention was "The greatness of a nation must begin in the homes of the people."

Mrs. Leonard Trivers, president, Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, Miss Helen McKercher and Mrs. Elton Armstrong conducted the conference November 4.

Mrs. J. E. Houck of Brampton, Mrs. Kate Aitken of radio fame and Anson S. Taylor of West Hill were guest speakers.

Robert Chorvette of the centennial commission was the luncheon guest speaker November 5.

Edgeley 4H Homemaking Club has four new members this year: Carol McClymont, Dianne Smith, Helen Payne and Penny Hawkesworth joined the club and now are working on a sewing project.

Due to the pressure of school work, a number of 4H Club members will likely not attend the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair and the Kiwanis banquet on November 18.

If they are not required to write a school exam on banquet day, Sheila Hendry, Brenda Kirby, Joanne Cook, Carol McClymont and Dianne Smith are planning to attend the event.

When Pioneer Village closed to the public the end of October, a record in attendance had been established.

Nearly 150,000 persons visited the village during the period May 23 to October 15. The attendance breakdown showed 115,000 visitors plus 23,000 school students were taken on special tours during the school terms. An additional 10,000 attended the annual festival held September 23.

During October, the 18th annual North East Museum Conference was held at the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto and its members included a tour of Pioneer Village in their agenda.

Last week, district youngsters had the opportunity to attend an arts and crafts program held at the village. The program included butter-making, candle dipping, spinning, blacksmithing and grain crushing. Its purpose was to provide students with a practical understanding of the way that pioneer families lived and worked.

During the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair visitors are having the opportunity to visit

Selling Milk Bases Considered By Toronto Milk Producers Association

District 6 of the Toronto Milk Producers Association had an interesting meeting at Sharon Thursday night of last week.

One of the highlights, reports Agricultural Representative A. A. Wall, was explanation of the system that has been proposed for the selling of bases from one producer to another.

A base is a valuable asset and redistribution has to go on continually. Any system that has to divide valuables without money changing hands is always going to be criticized, reports the ag. rep., who feels that buying and selling is a fairer system for all.

One result is that the dairy will then be in the hands of people who really want to be in it. Up till now, says Mr. Wall, a lukewarm dairymen has been reluctant to simply go out of business and get nothing for his base. Similarly, a farmer who desperately wants in, under the new system has a lot better chance of getting in.

Selling bases would also tend to keep base control in the hands of producers. This reverses the general trend, Mr. Wall points out.

On the other hand, he notes, bases will be expensive to buy, and this added investment may well be prohibitive for a young man starting up. But in the past it has been hard for him to get a base anyway, so he is probably no worse off. It is to be hoped, the ag. rep. says, that prices don't go unrealistically high.

Regulations in the proposed system, he reports, should cover most potential dangers and abuses. The key one limits sale to another shipper, shipping to the same dairy and on the same tank truck route. This should block any move toward setting up huge dairy cow factories by those with enough capital to buy unlimited numbers of bases. Mr. Wall predicts the industry will survive without that kind of development. This provision should also prevent any severe disruption in the geography of the milk shed.

The whole question of transfer of bases is an important one and directors of the association will have final say at the annual meeting in Toronto.

Powell Road HSA
Powell Road Home and School Association held its meeting November 10. President Mrs. Olive St. John welcomed parents and read the new HSA prayer.

As a result of a bake sale held by Mrs. Pat Croteau, work on enlarging the new school rink will begin soon. E. DiVincenzo has offered top soil to make the ground level.

A point system for parents attending HSA meetings has begun to encourage more people to come out; extra points will be given to anyone bringing new members.

A proposal to rent a portable from Vaughan Area School Board for $60 was turned down by school members who felt it was far too high when it also had to be heated and insured. The portable was to have been a play area for the children.

December's meeting will be a "Citizenship Night" when several people running for Vaughan Council and School Board will speak.

The HSA is also directing a letter to Vaughan Council for "No Parking" signs on Crestwood Road permanently. Parents felt parked cars on the street were a hazard both during the daylight and at night.

There was a teacher-parent question period and refreshments were served by Social Convener Mrs. D. Willison and her assistants.

Three Minute Ice Time
To allow each boy equal ice time during the smaller boys games, a buzzer goes off every three minutes to aid the coaches in making this possible.

Some coaches however, do not realize the purpose of the buzzer and therefore do not permit each player equal time on the ice.

The officials would like to inform those coaches new to the game, of this regular procedure and ask that it be put to good use, for a boy can only become a better player through practice, and as much playing time as his teammates.

WHO PAYS

if you are responsible for an automobile accident after your insurance policy has lapsed? You do!

When you allow your insurance policy to lapse you immediately become an uninsured motor vehicle owner. Before you drive, you must either pay the $20 uninsured motor vehicle fee at a Department of Transport licence agency office or renew your insurance, or you will be liable to a fine of up to $500.

The $20 fee gives you NO protection whatever. If there is a claim against you as an uninsured motor vehicle owner for which you are liable, it will be paid by the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund, but you must repay the fund. You will not be allowed to own or operate a motor vehicle until you make arrangements to do so. Judgments up to $25,000 are not uncommon. A debt of this size could seriously hamper your family's future. Protect your future. The wisest course is to buy automobile liability insurance and keep it in force. Always carry your insurance card in your automobile.
