

Your Legion Reports

Branch 375, Royal Canadian Legion
By Eric Chapman - 884-7129

At the general meeting held November 16 nominations were received for the new executive. Elections will be held on December 14 for all offices with the exception of the 2nd vice-president. Comrade McBrien received an acclamation. The following were nominated:
President: Frank Barrott, Chuck Jesson.
1st Vice-President: Wes Berse, Ernest Benton, William Luckins.
2nd Vice-President: Ted McBrien.

3rd Vice-President: Wes Berse, Harry Lever, Rick Pillage. Executive: (six to be elected) George Wood, Frank Titshall, Jack Sanders, Frank Woods, Alec Kernohan, Cal Harper, Rick Pillage, William Luckins. Rev. James O'Neil received an acclamation as Legion chaplain.

The following were nominated as auditors for 1964: Bob Karsh, Jim Heron and Ernest Benton. As our auditors may not hold executive office, Comrade Benton will automatically be disqualified from acting as auditor if he is elected 1st vice-president. Responsibility for the various committee duties will be decided by the new executive.

Advisory Committee Chairman Bill Luckins, reports that the inaugural meeting of the Junior Legion will be held on November 30 at 8 p.m. The Junior Legion is the first of its kind in Ontario and we think it is the first in Canada. It is open to all youths in the area between the ages of 14 and 20 and will feature instruction covering many subjects. Further information is contained in an advertisement to be found on page 15 of this issue. Anyone desirous of joining should contact any member of the Legion or telephone the number at the top of this column.

Jack Sanders reports that Comrade Noel Caven is a patient in York Central Hospital and Comrade Bert Nevis is in Sunnybrook. Visitors will be most welcome.
President Frank Barrott reported he had been approached by town council that the Legion devote space for use as a day room by the senior citizens. The president stated he had approved the request and his decision was well received by those present at the meeting.

Some controversy exists concerning the admissibility of members grandchildren to the children's Christmas party. It had been suggested that as most member's children are over the age of 12 and thus excluded, it would only be fair to allow grandchildren. The suggestion came to an abrupt end when Comrade Leo Butler commented on the space available and announced that he had 27 grandchildren.

After seeing the show put on by the ladies auxiliary, Comrade Harry Lever was inspired to produce a show of his own. Providing sufficient talent is available Harry plans to stage a show Christmas Eve. It will feature repertoire of female impersonation. He may headline it the "Legionettes". We suggest he entitle the show "Harry's Girls"; however an opera by any other name should still be a pantomime.

UNIONVILLE: Fire destroyed a section of the roof of the Veterans' Hall recently and water damage to the interior was extensive. Markham firemen were called to assist the Unionville brigade and their long ladders were used to get at the roof.

Oak Ridges Archeologist Heads Orillia Area Huron Indian Dig

At the Huron Indian site being excavated under the direction of Prof. J. N. Emerson of Oak Ridges are (left to right) D. F. McOuatt, provincial archivist, Dr. Walter Kenyon, Royal Ontario Museum, and Ontario Deputy Minister of Tourism and Information A. S. Bray. Looking on (right) is Kent Hill, a student at King City Composite School who has taken an active part in the "dig".

J. N. Emerson of Oak Ridges, professor of anthropology at the University of Toronto, directed the final excavations for the season recently at the 300 year old site of the Huron Indian Village of Cahigue.

About 150 university and high school students took part in the dig, 10 miles northwest of Orillia, off Highway 12. A group of 12 to 16 students worked at the site all summer and 500 participated in the two weekend digs during October. Initial work had been done on the site in 1946 and 1947 when the ossuary or burial pit was excavated. Because the university had commitments in other areas (such as those to be inundated by the St. Lawrence Seaway) they were unable to do any further work on it until this year.

Cahigue is not included in the Ontario government's Huronia project, but Professor Emerson hopes to raise funds to investigate and restore the site fully and possibly establish a national memorial.
Champlain stayed in the village during the winter of 1615-16, at which time it was said to contain between five and six thousand inhabitants and was the capital of the Huron nation. Among the many artifacts found at the site is a pair of French heels, made of many layers of leather such as would have been worn by Champlain.

The yellow subsoil of the site. Fireplaces, of which there would be one for each family in the longhouse, also show up as irregular circles of ash and storage pits are also discernible, having been filled in with refuse and discolored soil. Each of these discolorations is marked on the graph paper, and finally marked out on the site with different types of stakes.

While most of the diggers were university students, many of them were interested high school students, many from local schools. Richard Schultz is a grade 11 student at Newtonbrook Secondary School in North York, Kent Hill of Nobleton, Wayne Boyce of King City and Bruce Emerson of Oak Ridges all attend King City Composite School.

Much interest was shown in the site by representatives of various governmental bodies whom Dr. Emerson had invited to view the dig. Among these were William E. Taylor, chief archeologist for the National Museum at Ottawa, A. S. Bray, Deputy Minister of Tourism and Information for Ontario, D. F. McOuatt, provincial archivist and R. B. Apled, director of the historical branch of the Ontario Department of Archives.

Richmond Hill's share of profits for the North Yonge Bus Line for the third quarter of 1964 was $1,841.41, council learned when a cheque for that amount was received. Vaughan and Markham Townships each have received $1,609.29 so far this year with $920.71 of this amount being for the third quarter. Each township owns one-quarter of the line.

S. West Problems Need Attention - Harry Sayers

Improvement of dangerous intersections in the southwest area of Richmond Hill was suggested as one of three problems that need immediate attention by council, by Harry Sayers in a letter read at last week's Richmond Hill Council meeting.

The second problem enumerated was busy Mill Street, which the writer described as carrying traffic between Bathurst and Yonge, a bus route and used by hundreds of public and secondary students each day. The ditches are deep and the pavement narrow, he stated.

The third problem named was the central downtown section where Mr. Sayers advocated immediate steps to provide adequate services so that redevelopment and improvement of this all important section of town can take place without further delay.

Mayor Thomas Broadhurst agreed with Mr. Sayers, but said it was becoming all too evident that many people, who approved of the program turned down by the OMB in October for work in this area, didn't say so at the right time. The mayor believes council will have to give deep consideration as to what is now legally possible to undertake in the area. "So many serious problems are left in mid-air," he said, "the whole matter will require more thought and investigation than this council can give it. However next year's council should look into the question of asking for a review."
Deputy-reeve Stanley Tinker noted that the release of $180,000 of the Municipal Works Assistance Fund in favor of the public school board means that any such work undertaken will be more expensive to the town and its ratepayers than the original project.
Councillor Lois Hancey expressed the hope that the council in 1965 will give serious consideration to these problems. Yonge Street, she claimed, needs attention for the whole town's sake.

Police Constable Robert Deighton who has served as a cadet and second class constable on Richmond Hill Police Force, has been promoted to first class constable, the police chief reported to council last week.
Police Constable Jack Wilson, having served his probationary period, has also been promoted to first class constable, it was reported.
