NEW ZEALAND
In New Zealand, there is a "Christmas tree" that doesn't need decorating. It blossoms with its own red flowers and earned its name because the flowers appear in December and January.

R. D. LITTLE FORD APPOINTMENT

Donald Little, president of R. D. Little Ford Sales Ltd., Richmond Hill is pleased to announce the appointment of W. Edward Butlin as Fleet & Leasing Manager.
Mr. Butlin brings to his new position 25 years experience in the automotive and finance fields and is looking forward to renewing his many acquaintances in his new position.

The Family

No matter how distant it may be everyone endeavours to be home for Christmas. Home — there is magic in the word.
Only those who have wandered know its true and deep significance.
Home — a safe haven among family and friends where your shortcomings are overlooked—where you find acceptance, love, mingled with the shouts of children and the aroma of roast turkey and Christmas pudding you recall your childish pranks. They remind you once again of your carefree, happy childhood.
Good families do not just happen. They are the result of unselfishness, good temper, forgiveness and humour.

Religious belief is the vital part of family life. Home is the unit of spiritual, emotional and physical security. The home develops personality, educates in living and fits us to take our place in society.
The greatness of a nation depends on the strength and character of its family institution. There is no substitute.
If we could make but one wish—it would be this—may your family gathering this Christmas be complete and a happy one.

Attempt To Cut County Expenses

penses when he said it was the practice to automatically appoint anyone selected by a specific committee as a convention delegate.
The committee Thursday spelled out the warden's salary set in February, 1959 as $3,000 a year with an expense account of $2,000; the per diem rate to councillors of $18 a meeting plus 10 cents for each mile travelled.
Mr. Tinker's committee was charged with setting out salaries, convention expenses, mileage and eligibility of councillors to go to conventions, by a resolution November 20.
Woodbridge Reeve Norn Garriock claimed the committee findings merely "skimmed over the surface of the issue. I commend the committee for merely giving us the status quo."

Mr. Tinker retorted that the "skimming over" took the committee five hours. Mr. Garriock then suggested appointment of convention delegates might be made in open council.
North Gwillimbury Reeve J. O. Dales said he would like to see commissioners also excluded from the $300 limit since often one or the other had to act in the warden's place at conventions. He said the limit might also not be enough because of the size of the province in terms of travelling expenses and in some cases the length of the conventions.
Mr. Garriock, who disagreed with a comment from Markham Reeve Charles Hooper that the limit was "being railroaded through in the dying hours of council", said convention delegates can learn a lot outside of regular sessions.
Markham Deputy-reeve Stewart Rumble queried, "As a new member of council, I never have had an inkling of how to get to go to these conventions."
"I hear you have to be around the county a few years before you find out how it operates," he commented wryly.

A. G. Sampson

A long-time resident of Oak Ridges, Alexander Gardner Sampson, died Friday in St. Michael's Hospital, at the age of 64.
Born at L'Ardoise, Nova Scotia, he was educated at St. Mary's College in Halifax and Sacred Heart University at Bathurst, New Brunswick, where he taught English and history at the age of 22.
Beginning his business career as managing director of the Queen's Hotel in Halifax, he was national advertising manager of the Halifax Chronicle from 1930 to 1945. He was a member of The Canadian Press from 1932 to 1948 representing the Chronicle and was a director of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association for 14 years until 1948.
He joined Chateau-Gai Wines Ltd. 28 years ago and served as its president and general manager from 1937 until his death.
Mr. Sampson was a former member of the board of governors of St. Francis Xavier University of Antigonish, Nova Scotia and received an honorary doctorate of laws in 1960.
Left to mourn his passing are two sisters, Annabelle and Mrs. Fred Black and a brother, Wilfred Sampson of Boston.

Science Students Visit Universities

An interested group of York central students recently attended the second in a series of student science seminars at Richmond Hill High School last week.
Subject of the seminar, which was conducted by John Munro-Cape was the shapes of molecules.
Guests were vice-chairman of the York Central District High School Board, John Honsberger and S. L. G. Chapman, high school superintendent.
Further seminars are scheduled for the new year in the areas of grade 13 science, botany, chemistry, physics and zoology. Purpose of the meetings is to expose the students to topics beyond the course of study and give them some vision of life beyond grade 13 by having them participate briefly in activities at some Ontario universities.
The program is being arranged by a committee composed of the heads of science departments in the York Central high schools with the assistance of G. H. Domina, the master science teacher.
The response of the university personnel has been most encouraging. Mr. Domina reports, Zoology students will visit York University December 17.
Physics students will observe a pendulum experiment, a study in mechanics, at York University January 7 and on January 14 chemistry students will go to Waterloo University to view an experiment in spectroscopy. Further trips will be made to the University of Guelph and to McMaster University during February and March.
All sessions are held on Thursdays after school. Students provide their own transportation to the school where the session is being held, or to the point where the bus will take them to the university. Supper will be obtained at the university.
Each of the four groups will consist of about twenty-five grade 13 students.
The seminars are known as the "York Central 5S program" — secondary school student science seminars.

Co-Ordinated Welfare Group Packs 30 Christmas Hampers

The wants of the body are great. But the wants of the spirit are greater and deeper.
In these days of public welfare and social concern, many of the physical problems of the unfortunates among us have been solved. But the psychological problems remain, more complex than ever because of the growing complexity of life.
These problems of the spirit are those with which the neediest are solely confronted. These are people who require guidance, counsel, and above all, the feeling that there is a friend who is ready to extend the helping hand without which they will sink into a morass of despair.
Such a helping hand is extended in Richmond Hill by the Co-ordinated Welfare Service. Although the work of this committee is intensified at Christmas time, it goes on the year round. Whenever disaster strikes a family, whenever a needy family is found, the members of this committee lose no time in providing the necessary assistance.

The Lions Hall on Thursday afternoon will be a very busy place as service organization members pack food hampers for unfortunate families in the community. On Monday more than 30 names were on the list and it is expected still more will be added by Christmas Eve.
Besides a turkey and everything necessary for a traditional Christmas dinner, where there are children in the family toys will be included for each child. This year these will be all new toys, thanks to the co-operation of a local merchant who gave the committee a good discount. Toronto firms donated other toys which had been slightly damaged on their display floors. These have been put into A-1 condition by volunteer Santa's helpers and will gladden the hearts of the lucky recipients on Christmas morning.

Many groups and individuals have contributed to the supply of foods for distribution — in fact President Stu Clement reports that the donations have been exceptionally good this year.
This year's Christmas baskets are sponsored by the Co-ordinated Welfare Services, representing all service clubs and the Town of Richmond Hill, which made a generous grant.
Mr. Clement is joined by Bill Bedford, treasurer and Mrs. E. W. Hopkins, secretary of the Co-ordinated Welfare Services in extending sincere appreciation to the citizens of Richmond Hill for their assistance in providing for the unfortunate families of this community at this season.

Separate School Elections December 30

All separate school supporters are urged to attend.
Running for re-election will be Gordon Trussler, Marjory Gleason, John LeClaire, Con Thompson, Robert Steele, William Henderson and Jack Taylor, the last two of whom represent the Vaughan - Markham school area. All seats on the board may be challenged and there is one vacancy caused by a member moving to Scarborough.

Mkkm. Deputy-reeve Wins Trip To Mexico

Markham Township Deputy-reeve Stewart Rumble and Mrs. Rumble of Headford will leave in the middle of January for a four day stay in Mexico.
Mr. Rumble, as well as being deputy-reeve and operating a farm, is the proprietor of Rumble Equipment, the local Massey-Ferguson dealer and won the trip by his sales performance during the past year.
As part of a complicated industrial air charter, the Rumbles will fly to Mexico in company with 300 other dealers from more than 40 take-off points in Canada and the United States. The group will stay in Mexico four days, attend an M-F product demonstration and then return to their hometowns in aircraft that a few hours before delivered another 300 to the demonstration. In all, more than 5,000 leaders and sales personnel from all over North America will attend the show during January and February.

RUSSIA
Although the Communists have outlawed the religious aspects of Christmas, their children still hang up their stockings in anticipation of Grandfather Frost's visit on New Year's Eve.
