Richvale Man Found Dead On Yonge St.

A Richvale man who had apparently been ill before he went for a walk last Sunday night was found dead just north of Carville Road West the next morning.

Vaughan Township Police said they received a call from Wayne Gibson that an unidentified woman had pointed out the body lying just off Yonge Street around 7 a.m. Monday.

The body, frozen in the low temperature, was taken to York Central Hospital where Pathologist Dr. D. Guthrie conducted a post-mortem and revealed the cause of death as pneumonia.

He was identified as Gordon Bell, 49, who lived alone in a Yonge Street rooming house. A relative told police he had been suffering from chest pains and a bad cough for the past few years but refused to see a doctor.

The funeral service will be held from Pipher's Funeral Home Wednesday morning with interment at York Cemetery in Willowdale. He is survived by a son, Gordon Kenneth, of Richmond Hill and a daughter, Mrs. B. Greenyer.

Christmas Carol R.H. High School

A carol service was held in the auditorium of Richmond Hill High School to mark the close of classes December 22.

The service began with a Bidding prayer, said by Rev. James O'Neil. Carols sung by the school choir and by the student body were interspersed with Bible readings by students Neils Holbek, Lynne Freeman, Dennis Paxton, Rosemary Ross, Craig Peterkin and Janet Cover. Miss Nancy Bird of the school staff read the seventh lesson and Principal L. Morrison the eighth lesson.

The ninth lesson was read by Ernest Redelmeier, chairman of the York Central District High School Board and Rev. O'Neil then pronounced a blessing.

The service closed with the singing of the recessional hymn, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."

County Will Take Over Assessment Dept. Jan. 1

Because the County of York at its December sessions decided to set up an assessment commission and take over the assessment department of all county municipalities on January 1, H. B. Cable Richmond Hill's assessment commissioner, and T. B. King, the town's assessor, automatically become members of the county staff on January 1.

The 1964 council Monday night recommended to the incoming council that all monies paid into the pension plan by both employees and the municipality be refunded to these employees.

The town's employees are insured under a private pension plan and it is not transferable. County employees are insured under the Ontario Municipal Board plan.

In the original motion presented by Reeve W. J. Haggart and Deputy-reeve Stanley Tinker, payment of 6% interest was recommended, since the county's pension plan makes no provision for buying in. Mr. Haggart stated that Mr. Cable would have been eligible on January 1.

Mayor Broadhurst's New Year's Message

(Continued from Page 1) slightly better than we had found it at the beginning of the year, the cumulative effect in outlook, spirit and appearance would be fantastic. There are many ways in which this can be done and the choice lies with the individual as to how best he might do it, according to his own tastes and temperament. For some it can be by a friendlier attitude to neighbours and strangers alike, to others it may be that they can give a little — or a little more — in public service, or again, something as mundane as improving the appearance of one's property slightly so as to make it more compatible with tidier neighbors. Perhaps we can all be a little more conscious of what we can put into the community and a little less aware of what we could take out of it — a little less pressing in selfish interest, and a quicker appreciation of the communal need.

I don't know what lesson to draw — there are too many. The thoughtful man and woman will perhaps find many ways in 1965 to make this a better town. Your council must provide the initiative for them to do so.

With warmest good wishes and greetings for a Happy New Year.

Members of the local YWCA Teen Club join the adult members of the YW "Keep Fit Club" in a demonstration of creative dancing at Crosby Heights Public School December 16.

Fun Way To Keep Fit

An enthusiastic group of members of the local YWCA "Keep Fit" club put on a demonstration of creative dancing at Crosby Heights Public School on the evening of December 16.

The "YW" Teen Club also gave two skits and a one-act play, all original creations. The teen group also joined the young matrons in a combined limbo dance and in an exhibition of western country dancing.

These two groups have been passing each other in the halls at Crosby Heights School all fall. The girls have been holding their sessions each Wednesday at 7 p.m. and the ladies at 8:30, so they decided to show each other what they had been doing.

The teen-agers have had 12 sessions and have been doing dance rhythms and charades and their dramatic productions arose out of these.

Teacher of both groups is Mrs. Joy Horton, a teacher of physical and health education and a member of the YWCA staff. As well as the two evening groups, Mrs. Horton has been conducting a morning group called the Silhouette Club the members of which have lost a total of almost 100 pounds since they began meeting in the early fall. This group meets at the "Y" centre in the Allencourt Plaza.

The two evening groups will re-open in the new year and Mrs. Horton feels she will be able to accommodate more members than previously. There will be a limited registration and anyone interested may call Mrs. Horton at 888-1738.

Mothers Knit 36 Pairs Of Mittens For Needy

The Sunday school room at Zion United Church, Cedar Grove in Markham Township has a uniquely decorated Christmas tree each year.

Brought into the Sunday school room the last two Sundays before Christmas, the tree is decorated with gifts for needy children. This year the tree held 36 pairs of mittens, the annual Christmas project of the 15-member Mothers' club at the church.

The "mitten tree" was begun eight years ago. Gifts go to Toronto to the Canadian Save the Children Fund which handles their distribution.

Plan Vocational School For '68, Trustees Decide

Chairman Ernest Redelmeier pointed out however that they were already planning to open a new school in 1967 and it would strain their resources too much to open two schools in one year.

Trustee Lewis Clement felt that a great deal more exploratory work would have to be done and wondered if this could be done soon enough to open the school even in 1968. Mr. Chapman confirmed that special staff would have to be found as, by and large, the present staff is not oriented to look after this type of student.

Unanimous agreement was however given to a motion that the board proceed to seek a suitable site for the special vocational school early in 1965 with plans to open it in 1968. It was estimated that for a school to accommodate 450 pupils a 10 acre site would be required. Building costs were estimated at $3,500 per pupil place, considerably higher than an academic school.

Mr. Chapman advised that a special vocational school would qualify for the present 75% grant under the federal-provincial technical and vocational assistance program. There would be no regular legislative grant on the other 25%. With a teacher pupil ratio of 14 to 1 instead of the more usual 20 to 1, per pupil costs would be higher.

However, all students would be eligible for vocational grants which for York Central are approximately $155 per student per year higher than for academic pupils.

Dept. Of Agriculture To Sponsor 3 Television Programs In January

If farmers can conceive of watching television at 10:30 in the morning, they will have rewarding viewing on January 5, 6 and 7 reports Agricultural Representative A. A. Wall.

The Department of Agriculture is sponsoring three television programs on the CBC network on these three days. The program on Tuesday, January 5 deals with crops; Wednesday's program is on live-stock and on Thursday, the business end of farming with records, analysis and decisions will be featured.

The programs consist of visits to four or five farms, average size units which are doing well in crops and livestock and the farm owners are to do most of the talking.

"If it's sensible to drive 20 or 30 miles on a stormy night to a farm meeting, then it's also sensible to take a look at these programs," said Mr. Wall.

The annual meeting of the York County Soil and Crop Improvement Association is also on Wednesday, January 6 and the first hour of the meeting will be spent watching the TV program for that day. Several television sets will be installed in the plaza auditorium at Newmarket where the meeting is to be held. Special door prizes will be given for those at the meeting before 10:30.

Guest speaker for the day will be Dr. J. E. Winch of the Crop Science Department, OAC. A forage specialist, Dr. Winch will discuss the newest ideas for getting best performance from hay and pasture crops.

Mr. Wall also reminds York County farmers that he has farm account books at his Newmarket office which may be had at the price of a telephone call or a post card and that this is the week to get started on farm accounts for next year.

Ladies Provide Christmas Cheer

A dozen senior citizens of the Doncaster area were recipients of attractive and well-filled Christmas baskets, distributed by members of the Doncaster Community Ladies' Club.

Here's a smile for you

Dating age has its problems and the young fellow who had just taken out his first girl to a dance was complaining to his mother: "Every time we got going real good on the dance floor, old Harris would cut in."

"That's the way it is when you take out a pretty girl," said his mother. "Yes mother, but old Harris is a girl!"
