Attendance Guide To Selection Of Members

A report on the number of meetings attended by council appointees to various boards and committees in town during 1964, was requested by Councillor Walter Scudds at Monday night's Richmond Hill Council meeting. The councillor felt such a report would assist council in making 1965 appointments.

Councillor Lois Hancey pointed out that these appointees are volunteers who have other interests and 100% attendance is not always possible. Councillor Scudds agreed.

Mayor Thomas Broadhurst asked councillors to come to the next council meeting prepared to nominate representatives to planning board, public library board, Metro Toronto and Region Conservation Authority, recreation, parks, court of revision, committee of adjustment, weed inspector, fenceviewers and the community centre board.

Markham Township Solicitor J. D. Lucas administered the oath of office to members of the 1965 Markham Township council at their inaugural meeting, held in the council chambers at 11 a.m. Monday.

A devotional address and prayer was given by Rev. Grant Sloss of the United Missionary Church. "You have the impossible task of trying to please everyone," he told the members of the five-man council. "You know this is impossible, as we all do. All you can do is do your best and leave the rest to the Lord," he said.

New Year's Political Resolutions

Increasing the police and volunteer fire brigade, keeping an eye on the debenture issue and doing some important road and drainage work were all suggestions made by department heads to Richmond Hill

In a special "school for councillors" held after Monday's inaugural by Mayor Thomas Broadhurst, new councillor Eric Handbury and "old hands" Reeve Donald Plaxton and Deputy-reeve Floyd Perkins were briefed as to past history and future plans. According to Auditor S. Joscelyn, Richmond Hill has $5,000,000 in outstanding debentures with $250,-000 about to be retired. He said this leaves about $1,000,000 available to borrow on based on the Hill's $33,000,000 assessment. Mayor Broadhurst warned the town should keep spend up to $500,000 for municipal purposes.

He predicted there would be some public school

Mr. Joscelyn also suggested a special fund or a plan for evening out capital equipment spending. Police Chief R. P. Robbins warned council he was planning to ask for at least six new men for the citizens of the township not to Elected again as councillor force in 1965 and another cruiser. "Under the Police Act, you are charged with mented the staff on how well providing adequate police coverage and I feel this

Mayor Broadhurst asked all department heads, committee chairmen and chairmen of boards which receive funds from council to submit their 1965 budgets by February 15. He hoped they would present a realistic budget at that time. The mayor declared that the earlier the budget is set and the earlier taxes can be collected, the less money will be borrowed with resulting savings in interest charges.
