long line of players will carry on much as they do today. They'll live three or four to a cheap room, ride buses until they're fed to the teeth and eat in greasy spoons. Loneliness and frustration will be their constant companions and the odds and competition will be just as tough as they are today.

But, when a boy has a burning goal ahead of him, how do you deter him? Apparently the old, pioneer spirit is NOT dead and some are willing to gamble just for the chance of achieving the desired end. As far as we're concerned they can have it—we're so far over the hill the very thought of a life like this makes us shudder. At 18 or 19, when the whole world is just a big oyster, it evidently doesn't seem too hard to take at all!

POOR DICK DUFF
In recent weeks a fair bit of ink and a few tears were used to decry the fate of poor Dick Duff. Relegated to the Rangers by the Leafs and then shunted to the Montreal Canadiens. What a horrible fate—it should happen to anyone!

Who says it shouldn't happen? What's the difference between the NHL and any other big profit-making organization? A man works in the Toronto office and gets transferred to Hamilton or to Winnipeg or wherever to work and who sheds a tear? He's still getting paid to do a job and the head office puts him exactly where they think he and they will fare best. Sure it's tough on him and his wife has to join a new bridge club but he does survive and she finds three like-minded bridge players — so where's the great tragedy?

Somewhat we find it hard to bleed too much for the sad fate of one, Mr. Richard Duff. And five gets you 10 that he isn't too upset either!!

Richmond Hill Curling Club

Richmond Hill Curling Club members and their guests greeted the New Year with a colorful whoop-de-doo in their decorated lounge with dancing to Earl Simard's Band from Toronto and a sumptuous buffet prepared by Chef Tommy and served about 1:30 a.m. About 55 couples attended.

Cleaners Play Four Games In Riverside Hockey Tournament

Fifteen players of the North End Cleaners bantams were taken to the Riverside Hockey Tournament last week. Their first tournament series was a two game, total goals to count, with a team from Wallaceburg. The teams battled to a 2-2 tie in the opening game as Gerald Methe and Mike Deciantis scored for the locals.

Final Meeting For Vaughan Councillors

Vaughan Township Council celebrated the new year with a year-end meeting and farewell party for departing Councillors Ruth McConkey and Wilfred Keffer and Deputy-revee Jesse Bryson last week. Mrs. McConkey, who with her husband Hugh and family is planning to move to Bermuda when the McConkeys find a buyer for their 100-year-old Maple estate baked a cake and brought it to the municipal hall before the Wednesday afternoon meeting for a coffee party.

Mr. Keffer, councillor for the past four years announced his retirement from politics this fall and Mr. Bryson, just finishing his eighth year on council, was defeated December 12 in a bid for the reevehip. Wednesday's meeting, a very brief routine affair, was attended by one of the new council members, Warren Bryce of Thornhill. The 1965-66 council is Reeve A. H. Rutherford, Deputy-revee Garnet Williams and Councillors Bryce, Dalton McArthur and Sam Kaiser.

Coin Club Still Growing Planning Show In Spring

The seventh meeting of Richmond Hill Coin Club, reported to be the most successful to date, was held December 15. It is also reported that membership continues to grow rapidly and a forecast of 100 is made for 1965.

The 1965 executive will consist of President Bob Deighton and Vice-president Selby O'Brien, both of whom were returned to office by acclamation; Secretary Harry Hannah; Treasurer June Clark. The position of secretary-treasurer was previously held by Larry Steadman. Norm Minor and 9-year-old Peter Bowdry were elected to the board of directors.

The draw for a BU Kennedy half dollar was won by Russ Denby. Two of the club's newest members from Orillia, representing the Brewery Bay Coin Club donated a 1958 Canadian silver dollar to the club for the auction. The group agreed unanimously to join the Ontario Numismatic Association. This entitles the club to the use of its extensive library, informative slides as well as circuit guest speakers which include such well-known names as James Charlton, David Ashe, Edward Knight, William Lavell and Winnifred Mather. The ONA is under the distinguished patronage of His Honor, Lieut.-Col. J. Keller Mackay, former Ontario Lieutenant-Governor.

North York Mental Health Clinic To Open On Leslie St. This Month

The opening of a mental health clinic for North York Township early in January was announced last week by Dalton Bales, MLA for a North York riding. Until completion of the North York General Hospital, the clinic will be operated from a Leslie Street house. It will eventually move into the hospital and operate in conjunction with the 58 bed psychiatric ward proposed for the hospital. An initial grant of $16,650 had been approved last fall providing staff salaries until March, 1965. New government grants have now been approved and negotiations are underway to hire a psychiatric team to staff the clinic, consisting of two part time psychiatrists, one psychologist, a social worker and a secretary. Through negotiations with the provincial government, no rental for the house will be required and the minor installations necessary to convert the house to a clinic will be completed in the next few weeks.

Agricultural Rep. Recommends New Mastitis Control Program

York County Agricultural Representative A. A. Wall invites York County farmers to take advantage of the new mastitis control program available through the Department of Agriculture. In this program, all cows in a herd are checked by laboratory testing of milk for a six month period. Treatment isolation or culling can then be a lot more accurate. Since the policy was announced, only two herds from York have been enrolled and there is room for eight more, Mr. Wall reports. Taking part in such a program could avoid the expensive experience of one Markham Township farmer known to Mr. Wall. This man reported that three years ago he bought a good producing cow but with her imported a contagious and her stubborn brand of mastitis. Before the source of the trouble was located, half the herd was affected. Last winter he was unable to feed hardly any 24% concentrate and in the spring switched to narrow bore inflations. This caused immediate improvement but this fall he took the drastic step of clearing out all cows who had caused trouble last year. This man took positive steps to cure his problem, said Mr. Wall, but it was expensive and upset his milk production badly. Taking part in the department's mastitis control program could help avoid such a drastic solution.
