Edgeley Notes

WI News
Mrs. R. Gooch of Weston will be hostess for the regular meeting of the Edgeley WI May 6. Mrs. J. G. Snider, convenor of the committee on historical research and current events will be in charge of the program.

Word has come from Ottawa where the Federated Women's Institute of Canada executive board met last week, that the fourth national triennial convention will be held at the University of Guelph on June 12 to 16, 1967 with the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario as hostesses. The convention will also mark the 70th anniversary of the founding at Stoney Creek, of the WI by Adelaide Hoodless Hunter. The Hoodless homestead at St. George is now preserved as a historic site which the members attending the convention will visit.

Rifle Shoots
The many hunters in this region will welcome the news that weekly shoots will be held again this summer at Cold Creek Conservation Area. Commencing on May 5 and continuing each Wednesday night through the summer months, all rifle shooting members of the general public are invited to participate in this event by the West Toronto Fish and Game Protective Association.

Shooting time is from when the first person arrives until dark. Club permits may be obtained free of charge from the Metro Conservation Authority as well as permits for special one day shoots.

Quilting Class
Craft classes in quilting were held at Pioneer Village last week when school children learned the fine art of making quilts from Jean Hughes, teacher on the village staff. The craft program was started as an experiment last year with candlemaking as one of the projects undertaken by school children. It proved so popular that it was decided to continue classes this year in other aspects of pioneer life.

Birthdays
The last week in April is a big time for birthday celebrations in the Young family. Little April Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Young was two years old on April 27, the day before her mother, Carol's and her brother Bobby's birthday. Also helping to celebrate along with the family on April 28 was their cousin Kathleen Young, wee daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young who also was two years old on April 28.

Many happy returns of those nice special days to you all.

CN Opening
A big day is close at hand folks. The official opening of the new CNR freights classification yard in Edgeley is to take place in mid-May.

To me, who lives next door to this vast construction, it is seen as a very busy place these days with lots of rail traffic. But as the old saying goes, undoubtedly "we ain't seen nothin' yet."

Maple Painter To Have Show At Richmond Hill Library May 1 & 2

By JANET MYERS
Jean Pamela Barnden, wife of Roy Barnden of Ryder Street, and mother of Deborah and Glen has no time to be a bored housewife. She is a successful oil painter. Proof of her success lies in the two one-man shows she has had. One was held at Richmond Hill Public Library last year and the other in Parry Sound Public Library for a month last summer.

Jean is having her third one-man show May 1 and 2 in the Gordon MacLaren auditorium of the Richmond Hill Library. On Saturday the show will be on display from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. Tea and coffee will be served and there is no charge. Jean has been drawing all her life and working in oils for the last 13 years. Born in England, she won a scholarship to the Hornsey School of Art in London. Following her graduation she went to work for Baker Street's famous photographer, Thomas Fall where she did negative retouching. She came to Canada 13 years ago and lived in Nobel, near Parry Sound. It was in this beautiful setting that she got much of her inspiration for her work in oils. The Barndens moved to Bolton and then to Maple where they have lived for nearly four years.

This show of Jean's affords everyone a chance to see the work of an interesting new talent on the Canadian scene. Perhaps the day will come when we all can say, "I knew her when..."
