

Richmond Hill And Maple Girls Get A Close Look At Their Beatle Idols

As representatives of "The Liberal", Evelyn McAlinden, 19, of 388 Alper Street, Richmond Hill, and Dianne Grout, 20, of 15 Maple Avenue Maple, attended both performances of the Beatles and the intervening press conference in Maple Leaf Gardens on August 17. Both girls have been Beatle fans since hearing their first recording. Following is their first-hand report of a "Day With Beatlemania"

Until August 17, most Canadians had been inclined to treat the second arrival of the Beatles with great amusement. However, the thousands of young Canadians inside Maple Leaf Gardens were not the least bit amused when the show was delayed an hour and a half. Jungle Jay Nelson, the emcee of the show, informed the expectant fans that the Beatles plane had been delayed in New York, and that the show would go on as scheduled as soon as the performers arrived. During the ent inside directed us to the side of the room and we were surprised to find that we were only a few feet away from the conference table. As all the seats had been taken, we had to stand against the wall directly beside the Beatles. We felt ourselves very lucky that we had been caught in the crowd, because we had to remain standing through the entire conference, which enabled us to see John, Paul, George and Ringo better than any of the people who had to remain seated.

DIANNE GROUT

The Gardens Publicity Manager Stan Obodiac, introduced Tony Barrow, head publicity manager of NEMS Enterprises. Mr. Barrow briefly informed the photographers and reporters how they should handle themselves during the conference. He also gave a brief explanation as to why the Beatles had been delayed leaving New York. The reason he gave was that the aircraft had not arrived in New York on schedule. As soon as the Beatles were seated at the conference table, all photographers made full use of the seven minutes they were allowed for picture taking. The barrier of photographers around the Beatles made it completely impossible for us to get a clear shot of the famous four. These supposedly professional older men and women were pushing, shoving and climbing on chairs, while the young people present were content to just stand and watch quietly. At the end of the seven minutes allowed Mr. Barrow requested that the photographers be seated so that the general questioning could get under way. The first questioner politely raised his hand and the questioning began. Question: "Would you like to tour with British groups?" John: "Well, we usually do in Britain." Ringo: "They're all like that over there you know." Question: "Have you ever seen Niagara Falls?" George: "Yes, we've seen photos." Question to the two single Beatles: "Do you feel that travelling with female companions harms your image?" George: "No." Paul: "We have no image, do we?" Question: "Paul, are you married to Jane Asher?" Paul: "Everyone says that I am married, divorced, or have 50 children." (John then looked at Paul slyly and said "You only have 40.") Paul continued to the reporter "If you'd like to make up a story go ahead." Then he jokingly added, "and I'll sue you!" Question: "John, who do you feel influences you most in your writing?" John: "No one influences me. I like Lewis Carroll." This brought laughter from the crowd and John asked with an astonished look on his face, "Is that funny?" Question: "Do you expect any further honours from the Queen?" John: "No thank you." Question: "Is there any truth to the rumour that you and Bob Dylan are the same person?" John: "I haven't heard that one, we're not." Question: "Have you any plans for the immediate future?" George: "We start filming a new movie in the spring." Question: "If you make any further tours, will you be coming to Toronto?" Paul: "That's up to Mr. Epstein. He decides where we go." There were only a few more questions, and then Mr. Barrow said that the Beatles had to get ready for their last show and that the conference was over.

With the tickets that we won from the Richmond Hill Music Center, we made our way back into the crowds and took our seats in the fifth row on the floor immediately in front of the stage. Although we had been told by the emcee in the afternoon that we would see the complete show, we noticed that the acts were slightly changed, they deserved it. A good example of this is one man in the press conference who asked: "Why do you keep coming back? You're just cheating the kids out of their money!" He was told by Paul that the kids were not forced to spend their money on the Beatles but did so because they wanted to see the Beatles. Paul then pointed at him and asked: "Why did you come?" The long bus ride home was sad because we were going farther and farther away from the Beatles and yet we were happy because we had been closer to these four young men than most of their fans could ever hope to be.

Town Finances In Healthy State

(Continued From Page 1) on postage and supplies has a six month deficit of $916.16 which is over double the estimate of $900. Mr. Scudds replied that this was the result of mass buying during the first six months.

BUS SERVICE
The local bus service has a six month operational deficit of $14.76, but this is more than offset by an increase in receipts of $604.85 over the six month estimate of $9,000. Councillor Scudds said that the period from January to June is usually the best for bus revenue.

However, in the other matter of bus service council expressed concern over a six month deficit of $1,160.90 as the town's share in the operation of the North Yonge Bus Line which travels between Richmond Hill and the Eglington Subway. The members were told to be prepared for more bad news as the service has experienced a further deficit in the second quarter. On advice of the TTC who operate the line, the Elgin Mills extension which was losing heavily was discontinued at the end of June. Deputy-reeve Perkins felt the introduction of an express service between Richmond Hill and the subway would encourage more people to make use of the line.

The weekly rubbish pick-up by the works department which is in addition to the regular garbage collection is showing a six month deficit of $118.43. The six month estimate for the service is $8,000. Relief costs are up $3,206 over the six month estimate of $7,000. A major portion of these costs will be recovered from other municipalities. Desertions still remain the major cause of direct relief payments. Mrs.

MARKHAM VILLAGE: Bruce Risebrough, RR 2, won the top award for oats in the annual field Crop Competition sponsored by Markham Fair. His entry scored a near-perfect 99 points. Ellis Britton, Claremont, counted 88.5 points, and Davidson Bros., Stouffville RR 1, placed third at 97. Norm Tyndall of Gormley had 94 points. Judge was R. J. Darlington of Maple.

Hancey reported that desertions were higher in July than they were in January.

Dog control costs are up $262.84 due mainly to the rabies control program.

The amount of unpaid taxes has decreased from $243,375.56 at the end of December to $162,208.71 at the end of June. Current tax collections are running at 63.89% for the first six months which is about the same as last year when the percentage was 64.46%.

Beer Bottle Battle Results In Prison

Harry Casimiri, 18, of Markham, who struck a police constable on the head with a beer bottle during a fight in Whitby last week, was sentenced to 30 days in jail for assault.

He was also fined $50 and costs or 15 days in jail for causing a disturbance, and $50 and costs or seven days in jail for drinking under age.

Richard Warren, 22, also of Markham, a companion of Casimiri, was fined $50 and costs, or 15 days for causing a disturbance, and $25 and costs or 10 days consecutive for being drunk in a public place.

Corporal Eric Erickson, Whitby Town Police, testified he and another officer had tried to break up a fight between the two accused and had been struck on the head with a beer bottle by Casimiri. The cut took two stitches to close.
