Will Visit Every Presbyterian Home

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Pust and family, 27 Malaren Road, listen attentively while Gordon Inghram and Lawrence Brice explain the purpose of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church every-member visitation. This visit was a preview of the community-wide visitation to take place next Sunday afternoon.

The changed character of the community from rural to urban, has given the church a completely new challenge and the visitation is one facet of the stewardship program adopted by the 136-year-old congregation to enable it to continue to fill its place and give leadership in the community.

During the visitation to the homes of every member and adherent stress will be placed on individual participation in the work of the church, by attendance at weekly worship services, Sunday schools and church groups.

Hugh and Phyllis Bird, in Maple. The MacDonal's will be moving to Owen Sound at the end of November.

The bazaar and bake sale of St. Stephen's Anglican Church was a very successful event on November 6. It was well attended and judging from the crowds of people surrounding each table it was well supported. The convener for the bazaar was Pat Davis of Gram St.

The Maple Home and School Association held its second meeting of the year in the auditorium of Joseph Gibson School November 3.

During the brief business meeting the association voted to purchase a dry-copying machine, displayed by Principal R. Kennedy, for the two Maple schools to share.

C. Wilmot introduced the speaker for the evening, Ivan Allen, mathematics supervisor for public schools for the North York Board of Education. Mr. Allen gave a very interesting and highly informative talk on the "new mathematics" being taught in schools today. He illustrated his talk with examples of the new ways the children are using to solve arithmetic problems and the large group of parents present were most attentive, and received a lot of understanding of what is involved in the so-called "New Math". At the conclusion of Mr. Allen's talk he was thanked by Graham Pust and presented with a These were in recognition of all that he has done for the hockey

CONCORD NEWS

Socials
Mrs. Marilyn Clonias was home from Dayton, Ohio to visit her parents Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Wise of King High Drive last week.

Mrs. Wise had a coffee party last Monday morning for the neighbors to meet with Don Martyn the Progressive Conservative candidate for York North.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Medensky formerly of Rockview Gardens, now living in Oakville, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Guest of Hillside Avenue recently.

Guide News
On November 2 the 1st Concord Guide Company held its enrolment ceremony where District Commissioner Mrs. D. Moore officiated, assisted by Captain Audrey Boron and Lieutenant Karen Day. The 15 girls enrolled were Vanessa Olley, Lisa Boron, Heather Keffer, Karen Herman, Louise Scott, Joyce Wade, Lynne Sharp, Leslie Knight, Pat Haines, Michele Camareri, Nancy Haines, Lorna Maddill and Terry Tarling.

They held a dress up relay for the mothers which was really wild, the Guides nearly raising the roof in their enthusiastic cheering. Smarties were passed around to all the "winners".

Captain, commissioner, mothers, and guests then went upstairs for an informal chat while the Guides prepared for their display of crafts and sale of work. Some very interesting articles, all made by the Guides themselves were quickly bought up. These included pin cushions, decorated soap sachets (made from dried flowers from one girl's garden) and all sorts of candy, cakes and cookies. Some lovely wall plaques with a verse made up by one of the Guides were given to the mothers.

As a be kind to animals project the Guides were asked to make bird feeders and a really interesting variety of them was on display.

The patrol corners were decorated and the poppy patrol had a number of interesting charts of nature, recruit requirements and achievement to show the guests.

Five Guides were working on their hostess badge so they made and served the tea, coffee and cookies to the mothers and guides and cookies to the other Guides. These Guides also had plan and provide for the refreshments as well as serving and washing up afterwards. When they have written thank you notes, they will have passed their test.

According to the duty chart the patrols then presented a skit, played a game, said the prayer and led in the singing.

The campfire took place around a newly (and hastily) constructed portable camp fire, which, with all other lights turned out, seemed to add a certain amount of atmosphere.

The evening came to a close with the mothers joining in for vesper and lullabies. Captain Boron was presented with her pack holiday licence by Commissioner Moore.

The Guides themselves were responsible for a really interesting and successful evening and deserve a lot of credit. A good deal of credit also goes to the patrol leaders for the terrific job they have done in preparing so many of their Guides for enrolment in a very short time and extremely hampered because of the fact that many of the requirements are new or changed and the new handbooks are not out yet.

Each recruit was presented with her Guide scarf, tenderfoot pin, patrol emblem, name tape, and Guide pencil.
