WARD FOUR

Your Ward 4 Councillor Must Perform Two Important Functions

- (1) CONTRIBUTE time and energy to securing efficient and responsible local government in the routine supply of necessary services. This has to be done within the limitations of our ability to pay.
- (2) CONTRIBUTE ideas and experience to aid in the acceptance and implementation of the new Official Plan.

"This is basically a contract to be negotiated between government and taxpayers and will clearly define the rules by which we may progress with maximum protection."

In drawing up these rules Planning Board relied on careful study. Council in its decision to adopt, reject or modify must do so by careful analysis of all pertinent factors.

Backed by the experience gained in four years on Council and Planning Board I offer my services to represent your interests in 1966 and 1967. The decision is now yours to make on Dec. 4th.

Palmer Names Two More To Committee

Two area businessmen — Edward Fitz, general manager of Canadian Steelcase Company Limited, Markham Township, and W. S. Cook, publisher of "The Liberal" — are the latest to be named to Markham Township Councillor Cleary Palmer's steering committee, which will prepare a brief to Education Minister William Davis for a community college in the area.

Mr. Fitz and Mr. Cook, who will join John Honsberger, chairman York Central District High School Board; Joseph P. Loughran, treasurer separate school board; Rev. H. R. Howden of Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Thornhill, and Father C. J. Schwalm of St. Mary Immaculate Roman Catholic Church, Richmond Hill, were appointed at a meeting of 11 businessmen and industrialists at the Markham Township Council Chambers Friday last week.

The meeting was the third one of its kind to be called by Mr. Palmer in recent weeks to acquaint representatives of the three groups with the proposed formation of a college for either Markham Township or the county. Through the meetings, Mr. Palmer, who has almost single-handedly staged a drive for one of the 30 colleges, which are to be established in the province, received unanimous support from all three bodies. Friday, he also received support from Reeve Charles Hooper, who, along with other members of council, had until recently, been reluctant to give his backing to the project. And now that he has the support of the men in the district — additional members to the steering committee are to be appointed from two service clubs, the York County Consultative Committee and the federation of agriculture — Mr. Palmer said the next step would be to get some women on the committee.

"Then we can bombard the daylight out of them," he said. In outlining the setup of the colleges, Mr. Palmer reiterated his stand that the site of the college — whether it be in the Southern Six, or the township — was not the important thing.

"The most important part is to have it for the educational well being of all concerned," Mr. Palmer said. He said the courses would include business, engineering, agriculture, recreation, liberal arts, updating trades, science, computing, plus courses given under agreement with particular universities.

In response to a question from the floor as to what degrees, if any, would be given, Sam Chapman, York Central District High School Superintendent, who also outlined various aspects of the colleges, said that no degrees were being considered at the present.

"There is a polite disagreement at the moment between the universities and the Minister of Education," Mr. Chapman said. In favor of granting a degree, but the universities were opposed. However, a graduate of the college could receive a credit at university through an agreement with the latter if he decided to transfer his course.

Mr. Chapman also told his audience that the Southern Six area — Markham Township, Richmond Hill, Woodbridge, Markham Village, Vaughan, Markham and Stouffville — was suitable of its continuing population surge, proposed subway extension to Sheppard Avenue and possibly beyond, and because the area appeared "slightly less" than others, with the result that many young students were seeking technical and commercial courses instead of university.

Another reason, besides the great need for technical workers, why the colleges were necessary, was the anticipated leisure time for workers — the young students of today — by the year 2,000.

Without technical skills, among others, increased leisure would also mean increased boredom, Mr. Chapman said.

"The colleges will be built where needed most and communities show the most interest," he said.

Summing up the need for more skilled workers in the area, which the colleges would produce, was Bill Peirce general manager of Texas Instruments, Richmond Hill, who said the need was so great that his company now paid 90 per cent of the costs to develop young men along this line, and also provided courses in algebra and the operation of the slide rule.

"The need for this type of education is tremendously great," said Mr. Peirce. "We have trouble getting the kind of technical talent our industry needs."

The other members heartily concurred in the need for the colleges, without one dissenting voice being raised against them.

"Good," said Mr. Palmer, thanking the group for its support. And then just to make sure the men could be assured of continuing support from his side, he added: "By the way, if I'm not elected, (in the municipal elections December 6) I hope to get somebody to keep this going."

Woman Is Injured In Yonge Street Mishap

A 73-year-old West Gwillimbury woman was taken to York Central Hospital Tuesday morning after she was injured in an accident on Yonge Street, about 9 am.

Mrs. Barbara Prokopik, a passenger in a truck driven by Harry Doluk, 65, also of West Gwillimbury, suffered facial lacerations and chest injuries when she was thrown through the windshield of the Doluk vehicle after it collided with a parked car. She was reported in satisfactory condition.

Derek Mills, 21 Yonge Street North, owner of the car, was in a nearby restaurant at the time. Damage to the two vehicles was estimated at $1,300. In another accident on Yonge Street on Saturday evening, three cars received slight damage.

Involved were cars driven by Hendrikus Vanderkyte, 56, Hamilton; David A. Southwell, Church Street; Dr. P. Van Ostrand, 32, King City.

Pioneer Girls

Langstaff Baptist Church was happy to welcome to their Sunday evening service the Pilgrim Division of Pioneer Girls and many of their parents. This marked the occasion of the second encampment of this local group. The girls, in their neat blue and white uniforms, took part in the service as they sang their theme song and also a number entitled "His Sheep Are". Chief Guide "Redwing" assisted by Guide "Jay" presented badges and ranks to the following girls: Kitchencraft Badge, June Angier, Sandra Page, Sheila Page, Cheryl Minett, Sandra Elve, Yvonne Haster, Pet Badge, Kendra Jay, Lucy Wright, Water Badge, Karen Kostik, Outdoor Badge, Kendra Jay, Cheryl Minett, Jennifer Wilkes, June Angier.

Voyager Rank (first rank) Yvonne Haster, Kendra Jay, Karen Kostik, Discoverer Rank (second rank) Cheryl Minett. Apparently there has been a misunderstanding of the term "Guide" used in the Pioneer

Girls organization. "Guides" are the registered leaders of Pioneer Girl groups and are in no way connected with the Canadian Girl Guides.

Garden Avenue Committee The Garden Avenue Committee, six people elected by the residents of the street at a public meeting in the Charles Howitt School, presented a brief to Vaughan Township Council on November 15. They discussed with council the traffic problems caused by the location of the driveway to the Langstaff Secondary School on Garden Avenue. The presentation was enhanced by a group of photographs of the congested traffic. Council promised a study of the problem.

The committee wishes to thank Kurt Dombrowski, who took the pictures and V. Kratochvil, who enlarged them.

All those who are planning to rent the Santa Claus suit from the Langstaff Young Women's Institute are asked to please make arrangements with Mrs. Blow at 889-3270 as soon as possible.

A happy birthday is wished to Anna Marie Kratochvil, who celebrated her first birthday on Sunday, and to her mother, Alice, who celebrates hers this weekend. The Cook's little boy will have his first birthday on Sunday.

An informative talk was given on Sunday in the Richmond Hill Library on the theme, "Is World Peace Possible? Colored slides taken in many different places around the world made the lecture very interesting. These talks, sponsored by two men from Richmond Hill, J. Boorman and Lorne Murphy, will be given from time to time and anyone interested in them will see the advance notices in "The Liberal". There is no collection and all are welcome.

SCHOMBERG: Mrs. Laura McCutcheon received a certificate of merit for her thirty years of active membership in the Schomberg Horticultural Society.
