It's All In The Game

Phew. Just back from one of those exhausting holidays we humans go on. The kind you try to pack a lifetime-into and succeed.

And it was during this time that I picked up a newspaper and read the sad news that Tom Hughes

Tournament a couple weeks ago at the town park. Must admit to being disappointed because I figured the team might just come up with some superlative ball and represent the Hill in world

Shell team didn't do so well at that Ontario Fastball championship competition this season. But t'was not to be. And no one really knew too much about the calibre of ball played by Windsor and Welland although everyone knew St. Thomas had pitcher Dick Hames and would be tough.

Get Those Pitchers

So the thing that happened was that most of the touted pitchers - Hughes' Reno Pettenuzzo included — got that ringing sensation in the head that comes from linedrives whistling by your ears.

"No doubt about it that Windsor beat us good and soundly," said an obviously disappointed Shell Manager Ron Nicholson when I contacted him via the phone. "They have one of the best hitting clubs I've seen around here."

And for those who might have missed the scores between the Shell and opposition teams: Shell's got it pretty good losing 8-5 to St. Thomas and getting thumped 9-2 by Windsor.

The question it did bring up was how come Hughes have no trouble in the once powerful Beaches Fastball League and have had plenty of difficulties in tournaments with out of town teams this season.

Weak Beaches League

· "I could only state an opinion that the calibre of ball must be slipping in the Beaches League," said Ron.

I think he's 100 percent right. Although I confess not to have any statistics behind this feeling (there probably aren't any concrete ways of draw- ing by Reno Pettenuzzo and Reg likely opponent. ing comparisons), that's the way I feel.

Crosby Pupils Show Heels

Crosby Public School students showed their heels to the rest of the pack in the senior division of the public school's track meet last month, and captured the trophy for all-round athletic achievement.

Susan Carruthers, who picked up firsts in the standing broad and standing hop, skip and jump, accepts the trophy from McConaghy Principal Grant Nighswander. Another Crosby pupil, Gary Hall, is shown with his trophy for the outstanding athlete of the meet.
