Thornhill Resident Wins Snow Cruiser

Richmond Hill's Ward 2 Councillor, Bill Lazenby (centre) draws the winning ticket at the Top O' the Hill Nursery School's December 15 Christmas Party. The draw netted the school $600 and the lucky winner of the handsome Snow Cruiser from Surf Marine and Sports, Richvale was William C. Laycock of Arnold Avenue, Thornhill.

Above left is Lynn Bayley and right is Ed Rose who organized the draw and between them sold 900 of the 1,380 tickets sold. Proceeds will be used to buy equipment for the school, a co-operative venture which is now operated at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Richmond Hill.

Plan 8 Room Addition Dickson's Hill

Lack Of Classrooms Plagues TSA 2 Trustees

A continuing problem for Markham Township Area 2 Trustees is providing classroom accommodation for a burgeoning school-age population. Their new 12-room Parkview School at Unionville will be in full operation after the new year, and an eight-room addition to that school is well underway.

At present the trustees are faced with providing more accommodation for September next year on the east side of the township. They have asked the Department of Education for approval of an eight-room addition plus library for the four-room Dickson's Hill School on Highway 48 near 19th Avenue. They are also considering a general purpose room but whether it will be included in the original building or added at a later date depends on cost factors and the architects' recommendations.

The board agreed to this addition recently when they adopted a recommendation in a report of the property committee dated December 12, when all members and Gordon Champion, the new trustee for 1967-68, were present.

Regarding the general purpose room the report states:

Some members felt it was beyond the board's means to include a general purpose room in 1967. They agreed, however, that this would be necessary in the future since the board has acquired a physical education supervisor.

Others felt it would be more economical to include the general purpose room now, because of rising costs and difficulty in obtaining a contractor for only one or two rooms at a later date. The committee decided to hold decision until recommendations are received from the architects.

Trustee Eldred King expressed doubts about such a large addition at Dickson's Hill: "Are we wise to provide all this extra accommodation at No. 17 School when the population may require it elsewhere?" he asked.

Mrs. Toogood said Inspector Maynard Hallman had advised the board that there would be extra accommodation available in Markham TSA 1 schools if there was a need.

The architectural firm of Hicks, Marsh and McLean, which has been retained on the Varley Village projects, has been retained by the board to draw up plans for the Dickson's Hill addition.

CEDAR GROVE SCHOOL

Decision on the purchase of the Cedar Grove School by the community club was given a further extension of two months to February 14, when Archie Little and Walter Reesor, club representatives, were heard.

Mr. Little said the club executive had considered the asking price of $7,500 for the school, but needed more time "to arrange some adjustment. We would like to use the school as a museum and a social club," he told trustees. Mr. Reesor added that the community club had considered asking for a government grant, but "most of the group did not like the idea — they would like to own the building."

Mrs. Toogood explained the difference between a private owner and assistance from the province; and Board Chairman Arnold Morrison told the Cedar Grove representatives that "every ratepayer would have an interest if it was a community centre. At Victoria Square the local people run the centre," he noted. Two members of township council would be appointed to the governing body, but would have little to say, the chairman felt.

Mrs. Toogood pointed out that it is the province, not the township, which provides community centre grants and asked the men from Cedar Grove if they had been in touch with the community centre branch of the provincial government. When the answer was "no" she advised that they "do so immediately."

The extension to February 14 was passed unanimously on motion of Mrs. Toogood and Mr. King.

SPECIAL BUDGETS

The following budgets for special teachers were approved: Music, section 1, $350 (texts excluded); French, $350 (texts excluded); Speech, $400 (tape recorder excluded); primary consultant, $1,000 for books; $500 for items other than books; library, $16,500 total for books, processing and cataloguing; physical education, $5,000 to include essential equipment for Parkview School and the balance to be distributed amongst the other schools ($10,000 had been requested).

These figures do not include any capital expenditures, such as projectors, dry-copy machines, tape recorders, record players, film strip, etc.
