Group Discussions Are Feature Of Workshop

Dawson Lang of Richmond Hill chaired a group committee workshop held by York Summit District Boy Scouts in Unionville, March 7. Representatives were present from Markham, Richmond Hill, Thornhill and Oak Ridges.

The workshop was planned to assist group committees in organizing and operating in the most efficient manner. It was also designed to help them solve problems being encountered within the groups.

Five minute talks were given by district executive and staff members covering the duties of the local group committees. G. Turner spoke on chairmen, F. Marshall on past chairmen, D. Boyle on public relations, J. Berry on treasurers and finance, R. Miller on vice-chairmen, J. Turner on the training committee, S. Merchant on the camp committee, E. Ensor on badges and D. Nesbitt on the group secretary.

Those present then participated in group discussions. D. Boyle acted as chairman of a discussion covering public relations, parent participation and recruitment of leaders. R. Miller was chairman of a group discussing finances and fund raising and training, and E. Ensor chaired a discussion on badges and camping.

The consensus was that the workshop was well worthwhile and this type of meeting should be held more often.

Council Nixes Walk To Aurora: 'Sore Feet'

A Centennial invitation to walk 8 miles to Aurora June 17 was regretfully turned down Monday night by members of Richmond Hill Council.

"I'd fall out after the first five steps," said Mayor Thomas Broadhurst with tiny beads of perspiration already forming on his brow.

"I'll be out of town on business that day," assured Reeve Donald Plaxton.

"I'm willing to set up a stand and provide corn plasters and foot pads," volunteered Councillor William Lazenby who is a pharmacist and also deals in such items.

"I'd be willing to walk it, at least half the way... maybe," chimed in Councillor Lois Hancey.

"Perhaps council should appoint Mrs. Hancey as its official representative on the trip," offered a helpful Councillor John MacDiarmid.

Mrs. Hancey did some soul-searching for a few seconds and then remembered it was Richmond Hill's Homecoming Week-end on that day.

"I guess it would be impossible to make it then," she said.

"What a happy accident," agreed Mayor Broadhurst. Council then officially declined "regretfully" the invitation extended to them by the Aurora Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber is commemorating the famous Lloydtown March on that date which took place in 1837.

LESTE PAXTON IS LOVELY BRIDE OF GARY DONALD

Wed In Candle-Lit Ceremony

St. Mary's Anglican Church, Richmond Hill, decorated with garland and candelabra and standards of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and shasta daisies, was the lovely setting for the wedding of Leste Paxton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Paxton, 54 Trench Street, Richmond Hill and Gary James Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Donald, 200 Oxford Street, on October 15, 1966 at 4.30 pm with the Rev. James O'Neill officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a wedding gown of white silk crepe with three-quarter-length sleeves of Venice lace. The gown, designed with a round neckline and empire waistline emphasized with Venice lace, boasted a train which fell gracefully from the high waistline at the back. The shoulder-length veil was held by a crown of crystal and pearl. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Mary Ann Jackson, sister of the groom, and bridesmaids Miss Glenna Hargreaves and sisters of the bride Anne and Cathy, wore full-length moss green crepe dresses. White gloves, bouquets of autumn gold and orange, and hand made yellow and green rosebud headpieces completed their ensemble. Youngest sister of the bride, Janet, looked charming in a full-length dress of yellow crepe and headpiece of matching yellow rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of orange shades and gold.

Robert Percival of Richmond Hill was best man. Ken Mitchell, Al Jackson and Eric Bowdery were the ushers. The music, most fitting, was the complement of the church choir.

The wedding reception took place at the Glen Shield Golf and Country Club, Concord, in the form of a dinner dance with Thomas Lovndes as master of ceremonies.

The bride's mother received in a two-piece jacket dress of gold brocade, brown feather hat, brown gloves, gold satin shoes and baby orchid corsage. The groom's mother wore a cherry pink dress suit of silk barkcloth, pink velvet hat, silver brocade accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. On their return the couple took up residence at 24 Naughton Drive, Elgin Mills. Out of town guests were from Winnipeg, Quebec, Barrie, Keswick, Mount Albert and Toronto.

Charles Howitt Overcrowded

Boyle-Garden Parents Turn Down Transporting Pupils To Langstaff

Parents in the Boyle Subdivision - Garden Avenue area of Vaughan Township March 16 voted 28-15 against the public school board's proposal to adjust the boundaries between Charles Howitt School and Langstaff School attendance areas. Each family concerned was allowed one vote.

Spokers for the board noted that the revision is necessary because of the establishment of Roselawn School as a senior public school for grades 6, 7 and 8. Grades 1 to 5 from Roselawn will be bussed to Charles Howitt School.

The board proposed to bus the pupils from the Boyle-Garden area to Langstaff School which will have several empty classrooms in September. Children from Markham Township who are now attending Langstaff will be accommodated in the schools of Markham TSA 1 in September and grades 6, 7 and 8 will attend Roselawn School.

Lunchroom facilities and supervision of lunchtime activities would be provided for the bused children, members of the board promised. An auditorium is planned and would be opened early in September, it is hoped. The addition of the Boyle-Garden pupils would result in eight classes (one in a portable), all but one of which would have 30 or fewer students. Board Chairman Ross Jolliffe stated trustees had spent many hours considering means of remedying the overcrowded situation at Charles Howitt that will result from accommodating grades 1 to 5 from the Roselawn School. The problem of filling the empty classrooms at Langstaff had also received much consideration. Several ideas had been thoroughly investigated before the above proposal was approved, he said.

One parent objected to the word, "My children are being pushed around like cabbages." U-turns on Bathurst Street were cited as an example of unsafe school bus travel and it was claimed the children would be overtaken from the long day away from home. The probability of inadequate lunchtime supervision and a cold lunch were other objections.

The children would be removed from their friends and would not be able to go to play with friends in the Langstaff School area because of the danger of crossing Highway 7. "How do you know we want a senior school? We're happy with things the way they are," was the emphatic statement of one parent. It was suggested that the Roselawn area children should be bussed to Langstaff as they will be taken out of their home area anyway.

A suggestion that Charles Howitt School be enlarged to accommodate all the children brought the answer that it was improbable that permission could be obtained for such an addition from York County Health Unit due to the poor porosity of the soil. The auditorium addition was approved only because it would not increase the number of children using the school, it was pointed out. "I am very happy with Charles Howitt School," one mother stated, "but if my children have to be moved my main consideration is that they get the best possible education." The smaller number in the proposed classes and the expected auditorium would provide facilities comparable to Charles Howitt. Coupled with the availability of bus travel these factors made her happy with the proposal.

Chairman Ross Jolliffe thanked everyone present for attending the meeting and said the board would spend more time reconsidering the possibilities.

Compassion Offering For The World's Poor

Last Sunday Richmond Hill Free Methodist Church received its annual "compassion" offering. The Easter compassion is given once a year to aid needy people all around the world.

The ministries of the church are many and varied in this area. This year help will be given to the people of the Congo, where civil war has reduced the economy to zero, resulting in hunger, suffering, disease and even death. Eastern Africa will receive help to ease a famine there and money will be given for medicines for the many hospitals operated by the Free Methodist Church in other lands.

At this Easter season, the congregation considers it a joy to show the compassion of Christ to needy people throughout the world.
