Neighborhood Notes
Congratulations to our April birthday young people, Rosemary Leek and Richard Burton, seventeenth and Cathleen and Keith Burton eighteenth. "The year is at its ancient tricks of building paths from days — like bricks, for youth to travel on."

Rosemary and Albert Leek and Charles Barker attended a showing of Spring Thaw.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Rackham and Jay were guests in the Calder-Guild home en route from Egypt to their home in Saskatchewan. Mr. Rackham has terminated his service with UPO and plans to continue his work in Canada.

Rev. J. B. Spenceley, Dundas, was a guest in the home of Mrs. W. Wellman during the week of the ninth.

Mr. Stan Kiffer, North Bay visited with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Leek during the week.

At Sunday morning service Graham Scott spoke briefly, quoting from an authoritative source that suicide, homicide and accidental death is only part of the toll taken by the drug LSD, for death is only one aspect. Mental disturbances result, often needing years of psychiatric treatment, causing depression, fear leaving the victim in an unreal world alienated from society. "To experiment with this drug is like playing Russian roulette with one's identity and potential."

At last with Mr. Browning we can sing, "The year's at the Spring" and Saturday's warmth sent the children of the community out with sleeping bags and cook-out breakfast, but they managed to turn up for church and Sunday school.

Cathy, Keith and Richard Burton entertained at a joint birthday party April 15.
