

Delivering Bills Ends In Charge

A Toronto man has been charged with unlawfully entering a dwelling house, following an occurrence in Richmond Hill last week.

Mrs. Vern Dynes, 237 Harrygan Crescent, told police a man walked into her house after knocking twice, ostensibly to deliver a handbill.

Charged was John O'Gorman, 55.

Police also reported the theft of a power mower from the yard of Peter Stehower, Pinegrove.

The mower was valued at $60.

Richmond Hill Police also reported the theft of a rear bumper assembly from a 1967 Volkswagen at the home of Kenneth Scott, 38 Roseview Avenue, sometime during the weekend.

Vaughan Township Police reported two break-ins and thefts in the area.

The first from a construction shed at Keele Street and Langstaff Road, where two chain saws were stolen.

The second occurred from an unoccupied dwelling at RR 1, Nashville, owned by Murray Heaslip, Weston, where a quantity of articles was taken.

Teacher Resignations Reach 15 To Date In Hill Public Schools

Teachers still continue to come and go in the Richmond Hill Public School system.

Last week the board approved the appointment of three new teachers, but also accepted the resignation of four others.

Coming to the board are: Mrs. Eleanor Irwin, returning as a half-time teacher after a one-year leave of absence. Mrs. Irwin will give individual instruction and will also teach small groups, under the guidance of the principal.

Resignations accepted: Mrs. Donna Vanden Bergh, speech teacher and supervisor, who is completing 10 years of service with the board.

Mrs. Lillian Clayton, McConeghy School; after five years.

Donna Fines, Crosby Heights, moving to British Columbia; after two years.

Glennie Winkworth, Pleasantville, completing her first year; moving to Peterboro.

The number of resignations received to date is 15.

The board also granted a one-year leave of absence to Wolfgang Luebke, Beverley Acres School, who is going on an extended trip through South America, Africa and Europe, via motorcycle with his brother.

Mr. Luebke will not receive either salary or fringe benefits during his absence.

The board also approved the appointment, subject to the approval of the Department of Education, of Mrs. Janet Cook, as an intern for the school year 1967-68.

A graduate of the four-year honors course in psychology at the University of Toronto, Mrs. Cook has worked as a psychologist at the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital, a counsellor in the Toronto Children's Aid Society, and is at present attending courses at the Institute for Child Study.

"We'd better get her signed fast before Sam Chapman (Superintendent York Central and District High School Board) hears about her," said Chairman Walter Hutchinson.

Following a request from Richmond Hill Town Council for the board to ask its school bus operators to limit the speed of their vehicles to 20 mph within town limits, the board moved to ask for more information.

"Why do they ask these particular vehicles to do this," asked Chairman Hutchinson.

Approved accounts up to April 13 in the amount of $115,065.

The board also moved to write a note of thanks to Mrs. Elizabeth Miner, president of the Pleasantville Home and School Association, for the work of her group in putting on the Centennial Soiree, a fund-raising costume party at the school April 8.

Langstaff Cairn For 1811 Bell

A Centennial project by the pupils and staff of Langstaff Public School will ensure that the old school bell, dated 1811, will be preserved for posterity.

It is proposed to erect a cairn to house the bell on the school grounds. At its April 13 meeting Vaughan Township School Board approved its project and relieved A. Liddell, custodian of George Bailey School, Maple, of his duties so that he may assist with the masonry work as its contribution. The work will be carried out under the supervision of the supervisor of buildings and maintenance.

The Langstaff School was the first to be established in this district, its first teacher being John Langstaff from whom the community took its name.

The board is planning to preserve at least part of the old barn which stood on the site of the new school at Kleinburg. The barn is being carefully dismantled and part of the exterior sheeting will be used in the auditorium of the new school.

First Concert Of Festival Choir Ends In Standing Ovation By 800

Resplendent in their traveling uniforms of red blazers and grey skirts, with the choir crest on the jacket pocket, the 250 children of the Festival Choir of Vaughan Township were heard by more than 800 people in their first full-length program Saturday night. Scene was the auditorium of Seventh Day Adventists hall on Finch Avenue, North York, and the choir members took their places on the choir risers which rose tier on tier to the stage and then from the stage upwards. Centred at the grand piano on the stage was Robert Richardson and the choir was under the direction of Hugh Martin, both wearing white dinner jackets.

From the singing of "God Save The Queen" at the opening to "O Canada" at the close, the children did an outstanding job. Their program numbers were varied and included "The Music Makers", "Marianni", an Italian folksong; "The Younger Generation"; "Donna Nobis Pacem," (Give To Us Peace) in Latin; "They All Call It Canada," "Glory To God This Night"; "Proudly We Praise," a 20-minute selection written by Don Wright, which salutes each of the 10 provinces; and Bobby Gimby's "Canada". This last number brought the audience to its feet in a spontaneous standing ovation for the young singers, who in acknowledgement, repeated the selection.

The choir includes many talented young people, who also participated in the program. Patti Barker and Carol Parker, both 11 years old and talented pianists, played two numbers each. Robert Doherty entertained with a recitation. "The Little Hoboes," a group of five girls did three folk numbers; and Caroline Cunningham, top orator in Vaughan Township this year, gave her speech on "Centennial".

The choir members and Messrs. Martin and Richardson felt rewarded for their countless hours of practice. Parents, many hearing the full choir for the first time, also felt that all their efforts in fund-raising and gown-making were well worthwhile.
